Unemployment Jumps 50%; May Reach Post-War Peak

TORY PROGRAM 'TOO LITTLE, LATE'

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson said today the latest unemployment figures "unfortunately confirm the views that the Liberals have been expressing about the seriousness of the situation."

"They also confirm our criticism of the measures taken by the government to deal with it—too little and too late,' he' added in an interview.

SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Russian Folk Ignore Blast Of Propaganda

Continuing his account of a lengthy trip throughout Russia, Adlai Stevenson tells how he found hope for the future in many sincere expressions of friendship shown him by common people at the very time official propaganda was pressing a hate America campaign. This is the sixth of a series of articles.

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

I have been writing mostly about my meetings with Nikita Khrushchev and other Russian rulers—and "rulers" is no exaggeration! Now I want to say something about lesser officials and ordinary people.

We landed in Leningrad at about the same time the Marines landed in Lebanon. This coincidence colored our whole Russian experience and underlined the fact that while North Americans may not be very popular any more in some parts of the world, they still like us in Russia! By "they" I mean the ordinary people.

In Leningrad I even talked to the "man on the street" one evening, something that is not easy to do. It was a mixed group of students and workers. They had gathered in front of my hotel, not to see me, but to examine a strange and wonderful sight—a 1956 Buick.

Their hair was long, their clothes poor, but they were friendly and good-humored, with a ready laugh when I said we hoped to go to Siberia —"and also to return." They were intensely curious about America, our education and living conditions. "How many hours of work to buy this car?" stumped me, but my sons saved me. Some of their eager questions reflected, I thought, obvious mistrust of the information they were getting from their own sources.

Would If They Could

When I excused myself to go to bed and left my sons to carry on, I cheerily said something like: "Well, come to see us in America." And the wistful "How?" that greeted me from several eager young men will haunt me a long time.

In Moscow a few days later, the Soviet propaganda machine was running full blast on the Lebanon landing. In diplomatic circles the atmosphere was tense. My old colleague of early UN days, Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, was friendly and courteous, but unrestrained in his criticism of our action.

Meetings were being held in parks and factories to denounce the "American imperialists" and their "attack" on the Arabs. Our able ambassador, Llewellyn Thompson, foresaw a torrent of abuse and trouble in the street. The newspapers announced that Soviet army units would manoeuvre in the Caucasus and Central Asia just as we took off—for Central Asia!

"Central Asia" is a vast area of many peoples larger than all Western Europe. It includes five "republics" in Southern Russia, where they try hard to preserve the fiction of national independence while rapidly Russianizing the languages and everything else.

Big Land-Breaking

The huge northern Republic of Kazakhstan is the centre of Khrushchev's bold plan to plow up millions of acres of virgin land. This vast new frontier is growing rapidly and the recent immigration from Russia has already reduced the native Kazakhs to a minority.

The Kazakhs look Mongolian. But the peoples of the four southern republics look more like Arabs. They are all Moslems and Russia proudly boasts that she is the fourth Moslem power of the world.

In 1923 Stalin said "the task is to transform Turkestan into a model republic, an advanced post for revolutionizing the East." I wanted to see what had happened in Stalin's "show window" to the East. And what I saw was modern industrial cities, huge farms and the last vestiges of timeless, colorful, oriental Turkestan melting into standard Soviet patterns of industrialization and architectural monotony.

Our first stop was Tashkent, capital of the Soviet Republic of Uzbekistan, 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow. The official welcome, in a temperature of 10 degrees, couldn't have been more hospitable, and we were whisked away to the country VIP guest house of the City Soviet by cheerful officials busily planning to kill us with kindness.

2 Plucked From Death In Lake Ship Tragedy

(From Times News Services)

CHARLEVOIX, Mich.—Two men were found alive today in Lake Michigan, which it was feared had claimed the lives of 33 others from the freighter Carl D. Bradley when she went down in the cold, storm-tossed lake late Tuesday.

Unofficial tabulations indicated 18 bodies had been recovered.

Some veteran seamen expressed amazement even two had survived overnight in 50-degree water in howling gale winds that piled up mountainous waves on the Great Lakes. Air temperature was 40.

The two men rescued were first mate Elmer Fleming and deck watchman Frank Mayes, both of Rogers City, Mich.

They had succeeded in getting onto a life raft when the Bradley broke in two. They were picked up 14 hours later by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew.

NO EXPLOSION

Fleming told the Coast Guard that the ship broke up in heavy seas. He said "there was no explosion."

The Coast Guard withheld questioning either Fleming or Mayes further because the men were suffering from shock and exposure. "They are in poor condition," the Sundew captain said.

At 5.31 p.m. EST, Capt. Roland Bryan, the Bradley's skipper, shouted into his radio. "Mayday, mayday, mayday. This is the Carl D. Bradley. Our position is approximately 12 miles southwest of Gull Island. We are in serious trouble."

Next, a voice was heard: "Run, grab life jackets. Get the jackets. Mayday, the ship is breaking up."

VIOLENT WINDS

It was after dark and the lake was kicking up mountainous waves from violent winds up to 60 miles an hour.

The German ship Satori was the first vessel to reach the area.

The Satori searched for hours with the aid of Coast Guard planes that were sent out to drop magnesium flares to light up the area.

No sign of the ship, wreckage or any survivors was found during the night-long search.

It was not until about 8 a.m. the Sundew spotted the two men.

PLANES IN HUNT

All day long today, planes criss-crossed the area of the sinking searching for signs of survivors and the ships battled the heavy waves in their hunt.

Winds abated somewhat after daylight, but the waters still were whipped by gusts up to 40 miles an hour, hampering the searchers.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED IN ISLAND CRASH

COURTENAY (CP)—Hugh Morrison, a logging company truck driver, was killed today when his truck skidded off an icy road about 15 miles west of here.

Company officials said Morrison, an employee of Comox Logging and Railway Company, a division of Crown Zellerbach of Canada, was driving a gravel truck near Comox Lake when his vehicle left the road.

Strachan Knocks House 'By-Pass'

Premier Bennett is by-passing parliament in naming a royal commission to investigate B.C.'s power-finance problems, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today.

While giving "limited endorsation" to such a royal commission, Mr. Strachan said such a step "is not the same as a legislative committee as I proposed."

He pointed out since Social Credit has been in power in B.C. there have been 10 royal commissions and special inquiry investigations.

SHOWS CONTEMPT

"The members of the legislature are elected to examine the affairs of the province. It is their responsibility. In by-passing them, Mr. Bennett is again showing his contempt for our provincial legislature, and what it stands for," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Strachan was answering the speech given by the premier at Sidney Monday night, a speech which in Mr. Strachan's words was a "long, disjointed, rambling diatribe."

"I found it difficult to make sense of it," he said.

The premier said he would ask a royal commission to look into his power-financing schemes as well as charges levelled last week by former BCPC manager H. L. Briggs.

'EVERYTHING ELSE'

The commission is to look into a $15,000,000 cost over estimates in construction of thte BCPC Strathcona Development dam on the Upper Campbell, and "everything else" the premier said.

Mr. Strachan said: "My reluctance to give blanket endorsation to a royal commission is because we have not yet been told the exact terms of reference under which it will work.

"If it is to be a simple enquiry into operation of the BCPC, then it does not go far enough.

"What is required at this time is a full-scale enquiry into power policies of the premier as well . . . and especially the policies of the B.C. Electric and Wenner-Gren companies, and the impact their operations will have on the welfare of the province and the economy as a whole."

M' Uncle Zeke hopes his name ain't on th' unemployment lists. It's really more of a career with him.

Feller wondered if Mister Bennett's speech wuz made at Sidney, Australia, 'stead o' Sidney, V.I., it wuz so upside down.

'PEG FIELD CLEARED FOR GRID FINAL

(See Also Page 14)

WINNIPEG (CP) — More than 100 workers toiled throughout the night to get Winnipeg Stadium ready for tonight's second game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final between Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Extra staff was hired to clear about 700 tons of snow from the playing field, stands and adjacent parking areas.

"We'll be ready for the game," said Stewart MacPherson, general manager of Winnipeg Enterprises.

(The game will be televised on channels 2 and 6, starting at 6 p.m., PST.)

Gale-Force Winds Whip City Tonight

Gale-force winds of up to 35 miles per hour will roar through Juan de Fuca Strait from the east tonight, weatherman William Mackie warned.

The high winds will come with a storm expected to give the city rain from tonight to Thursday noon, Mr. Mackie said.

Milder weather came to the assistance of highways department crews still busy clearing roads in the Cowichan Lake district of the remains of 14 inches of snow that fell there Monday and Tuesday.

Monthly Survey Lists 313,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian unemployment in mid-October was about 50 per cent higher than a year earlier, the government reported today.

The figures in the government's monthly labor survey indicated prospects of a post-war high of jobless that would exceed the previous top of 590,000 set last winter.

Today's figures showed that at Oct. 18 there were an estimated 313,000 persons without jobs and looking for work, compared with 211,000 a year previously.

MOVED UP

The total had moved up from 271,000 at Sept. 30, on estimates of the bureau of statistics based on a sampling survey of 30,000 households.

Meanwhile, number of persons with jobs dropped to 5,864,000 in October from 5,888,888 in the previous month and from 5,880,000 in October, 1957.

In addition to the estimated jobless, there were in October 16,000 on temporary layoffs.

With the bureau's estimate of actual unemployment, the government released figures on registrations for jobs with the National Employment Service, showing 342,502 persons registered as of Oct. 16.

This compared with 327,112 at Sept. 18 and 278,698 in the corresponding date in October of last year.

In a statement accompanying the figures, the government said that farm employment declined by about 45,000 during the month while employment in other fields went up.

ROSE BY 21,000

"In non-farm industries," it said, "employment rose by 21,000 reflecting greater activity in logging in British Columbia and Eastern Canada and construction in all regions."

"Although agricultural employment showed a drop of 14,000 from a year ago," the government added, "non-farm employment was at virtually the same level."

"There was still a considerable variation among non-farm industries. Employment in mining and manufacturing was down from a year earlier, while the finance and service industries showed a corresponding gain."

The figures showed 5,135,000 employed in non-agricultural industries in October, against 5,114,000 in the previous month and 5,137,000 in October of 1957.

Farm employed dropped to 729,000 from 774,000 in September and 743,000 a year earlier.

The labor force—the number available for work—rose in October to 6,177,000 from 6,159,000 in September and 6,091,000 in October, 1957.

Commenting on the employment situation, the government said "in almost all areas, unemployment was still higher than last year."

By regions, the Atlantic area in October had 505,000 persons with jobs. Quebec had 1,635,000 persons at work. In Ontario there were an estimated 2,166,000 with jobs in October.

On the prairies, persons with job. in October were estimated at 1,041,000, some 6,000 lower than in September but 17,000 more than last year.

In British Columbia, jobholders were estimated at 517,000 in October, 5,000 fewer than September and 4,000 below the figure for October, 1957.

Wives Swell Jobless Total Here

Job situation in the Victoria area today stands "at the worst it has ever been for this time of year," an official of the local branch of the National Employment Service said.

Some 4,129 persons are out of work, compared with 3,900 a year ago.

But the official noted that there were actually 26 fewer men looking for jobs, the record total being boosted by a "fantastically-high" number of women seeking work.

WIVES

"These women registered with the NES are, almost without noticeable exception, wives trying to increase the family income due to uncertain economic conditions."

The peak unemployed total last winter came Jan. 16, 1958, when 5,966 persons were looking for work in the Victoria area, but the January total in 1959 is expected to be considerably lower "because of more construction and other work."

Victoria labor force today numbers 42,700, compared to 42,800 this time last year.

ON WORLD TOUR

'PM Must Come Back' —Knowles

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker should return to Canada to deal with the country's rising unemployment, a Canadian Labor Congress spokesman suggested today.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in India on a round-the-world tour today as government figures on unemployment were released.

Executive Vice-President Stanley Knowles of the 1,000,000-member CLC, describing unemployment as alarming, said in a statement:

"It may be that the prime minister will realize that he ought to cut his trip short and come home to deal with this situation."

Mr. Diefenbaker is not due back in Ottawa before late December.

Mr. Knowles said that the government figures released today "show a situation which is both worse than a year ago and worse than the previous month."

"Surely by now," he added, "the government will realize that this is a serious problem which must be dealt with in a positive way."

ISRAELI POLICE REPORT

Missing U.K. Woman Found Shot to Death

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) —Police said the body of Mrs. Joyce Doran, 47, wife of the British air attache in Israel, was found today about a mile from the demilitarized zone near the Sea of Galilee.

Mrs. Doran had been missing since Monday. First reports said she had been shot in the abdomen.

Mrs. Doran had been in Israel nearly a year. Her husband is Wing Commander Kenneth C. Doran. She has one son in Israel. She was a native of Loughton, England.

When she went for a walk Monday and did not return, an alarm went out. Israeli police sent men and tracker dogs into an intensive search Tuesday and her husband joined the hunt. The body was found this morning.

East Germany Will Control Vital Berlin Supply Links

BERLIN (AP) — Russia intends to give satellite East Germany control over allies air, highway and rail links to isolated West Berlin, a responsible Soviet source said tonight.

Confirming East German hints, the Communist informant said this was the meaning of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 10 speech in Moscow.

Khrushchev told the United States, Britain and France to get out of West Berlin. He promised Russia would hand over its occupation rights in Berlin to the East Germans.

The United States, Britain and France do not recognize and refuse to have any dealings with the German satellite regime.

Refusal of the Allies to yield to East German controls might lead to a blockade of their army garrisons in West Berlin.

A strong hint came from the East Berlin newspaper Neue Zeit today that East Germany's government expect to get control over the Aillied air corridors.

It declared the United States, Britain and France are violating a four-power agreement that the air corridors—stretching between Berlin and Frankfurt, Hamburg and Hanover—would be used only for Allied military purposes. Pan-American, Air France and British European Airways use them for regular passenger flights. These airlines also carry out the thousands of refugees that stream into West Berlin every month from East Germany.

Experts here believe the allies will react with these steps:

1. Formally refuse to accept East German controls.

2. Protest strongly against a one-sided Russian withdrawal from the four-power occupation agreements drawn up after the Second World War.

3. If left no choice, yield to East German controls while making it clear that this does not constitute recognition of the Communist regime. East Germans manning checkpoints would be regarded simply as agents of the Russians.

Stevenson Reports on Russia

In the car we read the big headlines: 'The working people of Uzbekistan are wrathfully protesting the imperialist aggression." But the working people of Tashkent at their airport smiled broadly and clapped their hands when I waved a greeting.

A few days later at Alma-Ata, the lovely capital of Kazakhstan, near the border of China, we read that "all the working people are wrathfully condemning the American aggression against the freedom-loving people of Lebanon." But the working people of Alma-Ata, and everyone else, showed not wrath but warmth. And so it went as we travelled northward into Siberia.

The Middle Eastern crisis certainly aroused fears even in remote Central Asia that events might be drifting toward the war that people in Russia dread as much as we do. I recall especially the worried face of the elderly chairman of a great collective farm, who asked in a low voice, as he was showing me through a children's nursery, if I couldn't "do something." He must have thought I had won the election!

Friendly Faces

Nor will I forget other incidents of that journey through remote Turkestan. In ancient Samarkand, the city of Alexander the Great, Ghengis Khan and Tamerlane, the news of the little American "invasion" spread quickly. The crowds formed everywhere we went, and I will remember the bursts of applause and the friendly Arab faces of the living people of Samarkand longer even than its noble ruins.

Then, while the press and radio screamed imprecations and a mob stormed the American Embassy in far-away Moscow, another mob of beaming Uzbeks in their embroidered black skull caps waited outside the mosque in Tashkent to bid us a smiling, cheering goodbye after luncheon with the Mufti. (Nor will I forget that dignitary's toast when he reminded me of some wise Moslem words: Believe what you see, not what you hear).

Near Alma-Ata we had a gigantic picnic in a grove on a collective farm, with mountains of strange foods in front of us and snow-capped mountains behind us. There were toasts by the score to peace and friendship, as always, and another day of "the people's wrath." But if there was anything wrong with our jolly Mongol and Russian hosts it wasn't wrath.

And the most moving experience of all was in Rubtsovsk, way out on the lonely prairies of Siberia, where they had just held huge indignation meetings about the wicked American "imperialists." The large crowds seemed to always be in front of the hotel. They were reserved and shy, but clapped vigorously at my first sign of greeting whenever we appeared.

Americans Strange

They haven't seen many Americans in Rubtsovsk and I'm sure curiosity had much to do with it. Walking through the crowds, joking with the people, which isn't easy in Russian, the handclasps and smiles were eager and warm. The father of a fat baby said, "We have meat and bread and milk up to our necks what we want is peace." There, as everywhere, the refrain is peace, peace, peace.

And I won't forget the night in Novosibirsk — the largest city of Siberia with the largest theatre in the country. After the performance when the audience had applauded the performers they suddenly all wheeled around, faced the centre box and applauded us. It was another day of "wrathful indignation" over America's "aggression."

What accounts for the contrast between the friendly people and the savage propaganda? Why didn't they knock us down instead of embracing us? No one is too confident of the answer. Some Russians say their criticism is just of "your ruling clique." But there must be some immunity to propaganda after 40 years, together with an abiding admiration for the United States as the most "advanced" country and also gratitude for our help in the war.

Worlds Apart

The contrast is still more surprising when you consider that these people are cut off from outside information which might help them evaluate what they read in their newspapers and hear on their radio—and that is all they can read and hear. We kept a careful log on foreign broadcasts with a short-wave radio. Never once were we able to hear more than the first few seconds of a Russian-language broadcast from the Voice of America, the BBC, or even the United Nations before the jamming drowned them out. They go to great trouble and expense to see to it that the people hear only one side of a story and to keep them in ignorance of the United States and its motives.

Later I brought this up with Anastas Mikoyan, deputy premier, and pointed out that on our long journey in the interior every American broadcast in Russian was jammed and the newspapers gave no account of our side of the story about Lebanon; that all press reports from Russia by foreign journalists had been censored for years; that large areas of the country were closed to travel by foreigners (although not to me); and that the hope for peace lay in knowledge and communication, not in ignorance and suppression of both.

'Jamming' Continues

His temper rose: If my report was correct and the Voice of America had always been jammed, he said he would send a letter to the minister of communications—a letter of congratulations! For America, he said, was waging "a cold war against the Soviet Union," the State Department officially said so, "it was their main line of behavior," and the Soviet Union had to take steps to counteract it. When the cold war ended the jamming would end, and also the travel restrictions, he said, but as to censorship, the U.S. press frequently "distorts" the facts "which we don't find too pleasant."

Impetuously I replied that for two weeks I had been reading Russian distortions about America's motives in the Middle East which I didn't find pleasant either. And we were off to Donnybrook again!

Evidently one of the important functions of the ministry of communications is to prevent communication. In recent years they have expelled four or five American correspondents, and very recently they shut down the CBS bureau in Moscow because of "anti-Soviet" programs.

Truth Essential

Russia is a lot of people with a single head, and it is all too plain that the channels of communication must be opened if we are to bring about better understanding and mutual trust. An open world is the indispensable ingredient of peace. And on our return to Moscow from Central Asia and Siberia I ended a statement for the press with the suggestion that if we must compete the best place to begin would be in the spread of truth and not falsehood about each other. The Soviet press reported my long statement in full—minus this suggestion.

But there are hopeful signs too—the growth of person-to-person contact through travel, the exchange visits of students and scholars and specialists, and the expansion of cultural relations under the recent treaty. Another is the enthusiasm of people in Russia for more contact and communication with us. Expression of this feeling, like the friendliness, met us everywhere. I think of the ragged little boy in the squalid, narrow alleys of an old Central Asian town, who solemnly asked me to take "friendly greetings to the children of America."

Prodigy Too Much

And I also think of the chess instructor in the House of the Young Pioneers in Alma-Ata (sign over the door said: "Thanks to the Party and the Government for our happy childhood") who wanted me to play a game with his best player. When I asked where he was he said: "Taking his nap; you see he's not quite five years old." I got out of there in a hurry! But not before I asked if the prodigy was a Kazakh. No. A Russian? "No—he's a Korean."

After seeing the anti-American headlines and hearing the radio attacks in a distant place one night, my notes conclude: "If this has been going on for 20 years it is a wonder that we are still at peace." And it is.

So I take hope, above all, in the horror of war and the friendly feeling we found everywhere during those "days of the people's wrath."

LONDON—Wanted: A fat schoolboy under the age of 12 to blow down the spout of a watering can at a Royal Festival Hall concert here Friday.

The watering can plays a perfect "A" note and is needed to tune the orchestra at Gerard Hoffnung's "Inter-Planetary Music Festival."

Jonathan Ashby, 11, discovered the musical can and offered it to Hoffnung—who promptly signed the boy for the concert.

Jonathan is ill however, and will be unable to play.

Hoffnung believes the boy performer must be fat because "a watering can needs a lot of puff."

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Judge Clark Olmsted agreed with William Van Dusen when the 70-year-old motorist said he forgot his glasses while driving because he was excited.

Jurge Olmsted suspended a $25 fine after Van Dusen told him his wife was expecting their seventh child.

Van Dusen said he and his wife, Maxine, 30, have six children ranging in age from one to 12 years.

DETROIT—Remember Charlie Spurlock and his squirrel who were buffeted by unemployment, a separation caused by Charlie's jailing on a bad-cheque charge and a threat of permanent separation by imprisonment?

Today Charlie and his squirrel are back together and as inseparable pals as ever.

Spurlock appeared in court Tuesday and was sentenced to two years' probation on the cheque count.

The squirrel wasn't in court for the good news. Spurlock had left the animal with a friend until he learned of his future.

The first thing Spurlock did after leaving court was to reclaim the squirrel.

LONDON—Tarquin Olivier, son of actor Sir Laurence Olivier, was reported today to have discovered the monogram of Dr. David Livingstone carved in the hollow trunk of a giant tree in Portuguest East Africa.

Olivier and fellow Oxford student Quentin Keynes returned recently from an African expedition.

LONDON — Lord Altrincham, a distant cousin and much-publicized critic of Queen Elizabeth, today announced plans to marry an Irish girl with whom he can't find fault.

The peer, who was blasted by thousands of Britons for saying the Queen lacked personality and made speeches like a schoolgirl, said he would wed 27-year-old Marian Campbell before Christmas.

Miss Campbell works in the editorial department of one of several magazines which Altrincham owns.

Manitoba Digs Out After Storm

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Skies cleared over southwestern Manitoba today and the weather office said no new snow was expected for the next few days as the province struggled to free itself from the worst November storm in its history.

The storm, which dropped up to 20 inches of snow in the southwestern portion of the province and 11 inches on Winnipeg, today was blowing itself out over the wastes of the James Bay area of northern Ontario.

Many rural areas were isolated by the storm, forcing schools to close and bringing business to a standstill.

In Winnipeg, 400 men and 62 pieces of equipment worked to get the capital on its feet again. But city engineer W. D. Hurst estimated that it would take 10 days to clear all city streets.

City officials again urged motorists to leave their cars at home in an effort to speed up snow removal in the downtown area.

Five hunters were reported missing soon after the storm broke. Three were found Tuesday.

U.S. Mine Offices Twice Bombed in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The United States embassy announced today that unidentfied warplanes this week have twice bombed offices and warehouses of the U.S. government-owned Nicaro Nickel Mines on the northeastern coast of Cuba. Damage was reported heavy.

Kelowna Council Bucking Bennett

KELOWNA (CP)—Kelowna aldermen have protested to the provincial government about proposals to establish a new district south of here. Among those promoting the new district is Premier Bennett.

The subject drew heated discussion Monday night at a city council meeting. Aldermen said proposals to establish a district called Guisachan would prevent Kelowna from expanding in orderly fashion.

"If this goes through," said Ald. Arthur Jackson, chairman of the boundary extension committee, "it means any extension of Kelowna to the south will be a straight ribbon development boxed in by Guisachan".

The aldermen sent off letters to Premier Bennett, one of the main property holders and leaders in formation of the new local district, and to the inspector of municipalities.

First indication council had that the formation was under way was in a newspaper advertisement.

MALKIN'S AWARD $6000.00 IN PRIZES

"Name the Coffee Blend" Contest Winners

Mrs. J. H. Bird of 5656 Patrick St. S. Burnaby, left, is shown as she accepts a cheque for $5,000.00 from J. E. Malkin, representing The W. H. Malkin Co. Ltd. Mrs. Bird, top winner in the "Name the Blend" Contest included a contest panel with her entry qualifying her for the major prize money.

Mrs. G. Russell of 3804 West 20th Ave., Vancouver, center, receives a cheque for $1,000.00 from Mr. Malkin. Both winners sent in the name selected by the judges, but Mrs. Russell's entry did not include the contest panel specified in the rules of the "Name The Blend" Contest.

"ROOSTER" is winning name

The judges agreed that "Rooster" the name chosen for Malkin's marvellous new blend of coffee best expressed a bright new coffee to start the day in a bright new way. "It's a coffee really worth while crowing about", both prize winners agreed.

Secret of the New Blend's Superb Flavor

Malkin's modern "Thermalo Roaster" inspired the "Name The Blend" Contest. An electronic switchboard is the "brain" of this complex coffee roaster. It is a modern marvel of automation and thermostatic control guiding the coffee automatically through the various stages of the roasting process, from the automatic cleaner which removes every particle of foreign matter from the green coffee as it comes from the plantation, to its gentle roasting by super-heated air to its peak of flavor. The most advanced modern equipment combined with the many year's experience and skill of Malkin's experts in creating fine coffee make this new blend truly outstanding. Your first cup of Malkin's New Blend will tell you it's the ultimate in delicious coffee — mild, flavory and full-bodied with a richness and tempting aroma that's irresistible. Try it today.

Russia Agrees To Talk Space

East and West for First Time Get Small Problems Out of Way

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The awesome challenge of outer space appeared today to have stilled United Nations member countries' procedural disputes over how man should deal with it.

Political, military, legal, medical and economic questions—to name only a few—remain unsolved. But for the first time the Eastern and Western big powers seem agreed that no small issues should stand in the way of humanity's progress into the void. . .

Tuesday afternoon Russia's deputy foreign minister, Valerian Zorin, told the UN's political committee, which has been debating the issues of outer space since last week, that his Moscow government would step down from its previously solid position of linking outer space with big-power military bases on foreign soil. This contention, obviously aimed at the United States, until then had threatened any form of agreement here.

The Soviet delegate earlier in the day has passed this word privately to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and repeated it to a press conference attended by correspondents representing all areas of the world. There was a welcoming reaction at the UN even before Zorin spoke up in the political committee itself.

Soviet Accepts UN Study Committee

Zorin's concession means Russia will accept the Western-sponsored idea of an outer space study committee without the divisive tag of make it in effect a body of censure for American military programs.

What prompted this Russian concession was still uncertain today. Zorin did make clear, however, that it should not be linked with the current deadlocked session at Geneva on the question of nuclear tests and technical measures to prevent surprise attacks.

All through the debate here the tendency has been to put military issues to one side and consider instead how conquest of space could best benefit mankind.

Canada's Ambassador Charles S. A. Ritchie, for example, has told the committee that since only the two big powers—the U.S. and Russia — have been able through their resources to penetrate any space barrier, there is a need for some form of international control for the benefit of the smaller countries.

Ritchie expressed satisfaction at the Russian switch of position here, and thought it could pave the way for a compromise motion to which all 81 UN members could agree unanimously.

The immediate results of such an agreement are, of course, almost negligible. The agreement itself is significant.

'HUNGRY' HUNGARIAN NO LONGER HUNGRY

VANCOUVER (CP) — A threatened hunger strike by a Hungarian immigrant has apparently succumbed to the quality of jail food.

Tolgyes Lazlo, 36, threatened Monday to go on a hunger strike in jail after his request to be deported was turned down by a police court magistrate.

Jail officials said today the food trays that have gone into his cell since then have come back clean.

Vanguard Halts Satellite Bids

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vanguard scientists are giving up for this year any more attempts to send satellites aloft. Meanwhile, they hope to make the launching rocket more reliable.

In six tries so far, only one satellite was put into orbit by a U.S. Navy Vanguard rocket. That 3½-pound sphere was launched March 17 and may stay in space for 200 years.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration gave out word Tuesday night of the decision not to try for the rest of this year to put at least one instrumented satellite of basketball size into orbit.

TOMMYGUN REBELS SLAY FOUR POLICE

HAVANA (UPI)—Rebel tommygunners killed four and wounded eight policemen here Monday night in a gang-style massacre apparently inspired by the police slaying of four insurgents 10 days ago.

Gunmen in a black Cadillac and a grey Chevrolet poured a murderous crossfire into the ranks of police going off duty at the 15th precinct in suburban Marianao.

Police said there is no doubt the killers were rebels avenging the killing of insurgent leader Angel (Machaco) Almejeira and three of his band.

Police ordered a city-wide roundup of known rebel sympathizers in a search for the killers.

GAGLARDI ON SOCREDS:

'We Have No Crooks'

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —Highways Minister Gaglardi said Tuesday night there are no crooks in the Social Credit government.

GAGLARDI
. . . 'smear.'

"This government has not been tainted by either Sommers or Briggs and there are no crooks in it," he told a dinner meeting of the New Westminster Chamber of Commerce.

"I know there is no need for an election because no one but a couple of men in newspapers have asked for one," he said.

Concerning H. Lee Briggs' attack on the government while he was chief of the B.C. Power Commission, Mr. Gaglardi said:

"Because of this apparent smear I can tell there is something wrong somewhere. Something smells bad. But I have every confidence in the statements of Mr. Fisher (J. V. Fisher, government financial adviser) that Mr. Briggs is dead wrong."

The minister continued: "What kind of principle has a man got who leaps over the men who hired him and goes to the press? Why did Briggs' statement seem to be timed to overshadow the premier's statement on the huge development in the north?"

The Royal Commission

MR. BENNETT IS WISE TO appoint a royal commission on the charges leveled against him by Mr. Lee Briggs. His decision is prompt, courageous and quite different from his long delays in the Sommers case.

But much will depend upon the royal commission's terms of reference. They should be wide open, covering every point raised by Mr. Briggs. A narrow commission, confined merely to the bookkeeping and debt structure of the B.C. Power Commission, will not satisfy the public.

Apart from his detailed fiscal charges against Mr. Bennett, Mr. Briggs has attacked the Wenner-Gren scheme as a sell-out of the people's resources. He has also condemned the alleged extravagance, exorbitant power rates and profits of the B.C. Electric. He has suggested that the B.C. Electric is far too friendly with the Government in the use of campaign funds. He has called the Public Utilities Commission an ineffective judge of B.C. Electric rates.

All these questions should be the proper concern of the royal commission if it is to settle the main question raised by recent events. That question is simply whether the Government is protecting or sacrificing the public interest in the whole field of electrical energy.

Mr. Bennett showed in his speech of Monay night that he understands this question thoroughly by answering it in advance of the royal commission. The Government, he says, is not suppressing the Power Commission and the expansion of public power but assisting it; is not selling out our northern resources to the Wenner-Gren syndicate but assuring their sound development; is not in the grip of private interests but is preserving the true interests of the people.

These statements are accompanied by Mr. Bennett's usual denunciations of his critics, especially the newspapers, and his invariable discovery of a dark plot against him. This time it is the "Yankees" who are trying to ruin the Wenner-Gren scheme in order—we don't know just how—to drive a hard bargain on the Columbia.

The theatricals of the Sidney speech, the natural human outburst of a man under a great strain, are irrelevant to the main question. It can be answered, to the public's satisfaction, only by an independent tribunal—provided the tribunal is given a clear field of inquiry.

Meanwhile all these matters have been introduced into the Rossland-Trail by-election and it is proper that they should be discussed there, since they are the public's business.

It is to be hoped that argument will not be throttled there, as it was so long throttled by a libel suit in the Sommers case, by legal technicalities. Certain charges will be sub judice of the royal commission (which will have all the powers of a court) as soon as the commission is appointed. But the voters of Rossland-Trail, whom the whole province is watching, have every right to debate the broad questions of power policy and to consider their confidence in the Government.

Poor Old Gundy

IN THE SPATE OF STATEments, counter-statements, charges and denials, with which the public has been assaulted in the past few days, the learned pronunciamento of Mr. Einar Gunderson should not be overlooked. It contained some statements which, for sheer bravura, made the others look pallid indeed.

"I have no association with the Government," said Mr. Gunderson, without even smiling, "except for the presidency of the PGE." He might have added his directorship of the Government-sponsored Wenner-Gren project, but may be excused on the grounds that it slipped his memory, as it did when this disclosure was first revealed by the press to a startled Premier.

It is widely known, too, that Mr. Gunderson is a leading collector of campaign funds for the Government, both at home and abroad. He collects them as far away as Montreal, a fact which is known to this newspaper and others.

Secondly, Mr. Gunderson states that he "has lost money knowing Mr. Bennett," a remarkable declaration. It will be recalled that the Premier's confidant is a comparatively recent arrival in this province, by way of the Dakotas, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He started on a modest scale with a chartered accountancy firm in Vancouver. Since the accession of Social Credit, he has expanded on a scale which rivals even that of the mighty PGE itself, including offices in such burgeoning communities as Victoria, Duncan and Penticton.

Other diversions in which Mr. Gunderson has become interested in recent years include a heavy equipment business and the agency for Volvo cars and machinery of Sweden; also a directorship in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, with which the province does its banking business; and such cultural pursuits as the Board of Governors of UBC and a directorship on the Pacific National Exhibition board.

Finally, Mr. Gunderson asks: "What do they expect me to do—go on relief?"

We doubt very much that this unhappy fate will befall Gundy as long as Social Credit is in power and he enjoys the rich friendship of Mr. Bennett.

Russ Baker's Funeral

MR. RUSS BAKER, THE LATE great bush pilot, was accorded unique burial honors this week.

On Monday a mass was celebrated in his memory at Holy Rosary Cathedral in Vancouver. On Tuesday a service was held at Christ Church Cathedral in the same city. An Anglican, Mr. Baker was taken back for burial to Fort St. John, in the north country which he loved and to which he contributed so much.

The explanation of this unique sequence was that during his work in the north, Mr. Baker had made many friends among Roman Catholic priests and sisters, and had come to have a respect for the missionary work they were performing.

It is the sort of tribute which will confound many well-meaning theologians, of all denominations, who like to persuade their congregations that theirs is the "one true faith." But it demonstrates that there happens along, from time to time, men of such stature and such warm human values that they rise above the doctrinal disputes of the contending faiths and end up earning the grateful tributes of them all.

Turning of the Tide?

ONE OF THE SIGNIFICANT events attending the Colombo Plan conference in Seattle during the last week was a four-night presentation of the musical play, "Turning of the Tide."

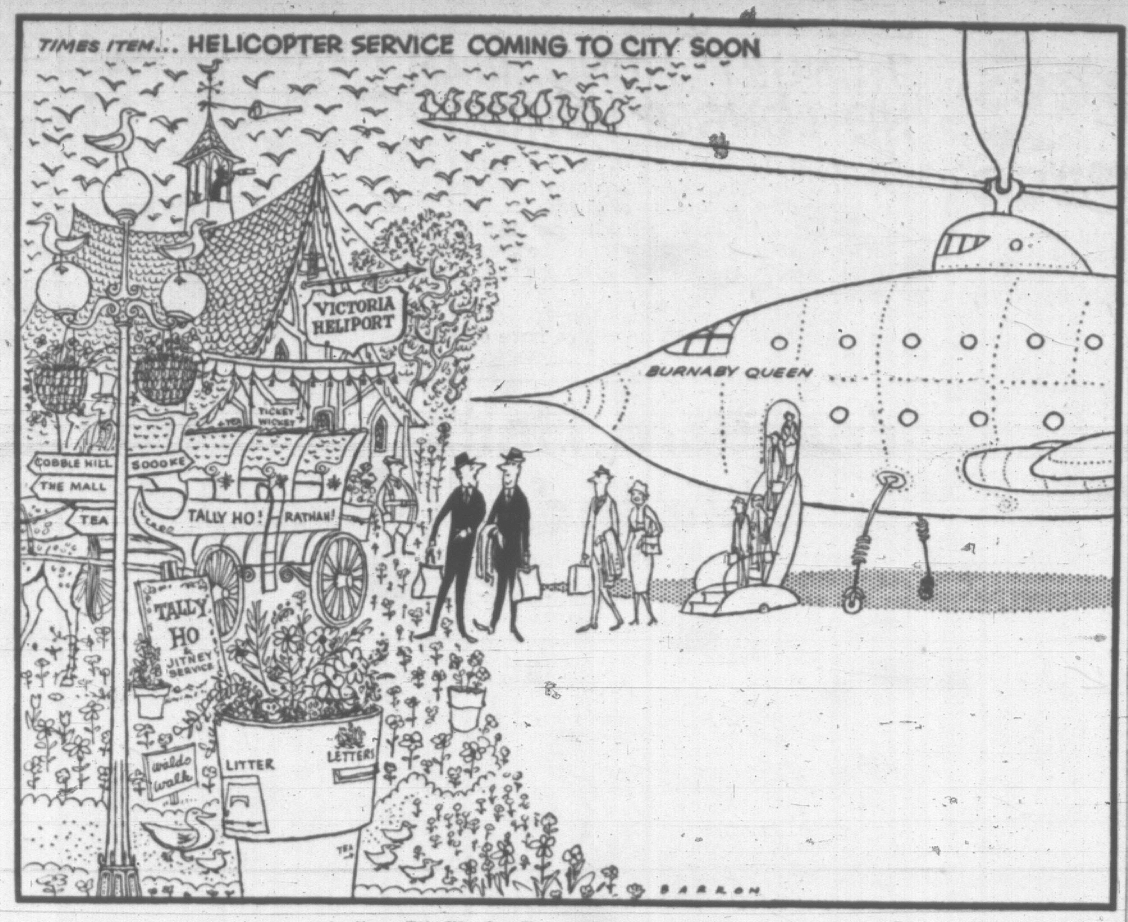

This was a stage production by Moral Re-Armament, in much the same vein as "Freedom", the great African film which Victorians saw some months ago. It was given its world premiere very appropriately as the representatives of Colombo Plan nations gathered to discuss greater economic co-operation.

A striking feature of the cast of 88 natives of a dozen Asian countries was the varied background of the players. Among them were Rajmohan Gandhi, grandson of the late Mahatma Gandhi; Surya Sena, a Ceylonese who gave up careers as a lawyer and later a concert artist to join the MRA organization; Paul Kang, a Korean singer known as the Bing Crosby of Japan, who also renounced his career to take part in the play; K. Sumitomo, head of a great Japanese industrial family, and others who willingly sacrificed position, personal wealth and their own ambitions to further the Frank Buchman philosophy of selflessness.

Mr. Gandhi stressed the importance of the MRA movement in Asia on two counts; as a religious way of life and as a dependable bulwark against the communism which has sought to divide countries.

"For the first time in history," he said, "people from 10 Asian nations have been bound together in one common purpose, overcoming the hate of decades to give Asia an answer."

The movement has excited equal attention in Africa, and may yet win a place as one of the major international factors in world peace.

Sacred Cows

From the Manchester Guardian

PANDIT Sita Ram Khemka is threatening to prosecute India's prime minister under Section 295A of the Criminal Procedure Code for "outraging the religious feelings of the Hindu community." Pandit Sita Ram alleges that Mr. Nehru told Allahabad students, "with deliberate and malicious intention of outraging the religious feelings of the Hindus," that he "looks up to the cow as he does to the horse." Blasphemy!

Herein lie his crimes, for as everyone knows, Indian cows are divine and to suggest anything less is to ask for trouble. Indeed Mr. Nehru has been consistently defeated by his placid, wistful-eyed humpbacked, cleft-hoofed enemy.

Since Independence cow slaughters have been officially banned in two states and restricted in most, with the result that cows that can still give milk cannot be killed. India has more cows per capita than America has cars. Yet with the exception of the Chinese and the Tibetans, Indians drink less milk than anyone.

This is not out of fastidiousness but out of necessity. Seventy million head of cattle are totally useless and most of the rest are not very good. Mr. Nehru has been pleading for years that the proper way to worship cows is to look after them and feed them well.

But when there is not enough food for children it is easier to worship cows with prayers than with fodder.

OUT IN SPACE, YOUR TIME IS YOUR OWN

If You Go Fast Enough You Don't Have to Go at All

By B. A. TOBIN

IF you were aboard a space ship travelling about 150,000 miles a second—and man may yet make it, once he hits his stride—there would be a lot of things to make the time seem to pass quickly. You would be so interested that the hours would seem to race. But a glance at the clock would show you that time was ticking by apparently just the same as it had back on earth. And if you had launched out on a return trip to Alpha Centauri—the nearest star to our sun—at 150,000 miles a second, your clock would show you that the whole journey had taken six years.

Tobin

The only catch is that when you had landed and stepped out of your space ship, and checked with the clocks on earth, you would find that the trip had taken 10 years.

According to the late Albert Einstein, time passes more slowly on an object that is moving at high speed than on one moving at a lower speed. And when you get up into speeds approaching the velocity of light, at 186,000 miles a second, it begins to show.

Change of Pace

The clock, or the people travelling with the clock, would not know it at the time. Everything would seem normal to them. But when they had a chance to compare their clock with other clocks on slower-moving bodies, they would find that their time had been slowed down.

If they travelled with the speed of light, I suppose time would stand still for them, even though it continued as usual for slower folks. The speed-of-light travellers would also lose all length in the direction they were travelling. If they were travelling head-first they would get shorter and shorter until they had no height at all.

That is another of Prof. Einstein's theories. I suppose if you have the imagination to arrive at such a theory you also have the imagination to grasp it. I join the approximately three billion people on earth who don't get it.

But the practical folk these days have a better chance to check the conclusions of the imaginative' geniuses. Electronic measuring devices are becoming so unbelievably accurate that units of time and space which used to be beyond our power to measure can now be very exactly gauged.

A Fine Point

Already some New York scientists have devised a gadget to measure incredibly minute electromagnetic waves. And others have electronic clocks which measure fragments of time so small they're real only as mathematical concepts.

So, instead of moving at four-fifths the speed of light and zipping out to the nearest star and back so they can find they've lost four years somewhere along the way, scientists are preparing to work with much smaller speeds and distances.

They believe that if an electronic clock were placed in a satellite which was shot into orbit around the earth at 18,000 miles an hour, it would register a loss, compared with earth clocks, of one twenty-thousandth of a second at the end of a day as a result of its speed. This slight period of time could be measured, and it would go a long way toward proving whether Prof. Einstein was right or not.

We are so tied to the earth from our birth to our death that we find it difficult to conceive that most of the things we know about nature are in the form of local ground rules.

We think of things as being moving or stationary; we think of temperatures between the freezing point of water and about 100 degrees Fahrenheit as being "normal"; we think of time as a fixed and standard measuring stick of the passage of events; our ideas of size are governed more or less by "tiny" little pin points, large buildings, or huge mountains.

Dim View

But actually we're only peeking through a keyhole of the universe; we're only looking at a few shadows which flit past us. The real cosmos is something beyond our ken, although slowly we are beginning to catch glimpses of the reality.

When we do we find that time is a very rubbery measuring stick, since it is different for every speeding body in the universe. Each whizzing particle of matter in space has its own "brand" of time, depending on the speed at which it is travelling. Our pace of events is only one among countless others.

And "stationary" things do not exist. There is just nowhere for them in the scheme of things. Every body in creation is moving in relation to every other body; there is no motionless point from which to measure them. Also, there is no up or down, no right or left or sideways—those ideas are just a little game we play as we steer ourselves around on our seemingly solid earth.

And temperatures—the medium range that makes our life possible here is just a little backwater caused by our distance from the sun and the blanket of air that is wrapped around our planet. In space the "normal" range is from absolute zero, at which there is no molecular motion, and hence no heat at all, up into the millions of degrees in the heart of the vast nuclear explosions we call stars.

Out of This World

And cosmic size, of course, leaves our tiny human concepts gasping. We think our earth is big, our sun is big, the great wheel traced out by our planetary system is big.

But our sun is a very moderately sized ball—about 864,000 miles in diameter. It is one of a cloud of suns—100 billion of them—wheeling through space in what we call the Milky Way. The cloud is in the form of a vast spinning disc, and we make the round trip—situated about one-third in from the edge—in about 200 million years.

A light year is six million million miles—and the disc is 100,000 light years across. Try that on your long-play Victrola!

The Milky Way in turn is only one of an apparently unlimited number of galaxies, all speeding away from each other at terrific speeds. The farthest-out galaxies we can detect with telescopes appear to be disappearing at speeds of 200 million miles an hour—and going faster all the time.

And we're learning more about them by inventing a machine that will measure one twenty-thousandth of a second!

It's a pretty wonderful universe, any way you look at it. Only one thing is more wonderful—the little blob of grey matter that permits man to wonder about it all, and even understand some of it.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

They Banned Cock Fights

Strange are the ways of men! Cock-fighting was abolished because it was considered a cruel sport-entertainment for sadistic minds.

Would falconry not involve the same principle?

Pain is allowed to be inflicted on another weaker and defenceless creature.

It is natural for a "human" being, with any decent feeling, to go to the aid of another in distress—be it animal or just a bird. These creatures cannot speak for themselves.

Owners of dogs are held responsible for their good behaviour, so are zoo-owners—and rightly so!

Does any tender feeling dwell in the hearts of those who engage in falconry?

Remember the Poll?

As a subscriber, I remember when your paper took a note on this Wenner-Gren deal. I voted against it. I took the trouble to fill in the slip and mail it back. I was so thankful to have the opportunity to voice my opinion to help save British Columbia from exploitation.

We know the result of the vote was definitely against Wenner-Gren or having anything to do with him. But Mr. Bennett chose to ignore the people as he seems to be in the habit of doing. What is one to do under such circumstances?

Thank God there are men like Mr. Briggs, Mr. Sturdy and Mr. Eversfield. Right will apparently conquer over might.

I am just a simple housewife, not overly endowed with brains. I don't pretend to understand big business. I do love this province and my country. I do want to leave a heritage for my children and theirs.

How can we, the people show our distrust and disagreement to this Wenner-Gren? How can we stop it?

Wanted—Another Track

I have been criticized for trying to get backing for another cinder track and yet not knowing how to build a track, or how much it would cost. I must confess I do not know. But that does not matter; there are plenty of people who do know. All I want is to see that our young people have a place to train at home instead of having to go to jail first, where such facilities are provided. Young people who have no facilities for expending their energies, are the ones who get into trouble. Their energy must have an outlet and it is cheaper to supply athletic training facilities than to support them in jail.

What finer sight is there than a group of athletes taking the hurdles or going over the bar in a pole vault? What is the use of raising money to send athletes to the Olympics if they have not a place to train? One has only to see Ed Sullivan's TV show to realize the brand of athletes they are turning out in Europe.

Believe me there is nothing better than a cinder track and stop watch to develop stamina. It is our duty to cater to the youth who are really interested. Let us therefore get behind this project of supplying a cinder track in the Saanich area of Mount View.

May I, through the columns of your paper, be allowed to once again express my thanks to the many people who visited my recent exhibition of flower paintings held at the Dominion Hotel, and who contributed to my collection for the Community Chest of Greater Victoria.

Although in almost every case, each visitor had already been canvassed and had already given his or her contribution to the fund, the result of the exhibition collection was $47.12.

This amount was accepted with appreciation by the officials of the Community Chest Fund.

Time for Overhaul

The notice enclosed with old age pension cheques advising senior citizens that they are not allowed to stay out of Canada over one month and receive their cheque is disgraceful.

We are supposed to have British justice. Not so. The Mother Country forwards OPA cheques to their older citizens who come to Canada—many to join their daughters and grandchildren. There is no discrimination.

Furthermore, the pension is granted to men at age 65, and if the wife is a few years younger she is automatically covered and saved the humiliation of seeking welfare if unable to work. It is time our government overhauled both the OPA and divorce laws and caught up with the Motherland.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By STANLEY BURKE

Threat From Space

NEW YORK—Delegates at the UN have turned to the most awesome threat ever faced by man, the threat from outer space.

The remark is sometimes heard that "if we can't reach agreement here on earth, perhaps we can reach agreement in space." Unfortunately agreement on space involves all the problems encountered here on earth and a few new ones.

Burke

The delegates are discussing Western and Soviet resolutions which would make illegal the use of space for military purposes. Unfortunately this involves action here on earth to make sure that the great birds of death never take off. It would involve an inspection system and would seem to mean inspectors right on the launching pads, an unlikely prospect in the foreseeable future. As a matter of fact, Mr. Khrushchev, in an interview with columnist Walter Lippman, said that an inspection system for missiles is "ridiculous."

The Russians, in private conversations here at the UN, make it clear that they think the main reason the West wants limitation on space is to try to check Russia's intercontinental missile lead. Therefore, they insist that agreement on space must be linked to evacuation of foreign military bases, the bases from which the United States would fly bombers and launch intermediate-range missiles.

This, of course, involves the nations in the familiar, discouraging old wrangles. I spoke, however, to two of the most respected UN delegates, both well informed on disarmament matters, and I found both optimistic that progress is being made. In particular, both felt that both sides are beginning to have some slight appreciation of the other's point of view.

They point out, for example, that it's perhaps understandable for the Russians to insist that political decisions be taken first and then worked out to make them work. After all, in Russia politics comes first.

The Western mind tends to be concerned less with theory than with the question "will it work?" Thus, in working out a system to detect explosions or prevent surprise attack, the Western mind wants an inspection system to observe it, to see if it's really going to work.

Mr. Khrushchev, however, in his interview with Lippman, put it differently. He said it's as though a man is trying to make friends with another but, right at the beginning, he demands the keys of the other man's house.

It's recognized, of course, that there is a large element of propaganda in the Russian pronouncements but there's hypocrisy on the Western side too. Both in the past have often made pious proposals secure in the knowledge that the other side couldn't accept —and there's reason to believe that this applies to some extent to Western inspection proposals.

★ ★ ★

UN people rather generally believe that progress is being made, however, that negotiators are beginning to deal with real issues, real possibilities for agreement. It wasn't very long ago that the Russians were famous for "nyet nyet" and the Americans seemed to spend much of their time preaching sermons, including the famous one when Senator Warren Austin appealed to Arab and Jewish delegates to settle their differences in a "Christian spirit."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Introducing Smellovision

LONDON—Show business . . .

Mike Todd, Jr., is in town busily engaged on the plan, inherited from his father, to bring odors into the movie houses. In partnership with an English company he'll make, here and in Spain, a movie called "Scent of Danger," the first film to be done in Smellovision. Yes, that's what they call the process and what an invitation for an obvious comment.

Reyburn

Anyway, it seems the Todds, father and son, had been doing a lot of experimenting at a cinema in Long Island to perfect this system of matching appropriate odors for the audience with what's going on on the screen.

★ ★ ★

At first it was all failure—by the time they got the right smell to every part of the theatre, the action on the screen called for another aroma. But they've licked this problem by having all parts of the theatre piped, with an impulse on the sound track shooting out the correct odors at the right time.

Dispelling each smell to make room for the next one was a snag but they overcame that quite simply. A basic thing about perfumes is that they are suspended in liquids deliberately intended to keep them from evaporating too quickly. Do away with the liquids and the perfume base itself evaporates in about seven seconds and doesn't cling to anything.

Cost of equipping the average movie theatre for Smellovision will be high—at least $100,000—but Todd, Jr., is set on having some 40 cinemas around the world equipped with it to get the thing going.

★ ★ ★

This first odoriferous film he's making has as the villain of the piece a man who smokes a pipe with sweet Dutch tobacco all the time, which provides a clue for the audience.

Climax is a fight in a boudoir, which is intended to turn out to be a real orgy of smells as the characters throw all sorts of bottles and cosmetic containers at each other—perfume, bath salts, face power, the lot.

Except that this time it may be practical, there's nothing new about this idea of the "smellies." In the 1920s Aldous Huxley, in his book "Brave New World," prophesied that they were bound to come. In the 1930s there were numerous experiments with them.

★ ★ ★

One idea was to have usherettes spraying the air and I remember such a performance which my mother took me to in Paris. It wasn't entirely a success. The smells weren't so bad but the wheezing of the usherette's flit-guns were disconcerting, especially when we were bathed in gardenia during what was supposed to be a tender love scene out among the shubberies.

The hissing sound was also a drawback to a system installed at the London Pavilion as far back as 1932. It was a compressed air network not unlike the present Todd idea. But as well as the off-putting noise it made there was another complaint.

People up in the cheap seats in the gallery raised a rumpus when they found out that they were being sprayed with a cheaper scent than those down in the stalls!

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Planting of Garlic Job for This Week

One of the jobs listed for this week is the planting of garlic. It is a job usually done about the end of February in these parts, but in a well - drained soil there is no reason to wait that long.

Jack

Garlic takes about six months to grow and ripen in this climate, although many gardening books list it as a 90-day crop. A late February planting is ready about the middle to the end of August with us.

While November is an accepted planting time, very little actual growing takes place before the end of February, excepting the building up of a root system.

Getting this much of a start is helpful because the plants waste no time when growing conditions are suitable and the crop has a chance to ripen in the July dry period.

Those who have not grown garlic but know it to be a close relative to the table onion, are sometimes bewildered by the difference in structure.

Whereas the onion is a true bulb, the so-called bulb of garlic is a skin enclosing many bulblets known as cloves. These are separated and planted individually about two inches apart.

The strong odor and flavor which is objectionable to many people is not present in fresh garlic. As with onions, there is a chemical change when the green growth appears in the centre of the clove, and that is the signal for planting instead of eating.

This year, being unusual (as usual), the February planting was ready for digging during the first few days of July, and some of the cloves are now indicating, by their little green centres, the termination of their rest period.

Menzies Favored In Aussie Vote

CANBERRA (CP) — Five million Australian voters elect a new government Saturday and most of the political experts predict another term of office for the Liberal-Country Party coalition led by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

But more and more people are saying that the Labor Party, led by Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, has a chance. Evatt has promised more family benefits and some tax concessions — among these making all fares to and from work an income tax deduction.

The Menzies government had 75 members in the old House of Representatives, which has 122 voting seats. The Labor Party had 47.

NEED 15 SEATS

Labor would need a gain of about 15 seats to win, and an eight-per-cent swing in the vote would be necessary.

About 130,000 new Australians, naturalized citizens of European origin, could swing the balance.

ELECTED SENATE

Australia uses the single-transferable-vote system of preferential ballotting for the lower house; full proportional representation for the Senate.

Bing Crosby Ranch Sold for $1M Up

ELKO, Nev. (AP)—Sale of Bing Crosby's 19,000-acre ranch 52 miles north of here was announced Tuesday. The price was reported in excess of $1,000,000. The new owners are Edward Johnson and Earl Presnell of Modesto, Calif., and William Johnson of Escalon, Calif.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE URGED

'Keep Education Free Of Political Creeds'

OTTAWA (CP)—A call for a federal-provincial conference on education was voiced today by Kurt R. Swinton of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Conference on Education.

He urged also that education be taken out of the field of politics, warning there was an ominous race going on in the world "between education and catastrophe."

"We need a non-political educational policy in Canada which is in no way hampered or perverted by political creeds," he said in a speech before the Liberal Federation Advisory Council Conference.

Mr. Swinton suggested a federal provincial conference should emphasize there be no basic differences in provincial aims and purposes in dealing with education. Differences would exist only in methods, procedure and timing.

TEACH FRENCH TO ALL

There was a need also in a bilingual country such as Canada that both the French and English languages be taught in all Canadian schools.

He reiterated a previous suggestion that great Canadian thinkers be rewarded. Ten annual awards should be established, each valued at $30,000.

A spectacle such as the Grey Cup should be developed where these awards would be granted with the Queen making the first presentation on her visit to Canada next year.

Quebec Legislature Starts 3rd Session

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's 25th legislature, elected in 1956, started its third annual session today. Lieut.-Governor Onesime Gagnon read the speech from the throne in French, then in English.

Widow Testifies Slain Man Spoke of Gun Before Death

Pender Island electrician Albert Kerr told his wife Alice, charged with his death, that he was "going to do something with the little rifle," a 32.20 Winchester, only about 1½ hours before she heard a shot, RCMP testimony disclosed Tuesday in Assize Court.

Sgt. Peter Gregory of the criminal investigation branch, questioning Mrs. Kerr on the death scene, said the accused had understood her husband to mean he intended to clean the rifle.

About 11 p.m Mrs. Kerr said she heard a shot, which she assumed was her husband frightening vandals — boys 12 or 14—who had frequently bothered the Kerrs by peeking in windows and throwing stones at the screens.

After the shot, she told the officer, she heard "a slight gurgle" but assumed it was her husband taking hot inhalations for a severe cold. She then went to sleep.

"HOW ARE YOU?"

The last time she saw her husband alive, Sgt. Gregory testified Mrs. Kerr told him, was when he had looked in her bedroom and said "How are you baby doll." This was about 9.30 p.m. Aug. 10.

Again quoting the accused, the RCMP officer said the couple had "high tea" between 4 and 5 p.m. that date which included "three or four" glasses of wine. This was consumed in Mrs. Kerr's bedroom. She had said she was in and out of bed all day.

Sgt. Gregory said that when he first saw Mrs. Kerr on his arrival at the North Pender Island home, she had "not appeared unduly grief-stricken. But she did appear to have a hangover."

DELAY REFUSED

She had asked him to "delay" the investigations "as she was tired," but it was explained this would be impossible.

At the same time, the sergeant said Mrs. Kerr said "Albert" would not commit suicide, and hs death must have been "an accident."

She had said nothing was to be touched in the house, or the house searched without a warrant. The warrant was subsequently delivered.

Sgt. Gregory quoted Mrs. Kerr as saying: "I will not accept it, therefore any search will be illegal."

She was advised that a search would be made, regardless of her feelings.

"Her co-operation was not evident," said Sgt. Gregory.

He testified the accused had argued with her husband Aug. 10 over a wedding gift to a niece in Saskatoon which they couldn't afford to send.

"I blew my top," he quoted Mrs. Kerr stating.

DUNNING LETTER

He said he had found evidence of family financial trouble, including a letter from a Vancouver finance company pressing for payment of a $178 loan.

Constable William Picton, of the RCMP crime laboratory in Regina, testified that a ⅝-inch strand of dyed light yellow hair found between the firing pin and the hammer of the rifle was similar to the hair of Mrs. Kerr.

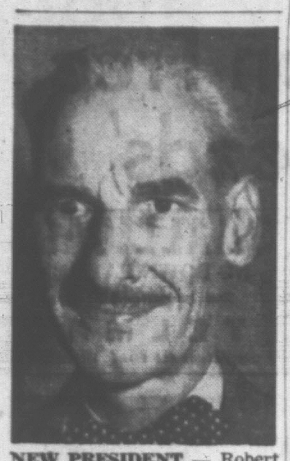

But under cross examination by defence counsel Alan Macfarlane, he admitted the hair could have been in the rifle before it was fired at the time of Mr. Kerr's death.

Earlier police testimony substantiated that of Sgt. Gregory, including the fact the accused had behaved in a "hostile" manner, although she had co-operated in answering all questions.

Mrs. Kerr told police at the time of the investigation on the scene that she had married Albert Kerr Oct. 31, 1951, in Vancouver after a previous marriage which had lasted from 1932 to 1952. She is 54. Her late husband was 56.

Saanich councillor Charles Nelles Tuesday offered to provide free copies of the "conclusions" of the Deutsch amalgamation report to any voter in the municipality.

Coun. Nelles action follows the refusal by the majority of council members to have the conclusions of the report distributed in the municipality on the grounds that the whole picture on amalgamation would not be complete.

NEW PRESIDENT — Robert Dykes, 661 Beach Drive, was elected president of Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday at annual meeting. Other officers: vice-presidents, Charles Booth and Jack Lee; secretary-treasurer, F. V. Shoemaker.

Guard Toddlers Against Drugs, Parents Told

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy warned parents Tuesday to keep aspirin, drugs and household cleaning compounds under lock and key.

The medical health officer told Victoria-Esquimalt health board that most poisoning cases involve two to four-year-olds.

"It's no good keeping these things in a high cupboard or under the sink," she said. "Children can get everywhere, they can even climb to the ceiling."

29 TREATED

Some 21 youngsters and eight adults were treated at the poison control centre from July to September, she said. Several of the adult cases were suicide attempts.

Twelve of the cases involved children between two and four years old.

R. H. Reeve, schools representative on the board, said parents who take pills or drugs in front of their children were only "encouraging them to become poison cases."

Youngsters imitate parents without knowing what they are doing or when to stop, he said.

Liberals Cheer Biting Attack By Pearson

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A climate of confusion, contradiction and uncertainty under the Conservatives has replaced the climate of confidence that prevailed under the Liberals.

Lester Pearson, national Liberal leader and opposition leader, hammered home these political changes in a biting, fighting speech that had his audience on their feet cheering him in the ballroom of the Chateau Laurier Tuesday.

The Liberals loved it. They haven't had much to cheer about since the general election, but they cheered their leader's speech, and went away describing it as the best they had ever heard Mike Pearson make.

He spoke to the dinner meeting of the delegates attending the advisory council meetings of the Liberal Federation.

"Canada needs wise and consistent national policies, applied carefully but firmly with a minimum of excitement and a maximum of sense," said the Liberal leader.

"She is not getting it.

"She must have it," he emphasized.

His speech was punctuated with humor as he poked fun at his opponents. Mr. Pearson noted that some newspapers described the Liberals as licking their wounds. "You're the most optimistic group of wound lickers I've ever seen assembled," he said with a smile.

Increasing Uneasiness—St. Laurent

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent came out of political retirement to act as chairman at the meeting.

He too spoke of the climate of confidence that was "a feature of our national life" when the Liberals were in office.

Today there was an increasing uneasiness across the country, a feeling that things were going wrong in trade, investment and employment fields and worry about the dropping value of the dollar.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland added the climax when he scored the Conservatives for having introduced the American slick advertising agency into the Canadian political scene.

The Tories had adopted the phony appeal of a dressed-up, show-business type of campaign.

He hoped the Liberals would continue in the Canadian manner to campaign on their party's program and not resort to high pressure sales techniques to try and fool the public.

An engraved silver tray was presented to Duncan McTavish, retiring president of the National Liberal Federation.

Mr. Pearson was in fine form as he lashed out at the Conservatives for their hit-and-miss expedients, their piece-meal solutions to major problems.

He attacked the Tories for their failure to cope with unemployment. He said they had failed the farmer. Because of their fiscal policies inflationary pressures were gaining momentum he warned; inflation that could wreck the economy, hit the savings of the average man and women, and if not curtailed wipe them out.

"There is real and serious danger to the financial stability of the country in the Conservative fiscal policies," the Liberal leader said.

He accused the Conservatives with their "cascade of resonant words" seeming more interested in seeking headlines than in sound government.

On unemployment: he recalled the Diefenbaker pledge during the election, "no one Canadian will suffer from unemployment while I'm in office."

That pledge was not carried out, Canadians who were out of work seeking employment were suffering, Mr. Pearson suggested.

'CONSUMER MINISTER' PROPOSED

OTTAWA (CP)—Creation of a government department of consumer affairs with a cabinet minister at the helm, was suggested Tuesday by Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon, national president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Testifying before the Royal Commission on Price Spreads of Food Products, she said the food business in Canada is colossal, and getting bigger all the time

"There is no force in government co-ordinating and looking after the consumer interest. There is no source of specialized and expert information."

Existing government departments tried to help but requests "got lost" because there was nobody with authority to act. Consumer problems went to the bottom of the pile.

Six Candidates for Nanaimo Council

NANAIMO (CP) — Howard Robert Dean, 37, a member of the Welders' and Steamfitters' Union, announced Tuesday he will seek election to city council Dec. 11.

This brings to six the number who have declared their candidacies. In the contest so far are two aldermen whose terms expire in December, George Bryce and Phil J. Piper, and four other candidates—centennial committee chairman George Molecey, lawyer Douglas M. Greer, high school teacher Jack Parker, who is the official Labor candidate, and Mr. Dean.

MUST DECIDE ON FREIGHT RATE BOOST

Federal Cabinet On the Spot

MONTREAL (CP) — Outcome of a provincial appeal to the federal cabinet against a railways freight rate increase is likely to determine whether Canada will have a transcontinental rail strike Dec. 1.

The cabinet will hear the appeal of eight provinces—excluding Quebec and Ontario—at 10 a.m. EST Monday (7 a.m. PST), Nov. 24, in Ottawa.

The cabinet can't refuse to act on the matter, observers say, and has three choices:

1. Turn down the provincial appeal against the 17 per cent freight rate increase, almost automatically producing an agreement between the railways and 130,000 non-operating employees and thereby averting a strike.

2. Throw out the increase authorized by the board of transport commissioners, putting the railways back where they started.

3. Toss the matter back to the board for review.

Ex-Mountie Judge

NANAIMO (CP)—Otis Lesley Hall of Lantzville has been appointed stipendiary magistrate for the small debts court.

Mr. Hall is a retired RCMP officer.

His new appointment will take in Nanaimo and district.

Supermarkets Attract Blast

OTTAWA (CP)—A detailed indictment of supermarkets was presented Tuesday to royal commission on price spreads. It said they reap "super" profits, lead the consumer down the primrose path of promotion and trim the farmer's share of the food dollar.

GOMEZ
... tearful goodbye.

In a blockbuster brief totalling about 15,000 words, District No. 8 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CLC) said chain stores and supermarkets now occupy a "decisive" position in the Canadian food industry. They were increasingly able to control the consumer, farmer and important segments of food processing.

"A correct understanding of current price spreads on food requires a close look at the leverage in the hands of chain stores."

FARMERS HELPLESS

The union said supermarkets now hold the whip hand to such an extent that farmers often are "passive and helpless" in determining sales terms for crops and livestock.

Other points in the union submission were that advertising of food has passed the "point of diminishing utility"; that razzle-dazzle packaging and promotion have greatly widened the price spread; that consumers are being systematically overcharged; and that the supermarket, instead of widening the housewife's choice, has in fact limited it.

TOO MANY CHOICES

"Paradoxically, the consumers are beset with so many choices that, too often, they have no choice. The housewife frequently has no place else to go . . . for few small groceries remain."

A "continuing increase" in pressures tending to produce price spreads was forecast by British Columbia Packers Ltd. of Vancouver. If so, higher consumer prices would be inevitable.

Argentine Vice-Chief Steps Down

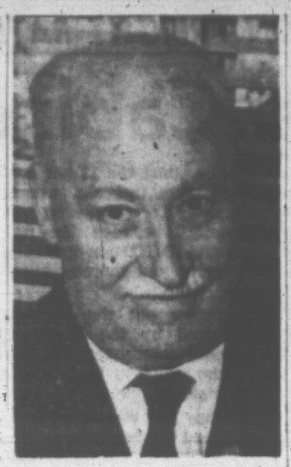

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Alejandro Gomez quit Tuesday as vice-president in a tearful, emotion-charged ceremony in the Argentine Senate chamber.

He had been under fire for a week, accused of leading a plot against President Arturo Frondizi.

Gomez, who denied any part in a move to unseat Frondizi, said his resignation was irrevocable.

A 50-year-old lawyer and former school teacher, Gomez was named vice-president last February in Argentina's first free election after the 1955 overthrow of Juan Peron's dictatorship.

The resignation had been expected since the government said it thwarted a plot last Wednesday. The last obstacle was cleared when Gomez met with Frondizi and later declared, "my honor has been saved."

JOURNALIST and First World War MC winner Elmore Philpott will address a luncheon meeting of the Men's Canadian Club Thursday at the Empress Hotel and a Women's Canadian Club meeting the same afternoon at 2.30 p.m. in the hotel. Well known across Canada for his syndicated column and frequent radio and television appearances he was the first Canadian journalist to enter Communist China and write a series on the regime.

DITCH DIGGERS FIND WHERE CAESAR KILLED

ROME (Reuters)—Workers digging a drain Tuesday unearthed part of a 2,000-year-old theatre in which Julius Caesar is said to have been stabbed to death.

The theatre, built by Pompey, is the largest ever designed in early Roman times.

The find so far is limited to some paving stones and fragments of white marble.

Historical opinion is that Brutus stabbed Caesar in the hall of Pompey's theatre and not on the Capital Hill—the place named by Shakespeare.

IN PUGET SOUND

Boat Swamps, 3 Men Drown

SEATTLE (AP) — An intense, fast-moving storm, raked western Washington late Tuesday in the wake of an earlier storm which sent three oystermen to their death in Puget Sound.

The three Puget Sound storm victims were Masao Yamashitea, 30, part owner of the Western Oyster Co. at Purdy, and two of his oyster pickers, Tom Anderson, 22, and Dave Anderson, 17, of Gig Harbor.

They drowned before dawn Tuesday when their flat-bottomed, 14-foot boat swamped in heavy waves as they were on their way to oyster beds in Henderson's Bay, about 15 miles northwest of Tacoma.

The boat sank in 10-12 feet of water 75 yards from shore. The lone survivor, Richard E. Morgan, 22, of nearby Wauna, said one of the men cried out that he could not swim, then he neither heard nor saw anything more.

BY VANCOUVER

Power Query

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council Tuesday decided to ask the provincial government if there is to be a merger between the B.C. Power Commission, the B.C. Electric Company and the Wenner-Gren interests.

The action was taken on the advice of Ald. Bill Orr.

"I don't want to start another Briggs controversy, but I feel that this is something the Lower Mainland municipalities should watch as closely as possible," said Ald. Orr.

"If there is to be a marriage, then the municipalities should seek to determine if it is a good thing or a bad thing. I personally think it is a bad thing."

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Charles (Sonny) Liston, ninth-ranked heavyweight contender from Philadelphia, Tuesday night scored an eighth-round technical knockout over surprisingly stubborn Ernie Cab of Brooklyn. Liston weighed 211 and Cab 211¼.

Co-Op Chief King of City's Potato Market

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

To you and me a potato may seem only a necessary composite of a tasty meal but to Allan Barker a potato has all the glamour (without the accompanying architecture) of Gina Lillabrogida.

Malone

Mr. Barker gets quite romantical about potatoes. He should. He sees enough of them. As manager of the Island Vegetable Co-Op Association, he saw 600 tons of spuds in October.

That total was a record for the Co-Op. It represents a 33 per cent increase over the amount of potatoes which went through the Co-Op portals five years ago. That's when the Barker-Co-Op love affair began.

The increase means Vancouver Island farmers are growing more potatoes. And more VI people are eating them. Mr. Barker eats plenty of them, too. It's probably only coincidental that he is built somewhat along the lines of husky No. 1 Gem, the Co-Op's best seller.

It must be coincidence because Mr. Barker says potatoes aren't fattening. "They're just tasty."

The relationship of Barker and the Island Co-Op has been fattening, however, to both parties. The Co-Op has grown. Mr. Barker hasn't lost any ounces and big potato growers are becoming bigger.

Last summer the Co-Op added a warehouse to its crowded operations at 748 Market. Three months later the building was teeming with sacks of spuds. Barker wondered what to do with truckloads of potatoes waiting to be unloaded, washed, inspected, packaged and sent to market.

He didn't wonder long. The law of supply and demand which covers most delectable items such as Brigitte Bardot as well as potatoes, will keep the market supplied and reduce the Co-Op's pack.

MIDDLE MAN

Mr. Barker is the middle man between the grower and the buyer. The buyers are doing fine. So are the growers. But they have their problems. Weather is one of them.

"Damp, cool weather is blight weather for potatoes," he said. "A hot, dry summer is insect bug weather. Growers never have it easy."

Today, No. 1 Gems, the king of spuds, bring about $60 per ton to the wholesaler. His mark-up ranges from four to 10 per cent depending on the quantity and delivery costs. The retailer markup varies from 10 to 20 per cent. When the cost of sacks, grading, and marketing are deducted the grower gets about $50 per ton. His costs of production range from $37 to $45 per ton, depending mostly on the size of his potato patch.

The Co-Op has 132 members — there is one "outlaw" grower—with farms of half an acre to 95 acres. Vancouver Island growers supply about six per cent of the B.C. market. Mainland producers account for between 50 and 60 per cent of the crop consumed in B.C. The remainder comes from the U.S.

Vancouver Island growers aren't suffering from (potato) growing pains, Mr. Barker says.

Five times in the last seven years, VI growers have led in the best ton yield per acre. John Pendray of Blenkinsop Road won the 1957 crown with a yield of 25½ tons per acre. Before that Lloyd Smith of Courtenay outgrew everyone three times and Aubrey Hall of Langford kicked up his heels once. Average yield is about 12 tons per acre.

You may be interested to know, as we were, that cabbage ranks second—though a distant second—to potatoes as the Co-Op's second crop. After that comes carrots, turnips, parsnips, beets and onions — "excluding the bunch variety" —says Mr. Barker.

How successful financially Vancouver Island growers have become can't be ascertained accurately. Mr. Barker says too many factors are involved . . . how much land the grower has . . . how hard the weather hit his crop . . . fluctuations in the wholesale price

No matter what, though, the grower has one compensation. If he can't sell them profitably, he can always eat them. And never have to worry about growing an outlandish crop where his stomach should be. They're not fattening, remember?

'CONFUSION' BLAMED ON BORDEN REPORT

CALGARY (CP) — A. G. Bailey, vice-president of Bailey Selburn Oil and Gas Limited, has criticized the Borden interim report on Canada's energy resources as an assortment of confusion, indecision and unanswered questions.

Mr. Bailey said Tuesday the Borden Commission had an opportunity to provide a factual unbiased report which would have provided a basis for long-term resources development but instead "we are faced with confusion and indecision which could react to the detriment of the development of our oil and gas resources."

"I think the Conservative government was seeking such information and experience through this royal commission and I suggest that instead of having our problems and their solutions presented in a statesman-like manner, they have simply confounded and confused the government," he said.

CLAIM AGAINST B.C. FIRMS

$5.5 Million Pipeline Suit

CALGARY (CP)—A Calgary pipeline construction company is bringing a $5,500,000 claim against the Inland Natural Gas Company of Vancouver and the Vancouver engineering firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis, Canada, Limited.

Dutton - Williams Brothers Limited filed the claim Tuesday following a dispute with Inland over construction of a 560-mile gas transmission line in the interior of British Columbia.

The claim deals with nine alleged breaches of a contract drawn up by the three companies. Included was an alleged failure by the engineering company to furnish rights-of-way into the construction area. Some $1,500,000 of the total amount is being sought by the Calgary firm from Ford, Bacon and Davis.

Dutton-Williams also claims the other companies have paid only $8,100,000 of the $11,800,000 cost of the project but has admitted at least $400,000 is still owing. No statement of defence has been filed.

The Inland line, completed last year, joins the main Westcoast Transmission Company line at Savona, B.C., and branches into 40 B.C. communities, ending at Trail.

Cornelia Colliery, South Africa's largest coal mine, set a monthly record of 350,693 tons in October, 1958.

STOCK EXCHANGE MERGER?

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange announced today that amalgamation of the Toronto, Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges is being studied by a joint committee of the exchanges.

BENNETT CHARGE DENIED

No Copies Went To Laing—Briggs

Premier Bennett's statement Monday that opposing party leaders were furnished with copies of the now famous Briggs charges before they were released to the press, was denied Tuesday by H. L. Briggs.

The premier, in a speech to Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce, said there was "something funny" in the fact Liberal Leader Arthur Laing had a copy ". . . before the ink was dry."

SPEAKS TONIGHT

Mr. Briggs, leaving Vancouver by train for Vernon where he will speak tonight, said if Mr. Laing had a copy he does not know where or when he got it.

"It is completely false to suggest that anyone had any releases ahead of the newspapers."

Mr. Briggs has steadfastly denied any political connections or aspirations. He said if an election is called he would stump the province, to tell his story, but strictly on his own.

"I'm paying my own way on this trip. I'm using my own money," he told reporters.

Dawson in the Yukon had a population of 10,000 during the Klondike gold rush starting in 1898.

WINGS WIN

Nick's Nifty Night

By The Canadian Press

Nicholas Mickoski is a long-time hockey player from Winnipeg whose personal data in the record book would indicate he's somewhere on the other side of the hill, downbound.

But you can't always go by what you read in books—as witness what happened Tuesday night at the Detroit Olympia.

Nick was a busy man for a couple of hours or so in a National Hockey League game between the third-place Red Wings, by whom Nick is employed, and the second-place Boston Bruins. By virtue of what Nick did with his two hours, the Bruins wound up the evening sharing second place with Detroit—only two points back of leading Montreal Canadiens.

Mickoski, whose 43-point season for the New York Rangers and the Chicago Black Hawks in 1954-55 was the best he has ever had, fired one goal and assisted on four others in Detroit's 6-0 shutout of the Bruins.

POINT OFF RECORD

His five points in a single regular schedule game compare with the six—three goals and three assists—picked up by Montreal's Henri Richard in a home-ice game against the Toronto Maple Leafs Oct. 17, 1957.

And Mickoski's performance was an exact match for the one goal and four assists registered by fellow Red Wing Johnny Wilson March 16 this year in a game at Boston which Detroit won 6-3.

Wilson is still around. He scored three goals Tuesday night while Mickoski was busy setting them up.

Tonight, Toronto Maple Leafs are at New York against the Rangers, and the Bruins are at Chicago to take on Black Hawks.

Canada Cup Golf Matches Start Thursday

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The glittering fairways and greens of deceptively Beautiful Club de Golf Mexico were given a final trim today for the International Golf and Canada Cup matches.

A record field of 64 stars from 32 countries will tee off Thursday in the first of four 18-hole daily rounds on the tough 7,216-yard par-72 course on the outskirts of the Mexican capital.

The two-man team with the lowest combined score will win the Canada Cup, individual low score will win the international championship.

Experts rate the U.S. team No. 1, followed by Japan, South Africa, England, Ireland, Australia, Sweden, Wales and Argentina.

Canada will be represented by Al Balding of Toronto and Henry Martell of Edmonton. They meet Gary Player and Harold Henning of South Africa in the first round.

Golf Pro Passes

NEWPORT, Scotland (AP) —Richard Clarkson, believed to have designed the first steel-shafted golf clubs in the United States in 1917, died Tuesday. He was 77.

He was born in Carnoustie, Scotland, the home of many professionals who later went to the United States. He returned to Scotland in 1949.

Norm Baker to Direct Irish Building Project

Norm Baker will call the shots for Victoria Shamrocks during the 1959 Intercity Lacrosse League season.

One of Victoria's most famous athletes, Baker was named to succeed Whitey Severson at a special meeting Tuesday night. Although several other names were discussed by club directors, the choice of Baker as coach was unanimous, president Jack Bacon said.

The 35-year-old Baker, who retired from active participation in sports last spring, has no definite plans for rebuilding the Shamrocks, who finished out of league playoffs for the first time this year.

"I won't make any decisions on players until I have had a meeting with the directors," he said.

BRILLIANT RECORD

Although better known for his feats on a basketball court, Baker also had a brilliant lacrosse record. He starred with the New Westminster Adanacs for three seasons before transferring to Victoria in 1950. He was with the Rocks until the end of the 1954 season.

Member of Victoria Domino teams that won three Canadian basketball championships, Baker turned professional in 1946 with the Vancouver Hornets. He went on to play with Chicago Stags and Boston Celtics and received his highest honor when he was named Canada's greatest basketball player of the half century.

He served as playing coach in Victoria's senior "B" hoop loop for several seasons before calling it quits last spring.

HONESTY A COSTLY VIRTUE

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP) — Denny Wilson, 18, noticed some bills on the ground Sunday as he moved in a line of fans through the turnstiles for the University of Rhode Island-Connecticut football game.

He picked up the money, looked around and offered it to a well-dressed woman he thought had dropped it.

"Thank you," she said, pocketing the $15.

When he got home, young Wilson discovered he had given away his own money. The bills had fallen from his wallet when he took out his ticket for the game.

Wolves Beaten

GELSENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's champion Schalke soccer team last night defeated Wolverhampton Wanderers, 2-1, eliminating England's hopes for the European Cup soccer competition.

Gatherum Shines Against Russians

MOSCOW (CP)—Kelowna Packers tied 1-1 in a gruelling battle with a Soviet team Tuesday night in the second game of their current five-game Russian hockey tour.

It was a brilliant battle of goalies and Canada's Dave Gatherum outshone Evgeni Erkin of Russia.

It was clearly the nimble footwork of the 25-year-old Gatherum that kept the Moscow Wings of the Soviet Union, as this particular team is known, from piling up a winning margin.

CANADIANS LEAD

The Russians trailed 1-0 with less than nine minutes left despite the fact they had outplayed the Canadians most of the way, and it seemed Kelowna would make up for a 4-3 loss to another Russian team Sunday night.

It was a madhouse as the crowd of 12,000 in the Lenin Sports Palace cheered, jeered, and shouted for the Russians to do it again.

Tom Stecyk, who got a goal Sunday, had put Canada ahead at 3.18 of the second period. The smaller, but faster-skating Russians came back with the equalizer by Vladimir Grebennikov at 11.06 of the third.

Gatherum was the star of the game and the favorite with the crowd as he came up with one spectaculas save after another, recalling his amazing performance in the Allan Cup finals last season when he registered a record-three shutouts against Belleville.

But in the early stages of play it seemed that he wouldn't make it. Just after five minutes of the initial period, he was struck in the head by a flying puck and almost knocked unconscious. The crowd cheered as he picked himself up to turn in a glittering performance.

Transistor Didn't Aid Chicago Transmitter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago White Sox disclosed today the failure of a well-conceived plan to wire the pitchers' mound for sound during the 1958 season.

Wires were laid from the Sox dugout to the mound, and a transistor with two miniature receivers was installed in the cap of one of the veterans on the pitching staff.

The system worked well during pre-game drills, with manager Al Lopez voicing instructions through a microphone in the dugout. But after three or four attempts during games, it became apparent that crowd noise drowned out Lopez' voice.

The system was abandoned after the pitcher was shellacked in a June game. The Sox said the bombardment was charged to "operation no control" and not "operation remote control."

Hot Maloney Rhubarb Returned to Campbell

WHL Directors Send Case Back to NHL President

Directors of the Western Hockey League came up with a couple of definite decisions during a special meeting at Vancouver Tuesday, but they dropped the red-hot case of Phil Maloney right back into the lap of National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell.

Following the meeting, directors said:

"In view of evidence submitted to the WHL concerning Phil Maloney, it is the considered opinion of the directors . . . that there has been extensive irregularities in the assignment of Maloney's contract to Chicago, outside the recognized affiliation agreement governing all professional hockey."

Maloney, in his fourth season with Canucks, is the property of Canucks, Vancouver president Coley Hall said.

New York Rangers of the NHL, who held the NHL playing rights on Maloney, said Hall agreed to allow Rangers to sell these rights to Chicago.

WANTED BY CHICAGO

Chicago now wants to draft the Vancouver captain for the $10,000 draft price.

Hall said he signed no agreement with Rangers and refuses to let Chicago pick up Maloney. The Canuck star has also indicated he does not wish to leave Vancouver to join any NHL club.

The directors said a settlement could be reached through Campbell by the clubs involved. Campbell asked the WHL for a ruling on the question.

Maloney, who has toiled for both Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins of the NHL, was drafted last summer by Rangers.

Since then a draft agreement between the NHL and the WHL has expired and a new one has not been signed.

SEEKS EQUAL CLAIM

Under the old agreement the American Hockey League could draft players from the WHL. The Western League does not want a similar clause in any new agreement. It also wants to have equal claim to players farmed out by NHL clubs. The American League now insists on first minor league rights.

Maloney at present is out of action with a shoulder injury.

Directors announced that the annual WHL all-star game will be played at Vancouver March 3 and approved a new playoff plan that will send three Prairie Division teams and four Coast Division clubs into the playoffs.

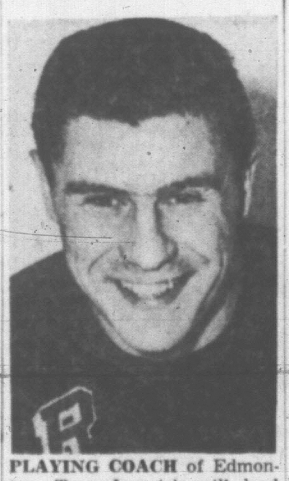

FINAL ON PRAIRIES

The first-place team in regular season play in the Prairie Division will get a bye into the prairie zone finals, while the second and third-place teams meet in a best-of-five series.

The winner of the semifinal series then meets the first-place team in a best-of-seven final.

The first and third and the second and fourth-place finishers in the Coast Division will meet in a best-of-five semifinals. The two winners meet in a best-of-seven final.

The inter-division final will be a best-of-seven affair starting in the prairie champions' home rink.

PLAYING COACH of Edmonton, Tony Leswick will lead Flyers against Victoria Cougars in Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena tonight. Cougars will be attempting to snap four-game losing skein. Game time is 8.30.

Starting Slot Set for Stan, Says Hemus

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial's play in Japan has convinced St. Louis manager Solly Hemus that the seven-time batting champion will be his starting left fielder next year.

"He's not in the grave yet," Hemus said of Musial, who will be 38 next week. Stan is normally a first baseman, although he's played the outfield before.

Solly and the St. Louis Cardinals returned Tuesday from a triumphant tour of Japan, where the Cards lost only twice in 16 games.

Hemus was so strong on Musial playing in the outfield that he assigned Stan there—his 17th season.

"Musial doesn't have the strongest arm in the league," Hemus told a press luncheon, "but he gets the ball away quickly. No one in the league is going to run on him."

The Japan tour was the first chance for newly-signed Hemus to look over the club after taking over from fired Fred Hutchinson.

Non-Title Bout In Britain For Patterson?

LEICESTER, Eng. (Reuters) —World heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson was offered $98,000 on Monday for a non-title fight here next May.

British promoters Joe Jacobs and Alex Griffiths cabled the champion's manager, Cus d'Amato, guaranteeing the purse for a 10-round contest.

Patterson's likely opponent would be Joe Bygraves of Jamaica, former British Empire champion. Bygraves meets another American, Zora Folley, here Monday. A good performance then would earn him the bout should Patterson accept the offer, said the promoters.

HIS MAN, TOO

Like everyone else, Shoichi Kaneda (right) admires Stan "The Man" Musial, St. Louis Cardinals' seven-time National League batting champion. Musial was standout on Cardinals' recent tour of Japan. Southpaw Kaneda was best pitcher in Japan's Central League last season.

GAME GOES ON

'Sleet or Snow Won't Stop Show'

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Western football championship could be decided here tonight in the second game of the Western Football Conference final between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos.

The defending champion Bombers take the field with one victory already achieved in the best-of-three final. The Eskimos must bounce back from a 30-7 defeat last Saturday to stay alive.

Speculation that the game might be postponed was stirred Tuesday when a fierce blizzard dumped more than 14 inches of snow on Winnipeg. However, football commissioner Sydney Halter said the game must go on.

STICK TO SCHEDULE

"The game has to be played and that's all there is to it," said the commissioner. "I can't help it if the weather has an ill effect on the expected attendance. We have a schedule to keep and we must stick by it."

The field was covered by a tarpaulin which was estimated to be carrying 400 tons of snow.

Nevertheless, the turf was reported in good condition.

Practice fields had no such protection, however, and neither the Bombers nor the Eskimos, who arrived here by plane late Tuesday, were able to hold last-minute workouts.

Empire Stadium in Vancouver had been offered as a site for the game.

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the British Columbia Lions, said he had made the offer in telegrams sent to Halter, Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Halter, however, said the game will be played in Winnipeg.

ACES STOP ARMY

Sailors Breeze To Second Win

Navy has confirmed its claim as the club to beat in the Commercial Hockey League race, but Army may still make things hot for other clubs in the four-team loop.

Beaten, 5-0, by Navy in their first start and all but counted out of the running by railbirds, the Princess Pats looked like a different club at Memorial Arena Tuesday night and battled down to the wire before finally losing a 6-4 decision to Aces.

In the opening game of Tuesday's doubleheader, the Sailors packed a little too much power for Vics and skated away with a 4-1 victory.

ACES RALLIED

Aces had to come from behind with three goals in the final 11 minutes to squeeze by the battling Soldiers. Orv Coulter knotted the count at 4-4 and Pete Bouchier gave Aces the lead for the third time at 16.59.

Army gambled by lifting its goalie in the final minute and the move backfired as Bouchier fired the puck into an empty net to clinch the verdict seconds after an Army goal was disallowed because the puck was knocked into Aces' net with a hand.

Coulter also had two goals for Aces and Bob Jones and Ab Wiebe added singles. Ashworth and Pearson each scored twice for Army.

Navy scored twice in the opening period and had built up a 4-0 lead before Art Green saved Vics from a shutout at 10.28 of the third period.

Scoring for the Tars were John Reddin, Ray Sanger, Neild Standley and Paul Laoint.

Next games will be on Dec. 2, with Navy playing Aces and Army tackling Vics.

'BUSH LEAGUE' FAN INCIDENTS . . . . . MAR GREY CUP PLAYOFFS

Next Time the Score Might Be Close

By CANADIAN PRESS

Some time, it is fervently hoped, the persons responsible for the successful organization of the Grey Cup final will take the necessary steps to curb over-exuberent fans. If they don't, they're flirting with real trouble.

Promoters of this annual sports extravaganza have been lucky so far. Only circumstances surrounding two Cup fan incidents in the last three years have got them off the hook. In both cases the fuss arose when the game result was almost a foregone conclusion.

In 1955, at Vancouver's Empire Stadium, fans pounced on the ball in the end zone after an attempted fourth-quarter Edmonton Eskimo field goal was wide of the posts. The promoters were fortunate it didn't happen earlier.

As it was, Edmonton and Montreal Alouette players watched the mad scramble and game officials eventually awarded Eskimos a point that made the score Montreal 19 Edmonton 31. It didn't have a bearing on the final score as the Eskimos won 34-19.

Last year at Toronto, and again in the fourth quarter, a fan standing on the sidelines tripped touchdown-bound Ray (Bibbles) Bawel of Hamilton Tiger-Cats. The Big Four champions were ahead 25-0 at that point and it was a losing cause for the Bombers who eventually bowed 32-7 to coach Jim Trimble's club.

In each case the interfering fans got away with it.

The 1957 incident was the most glaring. Canadian Rugby Union officials announced days before the game that anyone interfering with play in any manner would be arrested. The CRU had off-duty police around the sidelines, yet the tripper calmly continued to watch the game for a few minutes before leaving the stadium unmolested.

The incident occurred almost directly in front of the Winnipeg bench. Bawel rushed back to the spot, grabbed the offending fan as players of both teams and a policeman milled around nearby.

No one in authority has explained yet why the fan was allowed to watch the game from the sidelines.

The Canadian Football League, an amalgamation of the Eastern Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union, is responsible for all arrangements of this year's Nov. 29 final at Empire Stadium. The CRU has been in charge since the Grey Cup first was played in 1909.

The Cup final has developed into a $500,000 operation the past few years. In 1955 and, particularly last year, fan incidents made it almost bush league.

Cold Water Treatment For Coast's Ice Hopes

NEW YORK (AP)—Expansion of the National Hockey League to the west coast is still "a long way off," Clarence Campbell, president of the six-team major circuit, said Tuesday.

Commenting on a report that a Los Angeles group is seeking to obtain a franchise in ice hockey's big league, Campbell said the transportation problem would be too difficult to overcome at present.

"Air travel in the winter is something you can't figure. Bad weather could ground a club and throw our schedule out of order.

MUST BE AT HOME

"We must have both the Montreal and Toronto teams at home almost every Saturday night. The Canadiens have sold out every game for the last 14 years and Toronto every one of the last 12. They can easily get to Chicago or Detroit for a Sunday game, but the west coast is another thing."

The Los Angeles group is headed by Chuck Johnson, 40, an investor. Johnson was in Boston last week for talks with Walter Brown, president of Boston Bruins and a member of the league's board of governors.

"Johnson hasn't contacted me yet," said Campbell. "I know that Los Angeles is building a 16,000-seat stadium (to be ready in June). But we would require at least two or three teams out that way to make it feasible.

MORE PRACTICAL IDEA

"Much more practical would be a two-division setup, one in the east and one in the west. The western division would include Los Angeles and perhaps San Francisco and Denver. But that's likely to take a couple of years. At the moment we are more interested in getting the Chicago franchise on its feet. The Hawks seem to be getting some place after several years in last place."

Campbell also ruled out Cleveland and Buffalo as future National League cities. These American Hockey League franchises have been most prominently mentioned in NHL expansion talk.

Campbell is here to attend a special meeting of the American Hockey League's board of governors. The discussion involved possible termination of the annual drafting of American League players by the National League and Western Hockey League players by the American League. No positive action was taken, however.

ANOTHER SLANT

By JIMMY BRESLIN

PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—"There are only 10 or 12 big bettors in the country," Bert Bell, the National Football League commissioner, began in his warm, rasping voice. "They don't make a bet until anywhere from two hours to 15 minutes before a game. Sometimes they make a phony bet early, to fool people. But the real one comes late.

"I know people bet National Football League games. I don't care what they do. Just as long as they stay away from the players. We tell the players not to have anything to do with strangers and make sure they don't.

"Nobody calls me the minute one of those big guys makes a bet. But I know if there's a price change. And if there is, I got a good idea where it's coming from.

★ ★ ★

"The betting line on National Football League games doesn't come out until Tuesday now. They want to wait and see if there are any injuries and things like that before setting a price.

★ ★ ★

"I live by the phone. I made a rule about phone calls years ago and my wife didn't like it for a while. That was to take any call that came, no matter what time of the day. When you're in this business you got to remember the other fellow is making a living.

"So a lot of times a guy on the coast will be thinking about something and he'll pick up the phone to call me. It'll be 11 o'clock at night his time. But 2 in the morning for me. What do I do? I wake up and talk to the guy. All night, if it's business. Then I'll hang up and the first call usually will come about 7.30 in the morning.

"You don't figure to live long doing that. I'm 63 and after a couple of weekends during the season I feel like I'm 93. Something happens during a game, they start hollering for me.

Officials Too Busy to Watch Coach

"There's so much pressure on coaches, officials and players that, what the hell, they're not human if they don't blow up. You take George Halas getting into that fracas with the officials in Chicago. They say he was on the sidelines inside the 20. The rules say he can't go that far down field. What do you want my officials to do? Spend the day checking where the coach is?

"What do you want Halas to do? He was in the middle of a tough game. So he came down. If he gets caught, then he gets a 15-yard penalty. I'm thinking about letting the coaches walk from goal line to goal line.

★ ★ ★

"We're all lucky to be in this business. Everybody is lucky, from the owners to the players. Pro football is a wonderful thing. Look at your crowds. We're lucky and have to use common sense.

"Take the officials. They have to make more than 50 judgment calls during a game. If they don't make mistakes somewhere along the line, then we don't have any human beings on our staff. Of course they blow some. So do I.

"People tell me, 'Look at the movies and you'll see it was a wrong call'. I look at the movies. But I don't care about the call. I just want to see if the official was in proper position to make it. If he was, then whatever he called goes. They run pictures of disputed plays. Everybody knows the camera angle can make it appear entirely different. I don't bother with them.

"I know my officials. I know they're human."

PRAIRIE STORM FORCES HOCKEY POSTPONEMENT

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Western Hockey League game scheduled to be played here Tuesday night by Winnipeg Warriors and Calgary Stampeders was postponed because of the fierce blizzard that struck Winnipeg early Tuesday.

Al Leader, president of the WHL, said it was the first postponement he could recall since a game was set back at New Westminster about three years ago.

The two clubs involved will work out a new date for the game.

Pop Can't Do Job If Boys Don't Help

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Frank "Pop" Ivy of Chicago Cardinals has run out of patience—he's reading the riot act to his players in no uncertain terms.

The usually easygoing coach is genuinely angry over the performance of the Cardinals, who have lost three games and tied one in their last four starts and now have a 2-5-1 record in the National Football League.

"It's a shame for kids to perform like we have lately," said Ivy, who is just now beginning to know how it feels to be a losing coach.

Ivy, an end with the Cardinals in their post-war heyday, was assistant coach at Oklahoma when the Sooners were unbeaten in 31 straight games. At Edmonton, his Eskimos won three Grey Cups.

"Losing is something new to me and it's awfully hard to take," Ivy said. "I never had these kind of problems in Canada.

"I came here to do a job and I intend to get it done!"

TB Fires Curve At Schoendienst

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst, Milwaukee Braves' veteran second baseman, has been knocked out of major league baseball by tuberculosis.

Doctors said Tuesday night the star second baseman probably will not be able to play next year. They are optimistic about a full recovery.

Schoendienst's wife, Mary, said he is "in very good spirits and determined to play again."

REST REQUIRED

Dr. Ray Martin said: "He's a sick man and needs bed rest." He made no prediction on how long it would take Schoendienst to recuperate other than saying he probably would not play next year.

The 35-year-old Schoendienst, in the majors for 13 years, led the Braves to their 1957 world championship. He was bothered virtually all this last season with a chest cold which developed into pleurisy. He also injured a rib and broke a finger. As a result he batted only .262.

In spite of the rundown condition, Red cast off fat and played a splendid 1958 world series, batting .300 and fielding well.

CRITICS LEVEL OFF

Peace Vacates Olympic Village

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another squabble involving the 1960 Winter Olympic Games broke out Tuesday. The director of the Olympic village quit and a member of the village advisory committee followed him out.

Ted Michel, 32, resigned as director of the village being built at Squaw Valley, Calif., for the Games. He blasted officials for improper planning.

He drew an equally sharp retort from planners who declared Michel had been in the United States only eight months and was "not suited to be the No. 1 official in the Olympic village setup." Michel is a native of Poland.

Then in Portland, Ore., Richard Kohnstamm said there was incompetency in planning for the Olympics and resigned as a member of the advisory committee, a group of six.

He said he was appalled at the "complete lack of planning in accommodations."

The Winter Olympics are scheduled to open on Feb. 18, 1960.

Robert L. King, executive director for the Games, said the accommodations will be the best for any winter Olympics.

He is the third Olympic planning employee to leave. The others were Alan Bartholemy, technicolor director, and Roger Thompson, assistant public relations director.

Lofthouse Fit; Leads British

LONDON (AP)—Centre forward Nat Lofthouse, fit again after an ankle injury, Monday was named leader of England's soccer attack for the game against Wales on Nov. 26.

Injuries to left winger Tom Finney and inside left Johnny Haynes forced England's selectors to make changes.

Ron Flowers, who played for England against France in the 1954-55 season, took over from Bill Slater in the halfback line.

Eastern Bodies Sound For Dominion Playoff

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP)—St. Francis Xavier University held a final workout today in preparation for the Canadian intermediate football final against Fort William Redskins at the Lakehead city Sunday.

Despite a bruising exchange with Montreal Lakeshore Alouettes in the Eastern final last Saturday, coach Don Loney said he'll have a sound squad for the championships.

Fullback Ernie Foshay was the only casualty in the Alouette game but is expected to see service against the Redskins.

ONE REGULAR OUT

Star linebacker Danny Nee will be the only regular missing from the lineup. A dislocated shoulder in the Nov. 11 Maritime final against Saint John Wanderers put him out of action for the remainder of the season.

Loney and the collegians still have palpitating memories of the 27-26 triumph over the Alouettes last Saturday and expect no easy passage in Fort William.

"I undestand the Fort William roster is practically the same as last year when Shearwater Flyers beat them," Loney said Tuesday.

"If that's the case, I don't expect them to be as tough physically as the Alouettes, but they'll be a better match for us in speed and spirit."

Loney, who starred as a centre with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, credits fleet-footedness, school spirit and a much improved defence for the Xaverians' six straight league games without a loss. They followed up with a 71-0 shellacking of the Wanderers for the Maritime title.

Outside of a 21-20 squeaker over last year's Canadian champion Shearwater Flyers during the Nova Scotia League schedule, the Montreal game was their toughest proposition.

BLUE DOTTED PIG FAIR FEATURE

Disappearing Spots Yet!

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of visitors to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair are staring at a blue-botted pig that can be eaten and whose breeders think will be around for a long time.

The pig, from the Tweddle Farms at Fergus, Ont., is one of the biggest sideline attractions at the eight-day agricultural and livestock fair, scheduled to end Saturday.

Jack Tweddle, an importer and breeder, said Tuesday large crowds are showing steady interest in his odd animal, a cross between a Landrace boar and Large Black English sow.

DISAPPEARING DOTS

The pig's blue dots—concentrated mainly around the rump and neck—disappear before its carcass is cut up and shipped off to the housewives.

The spots on the white-haired animal are caused by skin pigmentation and after slaughter the skin is as white as any pure white pig, Mr. Tweddle explained.

He said colored breeds of pigs are more suitable to outdoor keeping because they can resist sun scald, cold and skin diseases. The blue-dotted variety, first developed in England, also provides good milking mothers, large litters, hybrid vigor and good livability.

The sow on display, born in February, 1957, has already given birth to 32 pigs in less than a year.

About one-fifth of all the world's forests are on the continent of Africa.

HOW TO CATCH OCTOPUS—JUST LET IT GRAB YOU

VANCOUVER (CP)—The secret of successful octopus-hunting is to allow the prey to catch the hunter, says Len Erlandsen, skin-diver, who has had considerable experience in the sport.

"The idea is to float over the octopus until it comes up and grabs you," he said. "After that it is just a matter of surfacing and getting untangled."

Erlandsen and three other divers recently caught two 50-pounders in about 65 feet of water. One was given to Vancouver Aquarium and the other was cooked for dinner.

"After three hours in the pot it is just like cod," said Erlandsen.

TRAINED PERSONNEL MAJOR PROBLEM

Mental Health Fight Needs More Community Interest

About $38 per patient is spent each year on cancer research but only 64 cents per patient on research into mental illness, a public meeting at the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club was told Tuesday.

George Kenwood, executive secretary of the B.C. division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, added that besides money for research other sums were "urgently needed" across Canada for more mental hospital staff and for beds.

"We need money in every direction—at least six cents from each person if we are going to do the right job next year."

Mr. Kenwood said one in every 22 persons in B.C. was admitted to a mental hospital last year, while a third of those discharged will need to be re-admitted.

He said there was "a great need for more community interest in mental health problems" and for more volunteers at regional health clinics. But most of all the CMHA was looking for trained staff.

A young giant is 100 years old today

November 19, 1858. Excitement ran high at Fort Langley. The settlers crowded into the "Big House." They were there, along with Governor Douglas, to witness a momentous event: the birth of British Columbia.

It was a day to remember. It was the beginning of a Century to remember.

Out of the forests a great new industry was born.

Out of the earth came minerals, gas and oil, and a growing agricultural industry.

Out of the waters came fish and a new wealth.

Out of the rivers came power.

The whole world has taken notice of our gains.

In one hundred years, British Columbia's living standard climbed to the highest in Canada. Its income, educational, and social and health services lead the nation.

Blessed with a storehouse of natural wealth, British Columbia has just begun to grow. The past hundred years are an inspiration for the years ahead.

CENTENNIAL HIGHLIGHT

One of more imaginative features of B.C. Centennial year was re-enactment of Fraser's brigade's hazardous trip down river named after famed explorer. Fast water, foul weather made trip a memorable one for voyageurs, who dressed in period clothing, retraced almost exact route.

RICH VALLEY PASSED UP FOR CENTURY

It took 100 years before anyone appreciated the wealth of the lower Fraser Valley.

The Spaniard Narvaez sighted it in 1792, and passed it by. Fog hid it from Capt. George Vancouver. Alexander Mackenzie believed the lower Fraser impassable and went the other way.

Simon Fraser took 69 days to fight his way to the delta and returned disappointed. He had thought he was on the Columbia. Fertile fields were not as important to him as furs.

The delta lands and banks of the lower Fraser seemed insignificant to the gold-hungry hordes who fought their way upstream in 1858, but few found riches in the riverbeds.

OPENED UP WHOLE AREA

Cariboo Trail Started It All

This history of the communities of the upper Fraser is inseparable from the history of the Cariboo Trail.

Early gold seekers soon learned to fear the Fraser torrents and devised an overland route from Harrison Lake to Lillooet, east across the Fraser to Clinton, then northwest to Williams Lake, north to Quesnel and east to Barkerville.

In 1864, a new road from Yale to Clinton made the Cariboo Trail a through highway, cutting off the old road to Lillooet.

TOWN WITHERED

Lillooet had been the original start of the Cariboo road, from where the mile posts to Barkerville were numbered. Bypassed by the new route, the town withered. Except for two short mining booms in 1884 and 1896, Lillooet remained a ghost town until more lasting prosperity came with the PGE Railway in 1913.

Many settlements shared the experience of Quesnel Forks, which in 1860 was a group of placer miner shacks, boomed in the next few years, was worked out in 1897 and by 1950 was a ghost town.

From Quesnel, since the early fur trading days an important transportation junction, the Cariboo road turned eastward to Barkerville, where the miners hit the richest strikes of all.

Formosans Forbidden To Speak Japanese

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Formosa provincial government warned the citizens of Nationalist China today that they are forbidden to speak Japanese to each other. The warning said violators should be "corrected" by anyone overhearing but did not say how far the admonition should go.

REAL WEALTH CAME AFTER GOLD RUSH

Richest strikes of all British Columbia's gold rush days were made at Barkerville.

Some of the creek beds at the top of the Cariboo Trail produced the kind of wealth that men had dreamed about, but few ever found.

The yield on Williams Creek was estimated at $1,075 for every lineal foot of its length. On Antler Creek, it was $2,000 per lineal foot.

The early miner didn't really reap the riches of the rivers—they still are being collected by cattlemen, loggers and farmers. Except in towns like Barkerville, where only a handful of people now live among many of the original goldrush cabins, the miners never fully explored the riverbeds.

Fires Set in Church

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Two fires set Tuesday in St. Raphael's Roman Catholic Church here caused damage estimated unofficially between $3,000 and $4,000.

MASSEY AT FORT LANGLEY CEREMONY TODAY

Driving Rain for B.C.'s Birth

Governor-General Vincent Massey will stand in the footsteps of history today to honor the birth of British Columbia 100 years before.

If it rains today at Fort Langley, the scene will be that much more realistic, for it rained during that first ceremony Nov. 19, 1858.

What some call the biggest story in the history of 100 years of British Columbia news reporting, carried exclusively, it is thought, in the Victoria Gazette, began this way:

"Yesterday, the birthday of British Columbia was ushered in by a steady rain, which continued perseveringly throughout the whole day, and in great measure marred the solemnity of the proclamation of the Colony."

Vancouver Island had been a crown colony since 1849, with an established colonial legislature since 1856. British Columbia, which until that day had been called New Caledonia, occupied the mainland.

It was not until 1866 final union was accomplished, and not until 1871 that the united colony became a province in the Canadian Confederation.

Significance of today's holiday is related only to the birth of the mainland colony, the name British Columbia having been chosen by Queen Victoria while the bill was passing through Parliament. She had objected to the name New Caledonia because the French had used it elsewhere.

New Hanover, New Cornwall and New Georgia also were considered, and so was Columbia. But this last was in use elsewhere, so Her Majesty decided British Columbia would be an improvement.

So that was the name in the documents officials sheltered from the rain as they climbed toward the fort from the muddy Fraser banks.

The Gazette reporter relates, "The flag of Britain was floating, or to speak in truth, dripping over the principal entrance.

"Owing to the unpropitious state of the weather, the meeting, which was intended to have been held in the open air, was convened in the large room of the principal building.

Judge Begbie administered the oath of office to Governor Douglas, who then became governor of both Vancouver Island and British Columbia at one and the same time.

Rites Today For Widow Of Captain

Funeral services were held at Hayward's Funeral Home today for Mrs. Isabelle Sainty, widow of Capt. Clifford Claude Sainty of the CPR, who died here Saturday.

Born in Australia and a resident of Victoria since 1906, she is survived by two brothers, Capt. C. R. Wilson of Saanichton and J. J. Wilson in Australia; one sister, Mrs. R. E. Newton, Australia, and one nephew, Ian Gordon Wilson, Saanichton.

Something new in Insurance

ONE PHYSICAL EXAMINATION NOW GUARANTEES YOU CAN ADD INSURANCE UP TO AGE 40

Here's the insurance plan you have been waiting for . . . the one plan that guarantees your future insurability during the crucial years up to age 40—at standard rates regardless of any change in your health or occupation. By buying a policy within your means now, you can set up automatic future option dates when, if you choose, you can increase your original coverage . . . even if uninsurable on those dates.

UP TO $60,000 ADDITIONAL COVERAGE

You can add this Guaranteed Insurability Rider to most new Canada Life policies. You will then have the opportunity to purchase additional coverage at your ages 25, 28, 31, 34, 37 and 40, regardless of your health or occupation then. For example, if a man under age 25 buys a $10,000 policy with the maximum rider, his total protection could be $70,000 at age 40! Also, your Guaranteed Insurability Rider provides you with up to $6,000 additional term insurance reducing over the years.

LOW COST IS SURPRISING

The cost of including this remarkable Guaranteed Insurability Rider is surprisingly low. If you are a professional man looking forward to a rising income . . . if you are a young man just starting out, you can add the Guaranteed Insurability Rider for as little as 5¢ per $1,000 per week. Or, if you are a father who wants to guarantee your child's ability to purchase life insurance when he needs it, then you can add the Guaranteed Insurability Rider to your child's policy for as little as 3¢ per $1,000 per week.

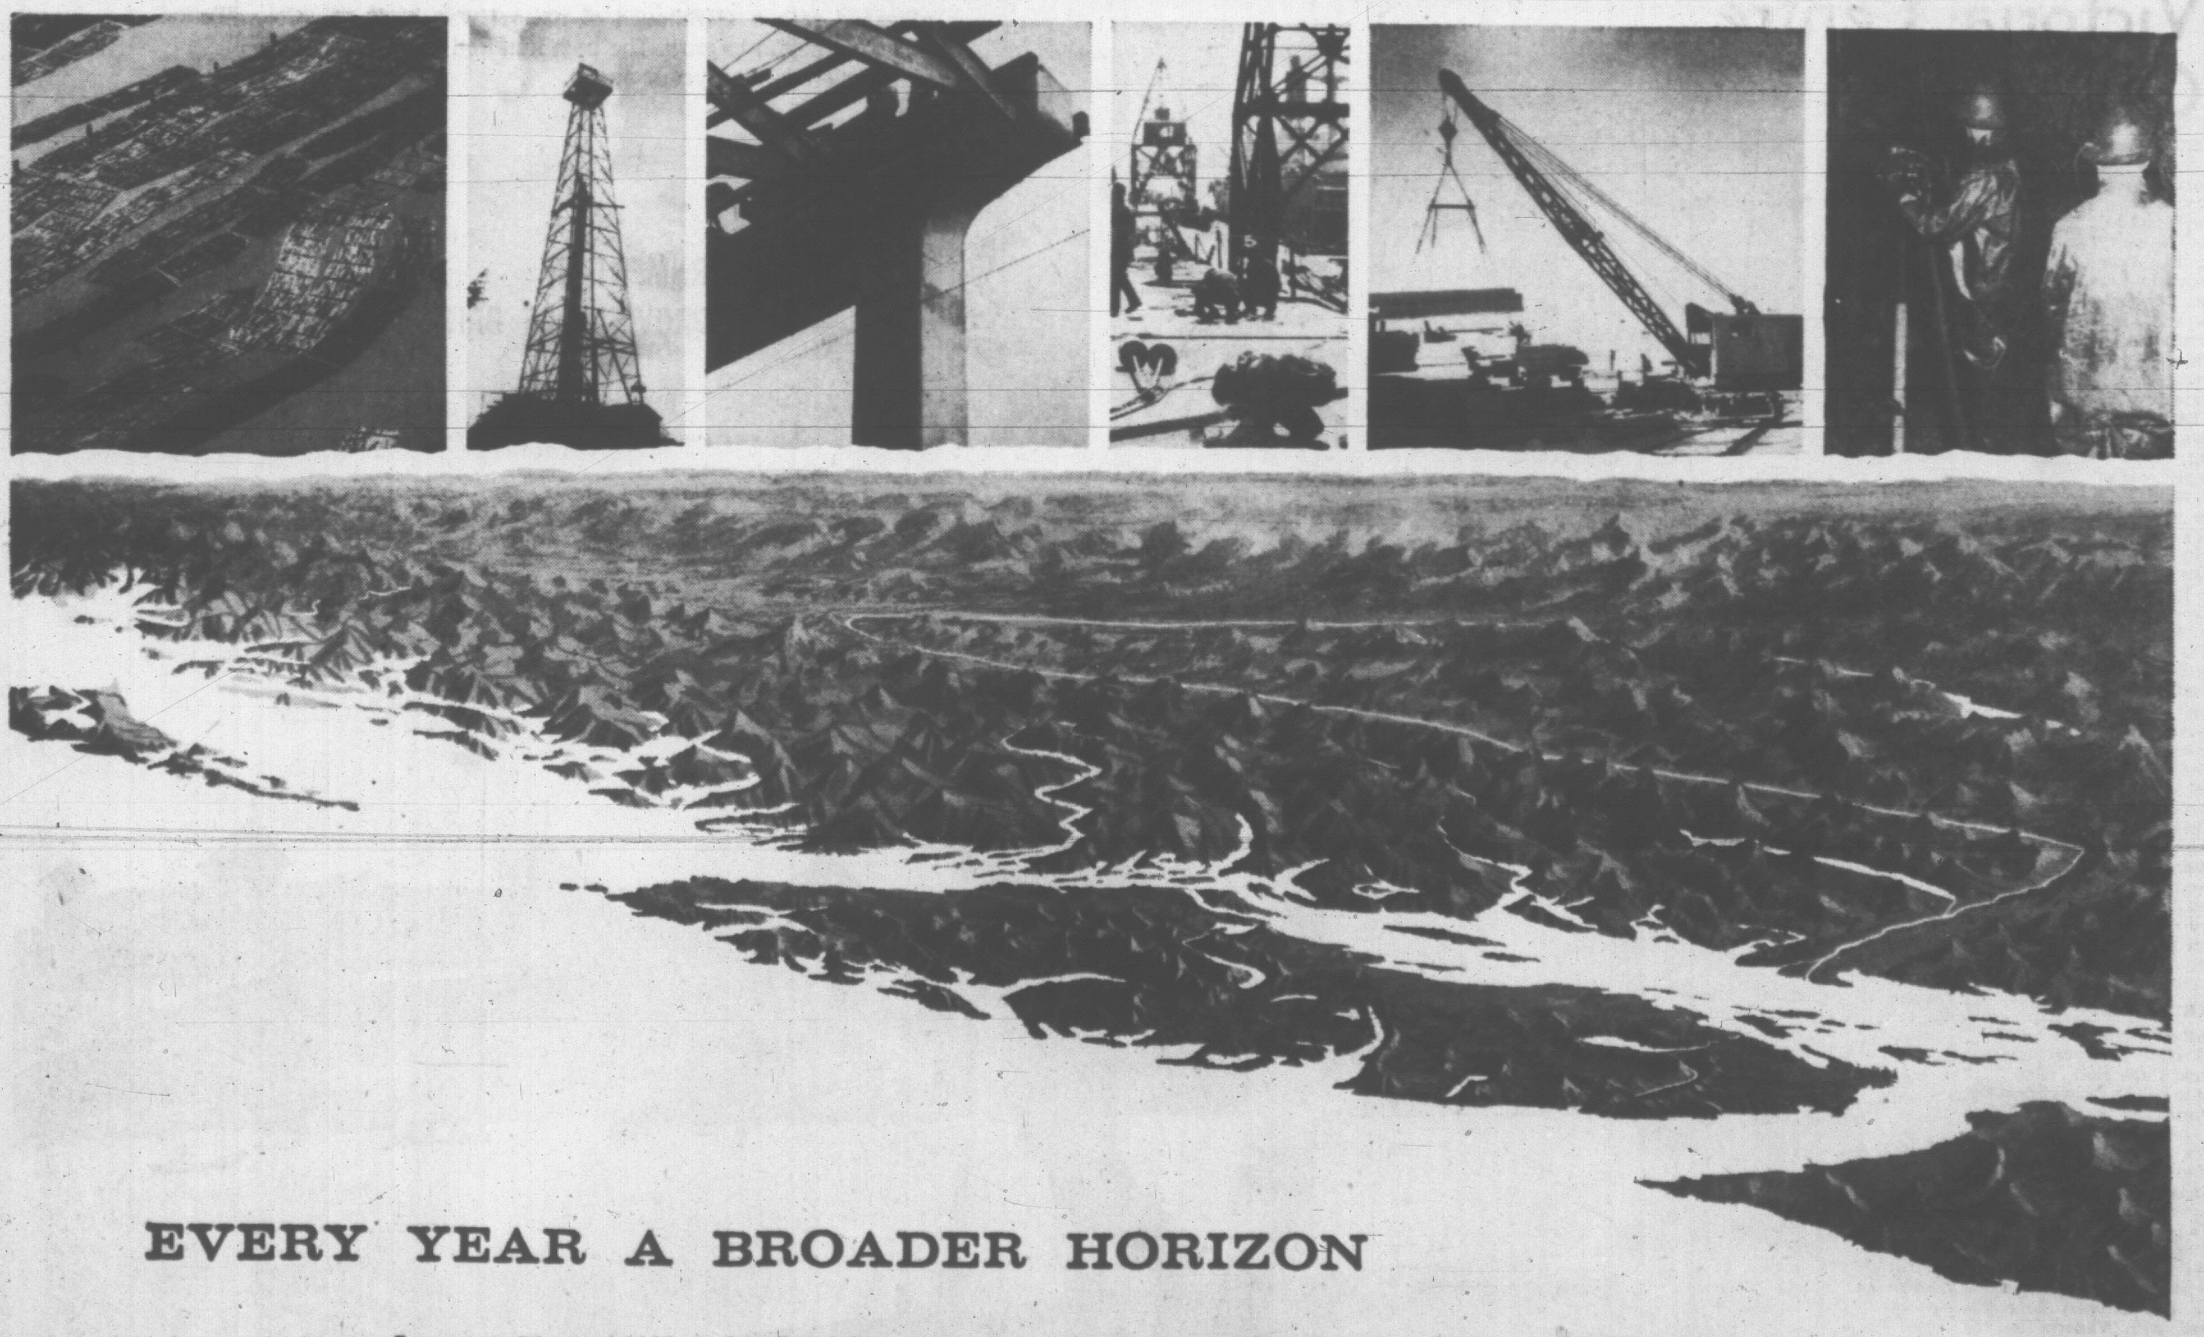

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN TO YOU!

Each year some 250,000 applications for life insurance are turned down because of physical impairment or hazardous occupation. Don't let this happen to you! Canada Life's new Guaranteed Insurability Rider is the answer to your question "When I need more insurance, and can afford it, will I be able to get it?" Why not see a Canada Life representative about this new development, and let him explain how this remarkable plan can help you face the future with confidence.

EVERY YEAR A BROADER HORIZON

From a raw wilderness of 100 years ago British Columbia has emerged as a thriving industrial province.

Each year sees additional dynamic development.

Industry has grown, attracted by the immensity of our natural resources. Business and trade have continually expanded as an ever-increasing population pushed back the frontiers to create new markets. A network of roads and communications has spread to every corner of the Province.

By these or any other yardstick — it has been a century to celebrate.

Massey, Governors Here Thursday at 3

His Excellency Right Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, faces a busy schedule during his centennial visit to Victoria, starting at 3 p.m. Thursday.

He will arrive at the Black Ball ferry dock in Inner Harbor aboard HMCS Crescent, senior ship of the RCN Pacific Command's Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

Travelling from Vancouver in Crescent with the governor-general will be Frank L. Bastedo, lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan, and John J. Bowlen, lieutenant-governor of Alberta.

Mr. Massey will be met by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor Percy Scurrah and the honorary aides-de-camp, Lt.-Col. W. J. Mosedale and Supt. C. B. Macdonell, RCMP.

INSPECTS GUARD

After inspecting the naval guard of honor, the governor-general will proceed to the Empress Hotel, which serves as the residence of Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will preside at a dinner that evening given by the Province of B.C.

TO ROYAL ROADS

Friday at 10 a.m. the vice-regal party will leave the Empress Hotel for the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads. Honorary aide-de-camp in attendance will be Commodore Harold Groos.

The Governor-General will address the cadets at a wings parade, and will tour the college and grounds.

At noon Mr. Massey will be guest at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel, given by the municipalities of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich.

Mayor Scurrah will preside.

ART GALLERY TOUR

The Governor-General will be conducted on an hour's tour of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery, at 2.30 p.m., by president Tony Emery and curator Colin Graham.

The party will leave the art gallery for the harbor at 3.40 p.m., and at 3.50, Mr. Massey will inspect a guard of honor provided by the PPCLI.

Return to Vancouver will be in HMCS Fraser, leaving at 4 p.m.

5,000 JOBS

360 Tugboats In Coastal B.C. Waters

CHEMAINUS—The towboat industry in B.C. has come a long way since the first tugs made their appearance in the late 1800s, Ian MacLeod, manager of Straits Towing, told the Rotary Club here.

First tugs made their appearance around 1875, he said, and were used mainly for bringing sailing ships in and out of harbor.

Today there are 360 tugs operating in coastal B.C. waters. The industry employs 5,000 persons and has an annual payroll of more than $20,000,000.

The tugs range from small 50-horse power craft, used mostly for boom and harbor work, up to 2,400-horse power ships. Very versatile, they do general harbor and boom work, fast-water towing, log hauling, and handle scows, barges and salvage work.

FREIGHT SHIPPING

While tugs did mostly log towing in the old days, today they do the greatest portion of freight shipping in B.C.

"There are over 500 scows in operation in B.C. today," he said. "The scows and barges are the trailers of our industry. They carry non-perishable goods, cement, ore, chips, and other cargoes."

Communications play an important part in towboating. The towboat industry was one of the first in North America to realize the importance of radio-telephone and has been using it since 1925. The industry also has played an important part in developing navigational aids.

Mr. MacLeod said that in years to come the towboat industry will become one of the biggest industries in the province and will play an important part in the development of B.C.

WIND PERMITTING

Big Fire Tonight Atop Tolmie

Only dangerously high winds could force cancellation of the centennial bonfire atop Mount Tolmie tonight.

The bonfire will be lit at 7 p.m. by Mayor Percy Scurrah and Saanich Reeve George Chatterton even if it rains and spectators have to sit in their cars, said Mrs. Avis Walton.

Mrs. Walton appealed to motorists attending the British Columbia Day event to park their cars on Richmond in order to prevent a major traffic snarl.

Deputy municipal affairs minister Everett Brown will plant a blue spruce tree at the top of the mountain, where a rockery is planned, at 8 p.m.

Jerry Gosley and several performers in his Smile Show will lead community singing around the bonfire. Youngsters helping collect material for the blaze will be treated to hot dogs and hot drinks in homes on the mountain.

The bonfire, expected to be visible for miles, will last two hours.

TURNIP 'RUSH' PAID OFF

One of the strangest stories of Quesnel is that of the "turnip rush."

To avoid scurvy from the rough trail diets, in 1860 miners flocked to the farm of Norwegian settler Charles Danielson, who grew a patch of turnips. They paid between 25 cents and $1 for each turnip, and the vegetable patch was more productive than many a rich river bed. Danielson cleared $3,000.

GLOOMY PREDICTIONS FALL SHORT

Book Reading Holding Its Own, Says Massey

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) Governor-General Massey cut a ribbon opening this city's spacious new public library today and said the occasion showed predictions that reading would become old-fashioned have not come true.

"There have been many people in the last decade who have gloomily predicted that the reading of books would become as old-fashioned as driving a horse and buggy," Mr. Massey told the official assembly at the opening ceremonies.

"Movies, radio and television, they said, were the new modern media for the dissemination of information and entertaining, and books would surely lose their place.

"The opening of this new library helps to show us that these predictions are far from coming true as yet. I hope they never will."

The Governor-General, in B.C. for a five-day centennial visit, is known as a champion of literature and the arts. He was chairman of the Royal Commission on National Development in the Arts, Letters and Sciences in 1949-51.

FURTHER PROOF

Mr. Massey told Mayor Fred Jackson and other civil officials there was further proof reading was not a lost art. He was struck by the fact that although New Westminster had only quadrupled its population in 50 years, city's library—first municipal public library established in B.C.—now has 23 times the number of readers it had in 1908.

The Governor-General paused to open the library while en route to ceremonies at historic old Fort Langley where B.C. was proclaimed a colony 100 years ago today.

FUTURE IN SPACE

In Vancouver Tuesday, Mr. Massey told B.C.'s school children they may find their future in space.

He spoke of the past, present and the future in a talk to thousands of school children who listened at radios in classes all over the province.

He said they would have heard much of the pioneers, discoverers and statesmen who had made British Columbia great.

"Today I ask you to look to the future—your future in this province as part of Canada, as part of the Commonwealth and as part of the world.

"Perhaps you may even have to go beyond that, and find your future in space."

The governor-general said much was heard these days about the need for more scientific teaching. But if every student became a scientist the future would be lopsided.

"Our civilization," he said, must be defended by the many devices which the scientists create. But we must be sure that what we defend must be abundantly worth defending."

Home Movie Club To Discus 'Tilting'

Alphabet soup, food coloring and newspaper clippings can be artfully combined to make clever — and cheap — home movie titles.

"Titling" is the subject of Victoria Amateur Movie Club's public meeting Thursday, at 8 p.m., in the public library, and anyone who owns a movie camera is invited to take part.

Club members will demonstrate the equipment, technique and materials needed for easy, low cost and effective titles to smarten the appearance of home movies.

To illustrate, the club will use a popular cartoon strip from The Times as the foundation for a title.

An untitled movie will be shown at the start of the meeting and during the demonstration the film will be provided with appropriate titling.

The same movie — with titling — will be shown at the end of the meeting.

ROUGH TOWN AT OUTSET

Victoria: Centre Of Loose Living

Cultured and well-mannered, the Vancouver Island which visitors see today is still young and vigorous, but possessing a quiet, matured personality.

But is wasn't always that way. The Island's boisterous early years were scarred with Indian troubles, rough living, trade and social rivalries and international disputes.

While Victoria, her first settlement, enjoyed fame as the greatest trading centre of the Pacific Northwest, it was known also as a centre of loose living.

In her year of incorporation, 1862, dance halls abounded and there were 60 saloons on Victoria's streets. Famed English dignity and propriety were unknown that year—the year the first bride ship landed and lonely men chose mates as the girls walked down the gangplank.

That was how settlement started, and from there it moved slowly up-Island.

Sooke, Metchosin and the Saanich peninsula became settled areas. They even had their own little gold rush, which drew 5,000 to Leechtown in 1864 before it petered out. Then, the earth turned to production of turnips.

Esquimalt's future was assured in 1865 when the Royal Navy set up a base there. Officers brought out their wives from England and the navy town was born.

LINE FAILED

Sidney came into being in 1894 after steel was brought around Cape Horn from England to build a railway between Victoria and Bazan Bay. But the railroad failed after 25 years, and industry moved to Victoria.

Nanaimo's coalfields were discovered in 1849 and the Hudson's Bay Company shipped 480 barrels in 1852.

The town grew swiftly. It was incorporated as a city in 1874, and 12 years later was linked with Victoria by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway, taken over by the CPR in 1904 and extended to Port Alberni and the Comox Valley.

Duncan and the Cowichan area settlement began in 1857. Some 70 pioneers shipped into Cowichan Bay in 1862, and homesteaded in Quamichan, Somenos and Shawnigan.

First white settlement in the Albernis occurred about 1861, and by the turn of the century, agriculture was overtaken by lumbering. Ladysmith grew from coal discovered 11 miles away in 1898. The coal boom lasted 17 years, aided by discovery of gold and copper on Mount Sicker. Growth was slow until Ladysmith became a logging centre in 1936.

The Indian word Komox means land of plenty, and developers of Comox, Courtenay and Cumberland found 'plenty' the Indians hadn't dreamed of. Coal seams, forests and the soil all yielded wealth.

With the arrival of the CPR's trans-Canada lines at Port Moody in 1887, major development in B.C. shifted to the lower mainland. The island became known round the world as a wonderful place to live.

Surprise! Reds Win 'Election'

BUDAPEST (AP) — Communist-backed candidates in Hungary's election — the only set on the ballot—won by a majority of 99.6 per cent, it was announced Tuesday.

It was the first vote since the 1956 anti-Soviet revolt.

Of the 6,600,686 eligible, the official news agency, MTI, said 6,493,680 voted.

There were only 28,651 votes officially recorded against the 338 official candidates for parliament, and 32,100 voters spoiled their ballots.

The only choice they had was to approve the single ticket—70 per cent of them Communists — or mark their dissent in a tiny circle.

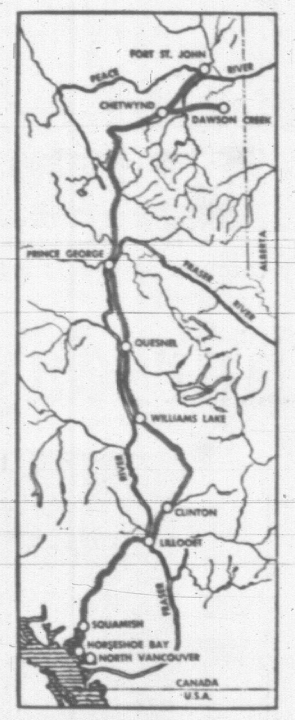

City Artists' Exhibition Seen by 150

Miss Emily Sartain, noted painter of Canadian flowers, and Edward Goodall, well-known Canadian landscape artist, both of Victoria, held a joint exhibition of their work in the main lounge of the Qualicum Beach Inn last Friday.

The exhibition, held under the auspices of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, owners of the Inn, was formally opened by Mrs. H. R. MacMillan.

It was attended by more than 150 visitors, many of them from Campbell River, Courtenay, Duncan and Nanaimo.

Meeting the next century with the throttle wide open

1958 has been a significant year for British Columbians. A year in which we have celebrated our first dynamic century. And a century to be remembered — crowded with bold adventure and spectacular success!

To the loggers, miners, farmers and businessmen of British Columbia's Northlands, 1958 has been a year of thundering reality! For this is the year the modern Pacific Great Eastern Railway completed its extension between Prince George and Fort St. John and Dawson Creek — final link connecting B.C.'s vast regions of oil, natural gas, lumber, wheat and minerals, with Vancouver's booming seaboard, and the world's richest markets.

Today, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway looks on 1958 as the horizon of future challenge — eager to serve British Columbians as we bite into the next even more promising and dramatically developing century!

Supermarkets Labelled 'Sweatshops'

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Local supermarkets have been described as "sweat factories" by Doug Gibson, business agent of the Retail Clerks' Union.

"I've never seen such pressure in my life against employees," he told the Vancouver Labor Council Tuesday. "And I hope some of them get some guts and come forward to speak their piece."

Mr. Gibson said negotiated wage increases have been eliminated by supermarkets, male staffs reduced and more women hired at lower rates.

A recent suvey, he said, showed that while men made up half of supermarket staffs two years ago, there now are twice as many women working as men.

"Worse than that, they are bringing in more and more students as part-time help."

INJURIES FATAL

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Winnifred Hewer, 73, of Vancouver, died in hospital Tuesday night, 29 hours after she was hit by a car during a sleet storm. Her death brought to 29 the number of persons killed in traffic accidents in Vancouver this year.

'MALICIOUS RUMOR'

VANCOUVER — A report made Tuesday by two officials of the International Woodworkers of America disclaims charges that B.C. leaders of the union "betrayed the interests of the membership" in this year's no-wage-increase settlement with the coast lumber industry.

J. E. Dicey, IWA first vice-president, and Claud Ballard, second vice-president, dismissed the charges, alleged to have been made in a controversial election campaign in the union's Vancouver local, as "malicious rumor."

A slander suit has been brought against one of the junior candidates for office by district president Joe Morris, union president Lloyd Whalen and financial secretary Stuart Hodgson.

TREES SHIPPED

CRANBROOK—The season's first rail loads of Christmas trees left this southeastern community this week for points in Kansas and Iowa.

About 500,000 trees are expected to be shipped from Cranbrook. Some will go to Vancouver this year, marking the first time an east Kootenay point has shipped trees to the coast.

BOY DIES

FORT ST. JOHN—Richard Reister, 11, of Fort St. John, died Tuesday in hospital at Edmonton of acute encephalitis, probably associated with pneumonia.

The boy, flown to Edmonton Monday, had been originally described as being in a diabetic coma when his doctor requested transfer.

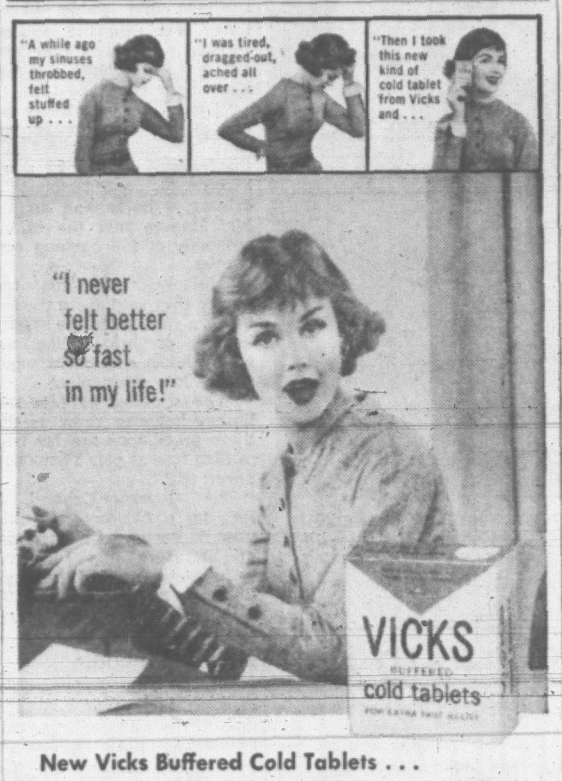

'ILLITERATE' YEGGS GET $1,000 HAUL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Helen Lazzari put this note on the safe at the fuel company office where she works:

"Attention, safecrackers: Only papers are kept in this safe. We keep our money in the bank. Thank you."

When she opened the office Tuesday the safe was open and $1,000 was gone. Beneath her type-written note, the safecrackers had used her own typewriter to add:

"Can't read."

Liquor Laws Defied Club Owner Charges

Brandy-loving Louis and Wah Wong
"Call me a lawyer!"

Scurrah Accused Of Pussy-Footing

A Victoria dance hall operator today charged Mayor Percy Scurrah was "pussy-footing" with a complaint he had sent to city council that liquor laws are not being enforced in the city.

Robin Smith, operator of the "13-13 Club" at 1313 Government, made the accusation.

He said the mayor promised him the complaint would be discussed at last Thursday's council meeting. Instead it was referred to the police commission.

MAYOR ABSENT

Mayor Scurrah, back today from a 10-day trip to eastern Canada, replied:

"I wasn't at the council meeting Thursday so I couldn't do anything about having council discuss it. I have no control over council when I'm not present."

Mr. Smith said his complaint was that Police Chief John Blackstock had not even replied to two letters which alleged unlicensed clubs were flouting liquor laws.

"The mayor told me he did not want any publicity on the matter until Thursday's council meeting because it would be discussed then," he said. "A letter from the city also clearly said my complaint would be brought up at the council meeting."

"I don't think it's an intelligent way to handle a complaint of this nature if it is going to be received and filed and not acted upon."

Mr. Smith's original letter to Chief Blackstock was sent Sept. 23.

'ENCOURAGING'

It complained that several unlicensed clubs are "encouraging" liquor consumption on their premises by "supplying ice and mixers at bootleg prices.

"This seems to me to be a flagrant defiance of the law. It also seems to be an injustice for me to have to comply with this law when others are openly defying it," he said.

He concluded his letter to Chief Blackstock with thanks "in anticipation that the sense of justice which you have so forthrightly displayed in other matters, will prevail in this case."

NO REPLIES

Chief Blackstock did not reply to the letter. Nor did he answer a second letter asking for a reply, Mr. Smith said.

Mr. Smith then wrote city council saying that "there should be no doubt or delay in dealing" with the situation.

"I sincerely trust that the council will consider it a duty to remedy this situation," he said in his appeal to council for action.

This was the letter Mayor Scurrah said would be discussed by council, Mr. Smith added.

"Instead he seems to be pussy-footing the whole complaint."

Mr. Smith said he employed a special constable in his club at a cost of $2,000 annually to prevent any drinking but many customers asked him with surprise why they couldn't drink at his club when they could at others.

LAW DEFIED

As a result, he made a personal investigation and found that the law was being defied, he said.

"I don't want a liquor licence but I personally feel that the liquor board should give them to clubs that want them," he said.

"However, so long as the law forbids drinking in those clubs I think it should be enforced."

Chief Blackstock declined comment.

"I'm not going to say a word. I'll make my report to the police commission," he said.

Mr. Smith said he sent similar letters to Oak Bay and Saanich police. Oak Bay council referred the matter to its police commission. Saanich police replied that they would make an investigation.

$45 Stolen In Assault On Woman

A 72-year-old assault and robbery victim awoke today with the memory of a late Tuesday afternoon attack still vivid in her mind.

Miss Emily E. Nicol, 905 St. Charles, was robbed of her Christmas shopping money, amounting to $45, and personal papers in a handbag snatched from her on St. Charles at the foot of Regent. The attack took place across the street from her apartment house.

"I didn't sleep much last night," the woman said today.

She touched her head where the purse-snatcher struck her with his hand and complained of a sore neck as a result of being spun to the pavement and left with her head resting on the curb.

'I LAY THERE'

"He went up Regent. I lay there for a minute stunned. I remember moaning before I got up.

"He just seemed to have the touch, kept behind me all the time," Miss Nicol said.

The woman had been returning from a neighborhood grocery store where she went at 4.45 p.m. She stopped to talk to a friend for several minutes before reaching Regent to cross St. Charles to her own door.

Police were called at 6.05 p.m. by another occupant of the apartment building.

MONTE ROBERTS

This is the sad, but luckily short, story of an ambitious young writer who wished to produce a masterpiece for presentation on stage, screen, radio and television.

The ambitious young writer approached his project with the correct attitude; he did a considerable amount of research, and he analyzed the successful plays of stage, screen, etc., and he came to the conclusion an off-beat approach was essential.

Looking over the list of currently successful dramatic productions, the young playwright decided one of the most important ingredients was the Title of the Play.

The Title, he reasoned, should be provocative, intriguing, attention-getting, and above all, have nothing whatsoever to do with the play.

So he repaired to his attic room (all ambitious young playwrights live in attic rooms) and he thought and he thought and he thought.

And then, in an inspirational flash, came the title for his masterpiece:

"THE LOOF."

Ahah, thought the ambitious young playwright, no agent, no producer, could resist a play with the intriguing title of: "THE LOOF."

So our hero sat himself down before a typewriter, and he typed out the title "THE LOOF," and followed it by three acts of a play, involving several characters and situations which escape me at the moment.

Suffice it to say, he took the play (you remember it is called "THE LOOF") to an agent, and the agent agreed to read it, and to send back a report.

In due course, the ambitious young playwright received the report from the agent, which read, in toto:

"THE LOOF REEKS."

As it happened to be raining at the time, the ambitious young playwright was prudent enough to take his umbrella with him when he went around the corner to the nearest restaurant, where he enjoyed a chilled grease sandwich.

NEWLY APPOINTED as command technical officer on the staff of the flag officer, Pacific Coast, is Capt. John C. Gray, 2185 Cubbon Drive, who succeeds Capt. John Osborn, now on retirement leave. Born in Glasgow, Capt. Gray commenced his naval career with the RN in 1940. He transferred to the RCN in 1946, and has served at naval headquarters, in HMCS Niobe, HMCS Quebec, and HMCS Stadacona.

OFFER FOR PARROT'S DOMAIN

Has 'Lord Louis' Heard of This?

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Victoria man—not a bird lover—has offered to buy that famous property on Courtney Street that is ruled by Louis, the cantankerous 100-year-old brandy-drinking parrot.

The present owner, Doug Abrams of New Westminster, confirmed today that he has had an offer from Victoria but would not reveal the name of the bidder.

"Is he a bird lover? he was asked.

"No, no!" said Mr. Abrams, "this is strictly business. I will let you know if the deal goes through."

The snag is that the main part of the property is under lease to Louis the parrot and cannot be altered or torn down as long as he lives.

And Louis, it is said, could live to be 200!

Mr. Abrams, a Vancouver hotel proprietor, bought the property five years ago with the idea of building a $155,000 apartment block on the site, which stands just across the street from the RCMP headquarters and just a block from the Empress Hotel.

Then he learned that the former owner, Miss Victoria Wilson, who died in 1949, had designated in her will that Louis must live out his days on the estate.

Daily Ration of Favorite Brandy

She also willed that Louis must receive a daily ration of his favorite brandy. Her faithful manservant, Wah Wong, was entrusted with the care of Louis and his brandy.

Wah Wong told Mr. Abrams that Louis, a South American macaw, could live another century.

Lawyers looked into the matter of the macaw and the $440,000 estate and all came to the same conclusion—Louis would have to die (naturally) before Mr. Abrams could build.

So Mr. Abrams put the property on the market and is now negotiating for a sale.

The property, surrounded by a high weather-beaten fence, contains five of the choicest lots in the heart of the city. There are rambling, flower-decked paths, a turreted old mansion, 80 birds, a mossy concrete wishing well and a sundial.

And they will stay that way as long as Louis lives!

The main lot is leased to Louis, and the mansion and adjoining aviary must not be touched while he lives. But parts of the mansion—outside Louis' domain—are occupied by tenants who moved in when the house was divided into six suites in 1950.

Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sutherland who have occupied a suite on the ground floor since 1954.

'Seems To Be Crotchety Old Bird'

Surprisingly, Mr. Sutherland has seen the brandy-drinking parrot only once.

"He seemed to be a rather crotchetty old bird and Wong told me he seldom talks before his brandy."

Does he swear at all?"

"Oh, no," said Mr. Sutherland, "he is obviously a very cultured parrot, brought up in a refined atmosphere, and Wong caters to all his wants. We seldom hear him."

Some 80 finches, canaries, pheasants and other many-hued birds live in the aviary and all of them know Mr. Wong as a friend.

Louis has a 58-year-old parrot companion, Morrie. There was another, aged about 70, but it died.

Mr. Wong says Louis gets and dislikes visitors. His bra less friendly as the years go by and dislikes visitors. His brandy diet is rounded out with walnuts, almonds and hard-boiled eggs.

He is lord of his domain.

First Step Towards Water Tunnel

Greater Victoria Water Board today took the first step in preparing for construction of a proposed five-mile tunnel at Japan Gulch.

It approved construction of an access road at the Goldstream end of the multi-million-dollar project.

Cost of the access road will be $34,000, including $22,000 labor cost on which the federal government is expected to pay a share under its new winter employment program.

The tunnel project, designed to increase the water supply substantially and shorten the supply line distance from Sooke Lake by about 25 miles, is not expected to start until about 1960.

But water commissioner Ronald Upward told the board that once access roads were built, construction of the tunnel could start at a month's notice.

Three 'Orange Ships' Dash To Reach Race Rocks First

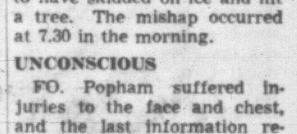

Three fast freighters are in an informal race across the Pacific, to decide which will be the first to land mandarin oranges at Victoria for the Christmas trade.

All three are less than a day's sailing apart, and the "winner" will dock here Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Ships are Ss. Colorado, Mitsibushi Maru, and Georgia Maru. First to reach Race Rocks will come in to Ogden Point; the other two will proceed through to Vancouver.

A total of 40,000 boxes will be off-loaded here, with a second consignment of 28,000 boxes expected two weeks earlier.

Victoria agent for the "orange ships" is King Bros. Ltd.

DARRELL POPHAM
. . . car skidded on ice.

Ex-Shamrock Star Hurt In France

Darrel Popham, former Shamrock lacrosse star, was seriously injured in a car accident in France, where he is serving with the RCAF.

A radar control officer with the rank of flying officer, he was driving from his home to work at the RCAF base in Metz, when his car is believed to have skidded on ice and hit a tree. The mishap occurred at 7.30 in the morning.

UNCONSCIOUS

FO. Popham suffered injuries to the face and chest, and the last information received here was that he was still unconscious. He is being treated in the U.S. Army hospital at Lundstell, Germany.

He is remembered as a star forward of the Shamrocks in 1950 and 1951. His father is Arthur Popham, 2140 Cadboro Bay Road. He is married, with two children.

The family suffered another blow last Saturday when FO. Popham's grandfather, Frederick James Popham, died in hospital.

Painters Hurt When Spark Ignites Fumes

Painters touched an electrical outlet in a fume-filled living room and received hand burns in the resulting flash fire Tuesday afternoon.

Saanich firemen were called to a new house being decorated at 2547 Vista Bay, where fumes from paint thinner and solvent were touched off by an electric spark to cause an estimated $200 damage.

Before the fire the house was nearly ready for occupancy, Fire Chief Joseph Law said.

The painters were Harvey Moran, Victoria Auto Court, and Walter Legare, 1114 Kingston, whose burns were not serious. They were employed by Island Construction Ltd.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Mothers now hauling winter clothes out of mothballs are blamed indirectly for a number of near-napthalene poisonings treated at Jubilee Hospital.

Youngsters finding mothballs or moth crystals lying around are tempted to eat them, a nurse explained, and in a reecnt day three cases were handled.

Usually the child's stomach is pumped before any damage is caused by the moth-killing chemical.

William D. Harrold, 2860 Prior, found a visit to the YMCA with his son Tuesday night a pretty costly outing.

He told city police he left his street clothes in an unlocked locker and when he returned from a workout in the gym someone had taken $35 from his wallet.

Every Victoria Daily Times carrier has had his bike readied for winter driving through the efforts of the three Greater Victoria Optimists clubs—two in the city and one in Oak Bay.

The clubs provided red safety tape to go on the rear fenders of the youngsters' bikes. Reflecting a red glow from car headlights, it warns drivers of a cyclist ahead.

Part of the money required for the project was raised through the sale of Christmas trees.

ASK The TIMES

Q. In the last world series, Milwaukee led New York 3 to 1, but the Yanks came from behind to win. Would you please let me know the number of similar situations occuring in previous world series games?—E.K.

A. Until Yankees' comeback last October, only two other teams in the series have come back after trailing 3-1. In the first series, 1903, Pittsburgh led 3-1 but Boston Red Sox came back to win four straight (then a best-of-nine series). In 1925 Washington led 3-1, but the Pirates won the best-of-seven playoff by taking the last three games.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Daughters aghast at mother's remarriage:

My mother, who is 72 years (young), is to be married to a man 78. She never told my two sisters or me about it, but did tell our brother and his wife. Don't you think she was mean? We suspected something yesterday when we discovered her new diamond ring in place of Dad's three-stone ruby ring that she had been wearing. Even though we feel let down, what is our duty? We would like to do something, but what would be appropriate and proper? We all have nice homes. Is a wedding gift in order? Should we entertain after the ceremony, and, if so, how?

Louise

Louise Davis answers:

I don't think your mother was mean. No doubt she was dreading to tell her daughters for fear you might resent another man coming into her life. She probably thought it was easier to tell a daughter-in-law who is an outsider as far as blood is concerned, and she probably figured that your brother would accept the news without resentment. She took the line of least resistance, but it was blind thinking, for facts had to be faced and she might as well have told you at the same time. Yes, offer your services and hospitality. It would be very nice if her children and their families would give a family party afterwards in the form of a tea, a sit-down dinner or a buffet dinner. You might ask her for her preference, then get to work and complete the plans. There is no reason why you shouldn't give a wedding present. It would give your mother another assurance that her children are backing up her wholeheartedly.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SNOWBALL PEACHES

One egg white, ¼ cup sugar, few grains salt, 1½ tablespoons orange juice, ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ teaspoon fresh lemon juice, ¼ cup flaked coconut, 3 canned peach halves, 3 maraschino cherries.

Combine egg white, sugar, salt, orange juice, rind and lemon juice. Place over boiling water and beat with rotary beater 4 to 5 minutes, until mixture stands in peaks. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in half the coconut. Heap into well-drained peach halves, shaping round like a snowball. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Top with a cherry and garnish plate with holly leaves. Makes 3 servings.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Hare of Victoria announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Maureen, to Mr. Norman George Dickie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dickie, 809 Intervale Avenue, Esquimalt. The wedding will take place in Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt, on December 27 at 11 a.m. Father Louis McLellan will officiate. Miss O'Hare is a graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing, September class of 1958. — (Hy-Fidelity Photos.)

Wedding Waltz Music the Choice Of Bride; Leads Off Reception

At her wedding reception the former Dianna Rose Ivy Mills chose "The Waltz You Saved for Me" as her wedding waltz. Music was provided by a five-piece orchestra led by the bride's uncle, N. Bryce.

Bride is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes A. Steele, 2862 Admirals Road and the late E. R. Mills. The groom, Wilfred Thomas Heal, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heal, 821 Vernon Avenue.

Wedding took place in Gorge Presbyterian Church with Rev. T. H. McAllister performing the double-ring ceremony. Robert Ernest Mills escorted his sister to the altar, chrysanthemums decorated the church for the wedding.

Organ music during the ceremony was played by Mrs. A. Holmes and Miss Carolyn Johnson sang "The Lord's Prayer" during signing of the register.

A full-length gown of net and lace was chosen by the bride. The bodice featured a lace-edge scoop neckline and long sleeves. A floral band held her waist-length veil and she carried a white prayer book topped with a mauve orchid, and satin ribbons entwined with heather.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. Wilson chose a gown of pastel blue chiffon. Her jewelry was of blue rhinestones and she wore a blue floral hat.

Miss Darlene Mills, bridesmaid, wore a gown similar to that of the maid of honor, in lilac chiffon with a matching headpiece. Both attendants carried colonial bouquets of pale yellow chrysanthemums.

Flower girl, Miss Lynda Fluskey wore a short dress of pastel yellow chiffon with a yellow floral headband, white shoes and gloves. She carried a basket of lilac, yellow and blue chrysanthemums.

Groomsman was William Fluskey and ushers, George and Bruce Payne.

Reception was held in Orange Hall where a three-tier cake decorated with bells and lily of the valley was cut. E. Stephenson, the bride's uncle, proposed the toast to her happiness.

For a honeymoon trip up-Island the bride chose a sheath-style dress in a navy and light blue floral pattern with navy accessories. Her hat was of mauve feathers and she carried matching gloves. A sterling silver "good luck" brooch and earrings, the gift of the groom, comprised her jewelry.

Mr. and Mrs. Heal will make their new home in Victoria.

True Value Not Fancy Packages Demanded by National Council

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal action was demanded this week to ensure that Canadian women get "true value" in merchandising instead of slick advertising and fancy packages.

In a brief to the Stewart royal commission on price spreads of food products, the National Council of Women of Canada recommended the government set up a consumer department specializing in information and statistics.

The council, representing 700,000 women, also called for federal and provincial regulations to ensure "defined standards" of quality in consumer goods. Trained and adequate staff must be maintained to enforce high standards of processing and storage of food products.

NEED STATISTICS

With retail sales in 1957 soaring to $14,000,000,000, the brief said statistics should be published relating to conditions of supply, processing, distribution and production of consumer goods, especially food.

The council had tart words on promotion and packing.

"Women seek the right to choose a product on the basis of true value," the submission said.

They did not want expensive giveaways and gimmicks. They resented radio and television commercials, which they described as often childish, repetitious and annoying. They hoped the "something-for-nothing" period was nearly over.

Packaging products for visual appeal, without regard to intrinsic merit, "comes close to deception," the brief said.

Women deplored use of celophane bags simply to enhance the prettiness of a product. Often these bags held less than standard weight and staples used to hold them together could be dangerous if they slipped into the contents.

Pat Badminton Wears Gown of French Lace

Patricia Emily Badminton wore a gown of French lace and nylon net when she became the bride of John Gale Caldwell, last Saturday night. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Badminton of Victoria, and her groom is son of Mrs. Verna Caldwell, Victoria, and W. C. Caldwell, Port Arthur, Ont.

The wedding took place in Church of St. George the Martyr, Cadboro Bay, with Rev. William Hills officiating. To music played by Gordon Britton the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father. Mrs. W. Fraser sang "the Twenty-third Psalm" in a church decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums.

A floor-length bridal gown was fashioned with a lace bodice featuring a Queen Anne neckline dotted in iridescent paillettes. Bouffant lace skirt rippled over layers of minute frills and ended in a train. The bride wore mitts of matching lace to the elbow. A hand-rolled illusion net veil embroidered with iridescent paillettes was attached to a double crown of iridescent sequins and pearls. Her flowers were three gardenias with sprays of feathered white chrysanthemums, nylon leaves, ivy and tulle.

Matron of honor was Mrs. G. F. Cahill; bridesmatron, Mrs. R. Orr, and bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Kirchner, West Vancouver. All attendants were gowned in poppy red velvet. Bandeaux of white feathers were in their hair and their flowers were white spray chrysanthemums, green ivy leaves and tulle.

Three-year-old Karen Peterson was flower girl in a dress styled in miniature of those of the senior attendants. She carried a basket of white chrysanthemums with ivy and tulle.

Bride's mother wore a sheath style dress in electric blue with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother's dress was black in a sheath style. Her accessories were blue and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Best man was the groom's brother, D. C. Caldwell, and Eric Badminton, the bride's brother, and David Harwood ushered.

Reception was held at Uplands Golf Club. Bride's table was decorated with pink candles and carnations with ivy tied in silver ribbon. R. F. Williams, the bride's great uncle, proposed a toast to the bride.

For a wedding trip motoring in the United States Mrs. Caldwell wore an apple green fitted suit with beige accessories and a grey muskrat jacket. Her corsage was of white feathered chrysanthemums and lily-of-the-valley.

The couple will make their new home in Victoria.

Members of the Milliners' Guild held a fashion show of hats in London this month. They proved that in the field of high fashion Britain is right on top. Here is Anne Grant modelling a hat in rose satin and called "Punchinello."

VON Visits Many in B.C.

Sixty Victorian Order nurses in British Columbia made 138,865 visits in 1957 which was one-seventh of the total number of visits made in Canada, Mrs. Dudley Markham, provincial president of the VON told members of the local VON board at a recent meeting.

Just returned from visiting six of the lower mainland branches, Mrs. Markham pointed out that only 11 per cent of these calls were paid for in full.

"These visits include the old age and blind pensioners and mothers allowance numbering 61,881 and costing the VON in the province $123,762.

"Provincial government grant to the VON as a share of caring for these cases is $30,000 annually.

"With the introduction of the federal-provincial health agreement the VON is in a key position to make a very real contribution to the expanding health plans in this province," Mrs. Markham said.

"It is the hope of the VON in British Columbia that when legislation regarding outpatients' hospital services is enacted, that B.C. Hospitalization benefits may be used for VON home nursing service as well as hospital fees."

Mrs. Markham suggested "the most satisfactory arrangement would be a proper hospital referral system."

Mrs. Ruby Simpson presided. Miss Elizabeth Riddell reported 662 visits by the nursing staff in the past month with almost three-quarters of the patients between 70 to 94 years of age. Parentcraft classes were well attended, she said, and 57 physiotherapy treatments were given to nine patients.

Other reports were given by A. M. J. Round, treasurer; Lance deS Duke, motor vehicles, and Mrs. R. Gaisford, Local Council of Women.

DEAR ABBY . . .

She Can't Make Up Her Mind . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I have rocks in my head but I married the same man twice and we were divorced twice because we fought all the time. Everybody in my family (and his) got their mouths into it and talked us into going back together because of our kids. The same thing is happening again. Our divorce became final in October and now he wants me to remarry him again in time for Christmas. He is a heavy drinker and is always mixed up with two or three women. My children would have a nicer Christmas if I tried again. Should I marry him a third time or leave well enough alone?

UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED: Don't let the Christmas spirit fog up your thinking. You have to live with him 365 days of the year. Take your time and think it over and over and over.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: For my 35th wedding anniversary my husband bought me a plot in a cemetery. Maybe I shouldn't have said the things I did, but how would any wife feel to get this kind of a present when she was expecting a new sewing machine? Was I wrong in feeling hurt?

STILL LIVING.

DEAR STILL: Your husband's gift was "down to earth" . . . but I think he should have bought you something for the here and now.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am madly in love with a certain boy. I am in the 9th grade and he's in the 10th. The trouble is this. We don't know each other. He is quite bashful and I'd be too embarrassed to ask anyone to introduce us and we don't live close enough to meet by accident. Don't use my name, but sign me "Dying to meet him" and I don't mind if you put this in the paper because lots of other girls have the same problem and your answer might help them.

DYING TO MEET HIM.

DEAR "DYING": The best approach is the direct approach. When you see him, manoeuvre yourself within "Hi" distance and simply smile and say "Hi!" Once the girl breaks the ice, it's easy for a bashful boy to thaw out.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had quite an experience with Sunday pests. Pretty soon we did not dare to make any plans of our own because we knew these pests would drop in on us. They stayed so late they kept us from going to bed at our usual bedtime. Finally I could take no more without losing my dignity so I sat down and wrote to them. That ended it. They haven't spoken to us since—and they haven't spoiled any more Sundays either. The pen can be mightier than the sword, Abby.

Yours truly,
LIVE AND LEARN.

DEAR "LIVE": I'm sure they got the point.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Tommy Mitchell, aged 10, of Ritzville, Wash., for his question:

How Big Is a Giraffe?

The giraffe is tall and slender, like a graceful tree. In fact, apart from trees, he is the tallest of all living things. Mr. Giraffe may stand 20 feet high, which makes him taller than three tall men. Mrs. Giraffe is two feet or so shorter than her skyscraper husband.

The body of a giraffe is no bigger than the body of a smallish horse. His great height comes from his long legs and beanpole neck. His neck may be over six feet, longer than a tall man. That same tall man can stand between the giraffe's front legs and have plenty of room to spare. For Mr. Skyscraper's legs may be 10 feet long. His back legs are a little shorter.

Mr. Giraffe may tip the scales at 4,000 pounds, or two tons. Mrs. Giraffe, smaller and more dainty, weighs a mere 1,200 pounds. A big bull giraffe stands about 12 feet at shoulder level, about the same as a large bull elephant.

The most noticeable giraffe feature, of course, is the long neck. It comes as a surprise when we learn that this amazing neck has no more bones than the neck of a cow or horse. These bones are vertebrae, like the bones of the spine. And the giraffe has seven neck vertebrae are very long, long enough to support a six-foot neck.

The giraffe's gaudy coat of mottled brown and yellow stands out vividly when we see him at the zoo. However, at home among his acacia trees he is scarcely noticeable. His coat blends with the dappled sunlight which filters through the boughs in patches of bright light and dark shadow. For his home is Africa, where the sun shines bright.

Likes Tender Treetop Leaves

Like most large animals, the giraffe never eats meat. His favorite food is leaves from the dainty acacia tree. He enjoys the fragile new leaves at the tips and tops of the branches and his long neck is just right for reaching them. He gathers the leaves in bunches, using a tongue which is one and a half feet long to grasp and pluck them.

The giraffe is cud chewer. His food is first swallowed whole. Then he finds a quiet place in which to chew it, a mouthful at a time. A small giraffe may sit or lie down to rest and chew the cud. A big giraffe rarely does this because getting up again is too much trouble. Hunters report that they have crept up on a large giraffe, fast asleep, leaning against a tree.

The giraffe is a gentle animal by nature, both affectionate and intelligent. In the wild he fights other male giraffes and Mama can defend her child, even from the lion. In captivity, the tall and graceful creatures soon become friendly and fond of their keepers.

* * *

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Merrilee Ritter, age 11, of Rochester, New York, for the question:

What Started Weather Proverbs?

Farmers and shepherds are great ones for watching the skies. Weather is important to them and they want to know what is ahead. Before the days of scientific weather forecasting men tried to guess what weather was in store for them. And a good way to make a guess is to notice what has happened before.

Shepherds noticed that a fine day often came after a red sunset. So they say red at night is the sheperd's delight. Our prevailing winds are the westerlies and most of our weather comes from the west. Heavy clouds in the western sky light up with vivid colors from the setting sun. During the night these clouds may pass overhead, leaving a clear, cloudless sky in the morning.

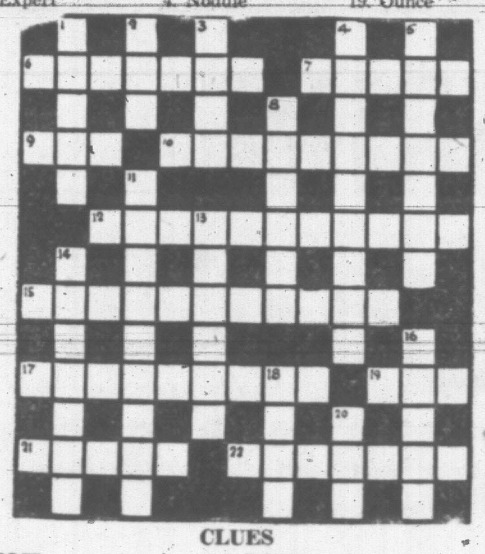

So this proverb is often a good guess. But the weatherman does not even take it into account. He bases his forecast on countless known facts about the atmosphere.

Basketballers Protest Hike In Gym Rent

Victoria Basketball Commission Monday asked the Greater Victoria School Board to maintain the status quo on gymnasium rental rates.

Ivan Temple, commission chairman, aid a proposal to raise school gym rentals from $25 to $50 an evening might kill the basketball league for 150 youngsters and the Victoria College Vikings.

Trustee R. H. Reeve said the rates had to be doubled to meet rising costs since 1951 when the $25 fee was established. He said it was the minimum operating cost.

Trustee Kenneth Leeming said the board did not have authority to subsidize basketball leagues with taxpayers' money.

But the board agreed to consider the commission's appeal for the lowest possible rental fee.

Drinking in Public Costs Fine of $50

John Richard Grealy, 3160 Quadra Street, was fined $50 in Esquimalt police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place.

TO FEED CHILDREN

Sudbury Strikers Starve

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Parents trying to get by in this strike-bound town are going hungry so they can feed their children.

Welfare officials say some of 13,000 workers of the International Nickel Company, on strike since Sept. 24, just can't live on food vouchers and payments supplied by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

The situation grows worse as cold weather settles in at this Northern Ontario community. Many families can't afford to buy fuel.

Welfare operations are being run by Salvation Army Capt. D. Hammond and Rev. J. J. Delaney, in charge of a Roman Catholic aid.

Both agencies cited cases of parents going without food so they could feed their children.

Khan's Widow Suffers Beating

ROME (UPI)—The French-born widow of the Aga Khan III told Tuesday how she fought off an Arabian prince's bodyguard who attacked and beat her in her bed in a Cairo hotel room Monday night. The bodyguard apparently believed she had kidnapped the five-year-old prince.

The 52-year-old Begum Aga Khan's face and neck were scratched, and bruises marred her arms.

The man was later identified as the bodyguard of the son of Saudi Arabian Prince Abdullah Ben Saud, staying in a suite three floors above hers.

"I was half asleep in bed," the attractive Begum said. "Suddenly the door opened and I saw a big, dark man enter the room. I was terrified and screamed. The man jumped on me and hit me first with a box of sweets and then with his fists.

"I was very surprised that I seemed to be stronger than he and held him at bay. I screamed and screamed. Finally, someone came to my rescue."

MUSICAL ARTS RECITAL TONIGHT

Three songs by Ralph Vaughan-Williams and music by Rimsky-Korsakoff will be featured in a recital sponsored by the Musical Arts Society at 8.30 tonight in Holyrood House.

Bass-baritone Stanley Martin will sing two operatic arias following a seven-item piano recital by duo-pianists Malcolm Hamilton and Richard Proudman.

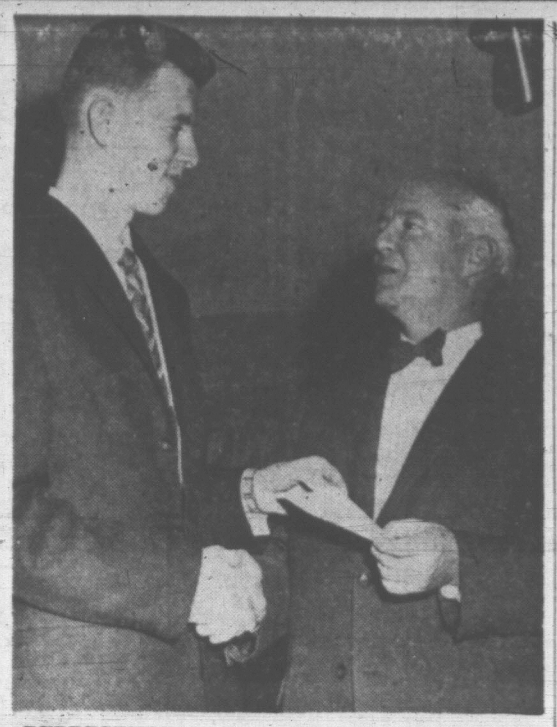

Claude Debussy's "Petite Suite" is one of the seven piano items to be heard, which will also include music by Arensky, Weinberger and Ethel Bartlett.

Doctor Speaks On Disabilities

"Disabilities and the growth of wisdom" is the title of a talk to be given by Dr. R. P. Bourdillon of Salt Spring Island at a social evening sponsored by the League of the Handicapped and the Victoria Chapter of Multiple Sclerosis at 8 p.m. Nov 27 at 1610 Oak Bay Ave.

Dr. Bourdillon worked for many years with handicapped persons in Britain.

A Christmas party organized by the two groups is scheduled for Dec. 13 at Pendray Hall, 1411 Quadra.

REPRESENTING 150,000 CHILDREN in B.C., former West Vancouver High School student Grant Clarke presents a cheque for $9,000 to Queen Alexandra Solarium president David Angus. Ceremony took place Tuesday in front of patients, staff and visitors at the Solarium and Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin thanked the children for their gift. Money is part of $18,000 raised in a "dime-a-pupil" centennial project and will be used to purchase a permanent library and recreational equipment.

'GENTLE PEOPLE OF PREJUDICE' —CANADIANS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Richard Jones of Toronto, national director of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, says Canadians are "the gentle people of prejudice."

Dr. Jones, a native of the United States who became a Canadian citizen in 1957, said Tuesday in an interview: "We do not have the bitter hatred of Little Rock, Arkansas. We do not have the vicious hatred that we sometimes find in certain areas of the world.

"But Canadian prejudice shows up in the little nasty remark now and again, the fact that some people find it a little harder to get employment or get accepted into associations."

AT GLINZ LAKE

Christmas Tree Cut Under Way

Harvest of Christmas trees has begun on South Vancouver Island with YMCA workers cutting and bundling in the Glinz Lake area.

Other areas have been scaled by forest service officials and permits have been issued by the Langford Ranger station, ranger Ronald Jones reported.

Trees being cut now will be stored until tree sales lots are opened. This city consumed most of the 50,000 trees cut in Langford ranger district last year.

The industry in B.C. last year saw 2,556,256 trees of a $1,177,047 value cut for the export trade, most to the U.S.

Vancouver Forest District, including Vancouver Island, produced for market 92,841 trees valued at about $1 each. The industry is expected to expand this year.

HOT RUNNING WATER

Farmer's Well Keeps Him Warm

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — Hot water's no problem on the farm operated by Chalmer Lovdahl.

In August, a 30-foot well that supplies Lovdahl's house with running water turned warm. The water temperature kept rising. Last week it reached 101 degrees.

Lovdahl called in University of Illinois researchers. They said it was the first time they'd come on the phenomenon in Illinois. A state water survey chemist theorized that vein of coal beneath the well had caught fire, radiating heat toward the surface.

But there's one obvious leak in the theory.

There is a well just 120 feet away. It is 125 feet deep and its output hasn't varied from a normal 55 degrees.

BARUCH WARNS

Inflation Enjoyed 'Like Sin'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bernard Baruch said that inflation "like sin . . . is tolerated, encouraged and indeed enjoyed by many."

"Of course, like sin," the elder statesman added, "inflation is denounced regularly.

"Inflation is a cancer which is eating away at our economic and financial health. It is undermining our security and spiritual strength as well. It is responsible for much of the burden of taxation we bear; of the swollen prices we pay; of the debt with which our government is saddled; of the devalued savings of the little people who suffer most from it," he said.

"Allow this malady to run unchecked and it will impoverish a people and destroy a nation."

'Just a Little Talent' All That's Needed—Dean

Dean Brian Whitlow today called on any persons "with just a little talent" to help form a chorus to be heard in the religious drama, "Go Down, Moses," to be produced next year.

He said the play, by Philip Lamb, is nearing the rehearsal stage and "shaping up very well, but we're having trouble getting a suitable chorus."

The chorus will be required to take a spoken part and not to sing or chant.

The play—to mark the diocese's centennial in 1959 — features local artists Margaret Martin, Hugh Henderson and John Martin in the principal roles.

Chorus volunteers and persons interested in helping backstage should call director Mrs. Flora Nicholson at EV 5-7694 or attend meetings at Memorial Hall behind the cathedral at 8 p.m. tonight and Thursday.

King of Morocco Wants Troops Out

RABAT (AP)—King Mohamed V of Morocco has called for the unconditional withdrawal of all foreign troops from Morocco. No definite date was set. The king said United States troops now manning large air bases, and French and Spanish troops are "a constant menace" to Moroccan independence.

New Low-Cost Electric Jig Saw

Yes, it's exciting as it is versatile, the new Cummins Sabre Jig Saw with anti-vibration drive ball-bearing construction. Cuts plywood, plastics — laminates — starts its own hole for keyhole cuts. Years of testing proved the non-stall, anti-vibration, automotive cam drive. Ideally suited for carpenters — electricians — fabricators — and home craftsmen. Regular price $53.50. Stewart & Hudson introductory price only $47.50
Pay in three installments with no carrying charge or Budget Terms of $5 down, $5 monthly.

Chillier Outside—Isn't It?

We've had exceptionally pleasant weather the past two years—but the law of averages is bound to catch up with us soon. Don't be caught unprepared—winterize your home now—Budget Terms if you wish.

"M-W"

We at Moore-Whittington feel we have some of the friendliest salesmen to be found anywhere. One fellow in particular we would like you to meet this week is Bill Brown. Bill joined our sales staff recently after 33 years with Crowe Gonnason, and to say Bill knows the business is an understatement. He is therefore the man to see for millwork of any description—Sash, Doors, Windows, Casement Frames, Window Frames, Kitchen Cabinets, etc., etc.

IF YOU ARE PLANNING A NEW HOME OR RENOVATIONS TO YOUR PRESENT HOME, CONSULT THE EXPERT—SEE BILL BROWN.—BILL SUGGESTS THE M/W PREFIT DOOR UNITS. THESE UNITS HAVE EITHER A ROTARY CUT MAHOGANY OR A PAINT GRADE FIR DOOR HUNG IN A FRAME, COMPLETE WITH ALL HARDWARE. ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS PUT THE UNIT IN THE OPENING AND NAIL THE FRAME. WE HAVE FOUR SIZES IN STOCK:
2-0x6-6, EACH $22.35, COMPLETE
2-6x6-6, EACH $22.70, COMPLETE
2-6x6-6, EACH $23.00, COMPLETE
2-8x6-6, EACH $23.35, COMPLETE
YOU MIGHT ALSO CONSIDER THE M-W CASEMENT WINDOW UNIT. ALL SASH FITTED AND HUNG, HARDWARE FITTED, AND FULLY GLAZED. JUST SIMPLY INSTALL AND PAINT—THAT'S ALL THERE IS TO IT. BILL WOULD BE PLEASED TO QUOTE YOU ON THESE UNITS. ONE OR A HUNDRED. PLEASE PHONE OR DROP IN WITH YOUR PLANS OR MEASUREMENTS, AND HE'LL SUGGEST THE BEST FOR YOUR JOB.

HARDWARE BONUS

ONE ORNAMENTAL GRIP HANDLE FREE WITH THE PURCHASE OF A QUALITY SCHLAGE KEY-IN-NOB LOCKSET. ONLY 17 LEFT, AT $7.20 EACH.

THERMADOR

WE ARE DISTRIBUTORS FOR THE ORIGINAL THERMADOR BILT-IN ELECTRIC COOKING UNITS. THERMADOR OFFERS THE MOST COMPLETE LINE — CHOOSE FROM FIVE LOVELY COLORS AND STAINLESS STEEL. FOUR STYLES OF SURFACE UNITS, AND THREE DIFFERENT OVENS. SEE THESE BUILT-INS IN OUR SHOWROOM.
M. SHOWERS, OUR WAREHOUSE FOREMAN, TELLS ME HE'S PUT SEVERAL MORE ITEMS IN OUR "BARGAIN ALLEY." PLEASE FEEL FREE TO DROP IN AND BROWSE IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR BARGAINS IN PLYWOOD, ODD DOORS, PANELLING, ETC., ETC.

Thank you.

Second Game Western Canadian Football Finals Tonight at 6 on 6, 2

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE PLAYOFFS—As this is being written Tuesday blizzards are raging over Winnipeg, that doughty gateway to the west. Roads are piled high. Cars are stranded. Merchants are using the radio to explain that there isn't much use mushing downtown, even if it's possible, because the high white stuff has put them temporarily out of business.

I mention this first big prairie snowstorm of the season because it may very well postpone or alter the time of tonight's big game at Winnipeg Stadium between the Blue Bombers and the Edmonton Eskimos. However, if everything goes according to plan Channels 6 and 2 will carry the fray starting at 6 p.m., Victoria time.

"Well, folks — nothing exciting has happened in the news today!"

And you can bet your bottom pair of mukluks that if it's at all possible the game will go on. Football is that kind of game. Many a fray I've sat through where you couldn't see the other side of the field for the snow that flew parallel to the ground with the force of buckshot.

It seems that you turn up for a football match come hail or hellfire. It's one of the things you do, like turning up for a duel of honor.

Meanwhile the CBC has explained that if Winnipeg wins tonight and thus becomes champions of the west and Grey Cup finalist, the network will air Saturday's Big Four final between the Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton's Tiger-Cats on a coast-to-coast TV setup.

However, if Edmonton happens to emerge victorious tonight, thereby forcing a third game at Winnipeg Saturday, then the western section of the network will carry the WIFU game and the eastern section the Big Four final.

The Big Four telecast at Hamilton starts at 9.55 in the morning. If there is a third WIFU game, the CBC plans to carry nationally whatever remains of it after the eastern one is completed.

And, finally, how good it is to have the sea-to-sea Canadian network in action. The difference it has made to national sports viewing is incalculable.

* * *

"EDDIE" (Good)—Mickey Rooney was excellent in this one-man play about a small-time crook who has to raise $1,000 to payoff hood Joe Crowley or face the consequences. The play, however, by Alfred Brenner and Ken Hughes was a thing of highs and lows, the suspense faltering in ratio.

An interesting comment on "Eddie" comes from Times drama critic Audrey St.D. Johnson who saw the Rooney effort and the same play—only called "Sammy"—as presented by CBC Folio last week with Toronto-born character actor Eric House taking the lead. Mrs. Johnson much preferred the Canadian presentation and the acting of House over that of Rooney. Unfortunately I missed the CBC vehicle and, therefore, am unable to offer my own views, though quite happy to take Mrs. Johnson's word for it.

* * *

"K.O. KITTY" (Good)—Lucille Ball again proved in "K.O. Kitty" what everyone knows anyhow, that she is one of the funniest comediennes alive. Her attempts to pick up the fine arts of pugilism at the gym, which included skipping tandem with an amazed pug and shadow-boxing with another, were rib-ticklers of the first order. She was nicely aided and abetted by the versatile Aldo Ray and William Lundigan. Altogether it was an hour of fun even though the Madelyn Martin and Bob Carroll Jr. play was of skimpy proportions and of lightweight material.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—A rare day when you realize that your goals are nearer than you had realized, and that you have but to schedule your time and energies more intelligently to get what you truly want. Be sure you set up an air-tight system.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—By quietly going to those persons you know can give you the right leads and assistance you must have, your lot in life can be greatly ameliorated today, including that of closest ties. It is your duty to see these inspired persons.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—You now can get the moral support of influential, attractive and clever friends, which you sorely need. Be certain to give a clear and honest idea of the reasons behind your activities, and they go all out for you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—A big executive knows exactly how you can earn more and gain greater prestige, and is willing to show you the ropes if you co-operate intelligently. This will open the door to many new opportunities for you. Get on the beam.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—A perfect day for getting started on those new ventures you have had in mind. These are fine, practical ideas and research will give you tools you need. See that you encounter many interesting personalities and widen your vision.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Accurate intuition and long-existing desire combine into a fine mental alchemy that brings greater understanding of those with whom you wish to combine your efforts. Success becomes assured once you are on the path of truth. P.M. be joyous.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—A clever and fast-thinking associate gets the co-operation of friends in helping you reach your goals, collectively. Co-operate quickly and enthusiastically. Success is yours if you are not so bullheaded.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—In early a.m. decide just how you can be more efficient in your labors. Then follow through with good, ingenious ideas for there is a wise higher up who is watching you with an idea for promotion. Work away diligently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Since your star has you so filled with inspiration today, any new venture you start is bound to meet with infinite success. P.M. is then ideal for affairs of the heart, athletics, entertainment, fun and frolic of all kinds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—A clever member of own family has the good suggestions whereby you can materially add to your present abundance. P.M. is then perfect for regaining the lost affections of one you care for so deeply. Be sweet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Your mind is so full of inspired thoughts, you scarcely know which to work on first. Decide which are the important, then talk things over with brilliant advisor, and plunge in with him or her. Come to real meeting of minds.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Now you have an opportunity to incorporate a new method that will be both time—and energy-saving, more economical and beautifying. P.M. enjoy yourself as most pleases, but give thought to your health, and schedule future hours wisely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

The wonderful child born Thursday will have many, many talents and can achieve one real success after the other, provided you early give the proper training and education. Particularly must altruism and kindness be inculcated quickly. A fine horoscope for all big ventures where much detailed ground work must first be done. The mind is strong and complicated and the energy tremendous.

ISLAND DIGEST

THEFT RING ALLEGED

8 Youths Facing Nanaimo Charges

NANAIMO — RCMP here believe they have solved a series of recent thefts here with the arrest of seven Nanaimo and district youths and one young woman.

Eight charges, ranging from possession of stolen goods to break-in and theft, have been laid.

Included among items stolen were TV sets, tools, power saws, typewriters, adding machines and appliances. Value of the goods is estimated at several thousand dollars.

The period of offences covers the last three months. They were committed in the area from Nanoose south to Cedar.

Charges laid to date: Thomas David Thicke, 23, and Sylvia Thicke, 18 (man and wife)—pleaded not guilty to break-in and theft; Kenneth Douglas Larsen, 20, Wellington—break-in and theft, no plea entered;

Robert Templeton Lawson, 18, Nanaimo—pleaded guilty to theft; Eric Richard Holmberg, 18, Nanaimo — pleaded guilty to break-in and theft; Patrick Ross Mullaly, 18, Nanaimo — pleaded guilty to break-in and theft;

William Lister, 22, Cedar—pleaded guilty to possession of stolen goods; a 17-year-old juvenile—no plea entered to charges of break-in and theft.

Police said the charges were laid after an attempt was made in the city to sell some of the stolen goods.

Earlier a "hot" TV set had been traded in at a hardware store here.

Goods were found after questioning of some of the accused. They were located in more than six residences in Nanaimo and Cedar.

Also included in the goods taken was gasoline and cutlery. An estimated $1,000 in department of highways tools was discovered.

Further charges probably will be laid this week, the RCMP said.

Missing Trio Walks Out Of Woods

NANAIMO (CP) — Three Nanaimo firemen, overtaken by swirling snow and darkness while hunting on the west side of Mount Benson Monday night, decided it would be wiser to stay put.

They remained on OK Mountain rather than attempt to find their way back to their cars on Black Jack Road in the dark.

George Command, Wilber Jordan and Jack Barton spent a reasonably comfortable night around a roaring fire while searchers, fellow members of the Fish and Game Club, searched for them.

They met Fred Marshall of the game club and other club members when walking out after daylight Tuesday morning.

Hincks Heads Parents At Belmont

LANGFORD—New officers of Belmont Junior-Senior High School Parent Group are Kenneth Hincks, president; Mrs. W. MacDowell, vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Parker, secretary, and W. Allen, treasurer.

District representatives are as follows: Colwood, Mrs. R. Hiscock, Mrs. S. Owen, and Mrs. B. M. Spotswood; Metchosin, Mrs. J. Wiart, Mrs. C. Pike and Mrs. J. M. Speers; Happy Valley, Mrs. F. Willing, Mrs. E. Mennie and Mrs. A. Birtwhistle; Langford, Mrs. N. Rhode, Mrs. A. Ruffle and Mrs. G. Hall; Sangster, A. Humphries.

The group will hold a short business meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the school auditorium, to be followed by games and serving of refreshments. Members will have the opportunity to meet the school staff.

Court Dismisses Boy's Appeal In Damage Suit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Court of Appeal dismissed Tuesday an appeal by Jack Daniel Ward, 5, of Trail, who sued the City of Trail and Shavers Bench Improvement Association.

The boy was injured Oct. 30, 1955, when a hockey goal which he attempted to climb, fell on him in a public park.

The claim had been dismissed at the trial by Mr. Justice Whittaker who found no negligence.

Crowsnest Rates Key to B.C. Prices

If B.C. hopes to escape paying more for goods brought about by the 17 per cent increase in freight rates it should concentrate on amending the tortuous, 50-year-old Crowsnest rates which aid grain farmers at the expense of all other Canadians.

A retired railway official who begged anonymity today pinpointed the Crowsnest rates as the "root of the trouble" and the main reason B.C. will lose untold millions of dollars worth of business.

Four major sections of the B.C. economy appear to have suffered the most from the freight rate hike. Consumer goods, secondary industries, construction and the fruit crop are affected.

B.C. fruit growers say they may have to absorb an additional $250,000 per crop year in freight costs. They have appealed to Ottawa for emergency assistance by way of exemption.

In Victoria, the anonymous railway official claimed the Crowsnest rates are hanging around the neck of both the railways and the people.

For years, he says, the government has been afraid to touch them for fear of losing favor with the farmer.

HANDS ARE TIED

Until the Crownest rate is amended or thrown out any future freight rate increase will apply to only 34 per cent of the freight the railways haul, he claimed.

The rest of the haul is grain moving to Fort William. Since the railways' hands are tied by the Crowsnest rate differential, increases apply to only one third of their traffic.

"This means that they must continually seek higher freight rate on a small part of their haul while the heaviest part of their traffic remains at the 50-year-old rate mark."

The railway man said highway hauling is cutting into the non-grain commodities hauled by railway freights and the more advances it makes the sooner railways will have to apply for a further increase.

PRICE DIFFERENCE

The inequality of the Crowsnest rate is seen when it is compared with freight rates paid by U.S. farmers shipping like distances, he claimed.

"It costs 20 cents per 100 lbs. to ship grain from the Prairies to Fort William. But U.S. farmers pay 33 cents or more to ship 100 lbs. from Montana point to Duluth. In the U.S., obviously, the freight rate costs are borne equally. Here they aren't."

In Vancouver, Len Andrews, executive vice-president of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, claimed the increase is unfair to B.C. He said the Crowsnest rate, providing farmers with low shipping costs on grain exports, brings railways a meagre return which must be made up on other commodities.

MUNICIPAL DIAGNOSIS

'Chronic State Of Malnutrition'

QUALICUM BEACH — Provincial-municipal financial relations were outlined at the annual dinner of the Qualicum Beach Chamber of Commerce by Maj. Gen. C. A. P. Murison, reeve of North Cowichan and president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Municipalities are in a chronic state of financial malnutrition, Gen. Murison said.

He said the special UBCM report on the problem, adopted unanimously at the last convention, is both an expression of opinion and a statement of policy.

Two courses are open, he said, — to increase municipal resources, or to reduce commitments. While the former has been the method used in the past, through grants and allotment of special taxes, the report takes the second approach.

THREE CATEGORIES

Responsibility for services falls into three classes—local, provincial, and those in either class, requiring joint action.

Six main recommendations are made, working towards an adjustment which will ease the load from municipalities. Since other tax fields are already occupied, the property tax is and will remain for many years the cornerstone of municipal tax structure.

"But the property tax has so many priority calls that it is tired before it is put to work locally. If it can be relieved of unsuitable outside jobs, it can do its job locally" Gen. Murison said.

The dinner marked the 39th anniversary of the chamber, and six of the charter members were present. Guests introduced by Ferguson Hoey, chamber president, included past president H. R. Fullerton, Harry McQuillan, M.P.; Dan Campbell, MLA; and Rex Toogood, president, Parksville Chamber of Commerce. On behalf of the chamber Mr. Fullerton made a presentation to the secretary, J. H. White.

CCF SEEKS CASH AID FOR BY-ELECTION WORK

Cash support for the by-election campaign in Rossland-Trail will be asked of CCF Party sympathizers in Greater Victoria next week.

A resolution was passed by executive members of the Victoria association Monday, to set up a special by-election fund.

CCF standard bearer in the four-party contest for the seat vacated by Robert Sommers, is F. E. DeVito.

Probe Welcomed By Power Board

B.C. Power Commission chairman T. H. Crosby Monday said the board welcomes a royal commission enquiring into power-finance matters, but regrets the disruption it may bring to day-to-day business.

Terms of reference of the commission, and names of appointees, are expected to be announced following a meeting of the provincial cabinet Thursday. The royal commission was announced Monday by Premier Bennett.

He indicated the royal commission would investigate charges the government was "prostituting" the welfare of 80,000 BCPC customers. It would also investigate why Upper Campbell Strathcona Development costs were $15,000,000 above estimates. The premier used the words "and everything else" in indicating extend of the matters to be probed.

The printed power commission release issued by Mr. Crosby said:

"In the circumstances, we welcome such an inquiry, but regret the disruption that will be caused to the ordinary day-to-day conduct of the commission's business."

Rapid Rise Created Jealousy

Serialization of this new and official unpublished biography of Mackenzie King is being run daily Monday to Friday in the news columns of the Times and in Saturday's Weekend Magazine.

By ROBERT MacGREGOR DAWSON

Mackenzie King took his seat in Parliament and was sworn on May 10, 1909. Although there were some signs of welcome by both members and ministers, he was very conscious that many regarded him as a favored child of fortune and were jealous of his rapid rise and immediate prospects.

Laurier's earlier demand that before promotion to cabinet rank, King should make a few speeches in the House and should endeavor to placate his enemies was thus proved to be no more than a reasonable precaution.

King

King wrote in his diary a few days after he took his seat:

"I feel quite at home. In fact I never felt more at home in my life than in going about as a member, with a member's rights and privileges."

When on May 19 he witnessed the Governor-General give his assent to the bill creating a separate department of labor with its own minister, he saw one period in his life come to a gratifying close.

"We say that this is a commonplace world, that visions have departed and men have lost faith. Oh that I could without undue self-assertiveness let men look into this achievement, look in and see the working out into reality of a dream of youth, of boyhood, a purpose accomplished, an ideal become a reality, against all odds, against the prejudice of men in what is the bitterest of strifes—wealth and greed in the conflict of capital vs. labor, — against Youth, against privileges, and without influence in the form of wealth or position.

The formal accolade came a few weeks later. On June 2, 1909, Mackenzie King became a member of the Privy Council and minister of labor.

Policy Unchanged

Events in the department of labor after King became minister differed little from those when he was the deputy—evidence, no doubt, of his dominant influence over its policies in the preceding years. There was, however, an increase in the department's general prestige, of which the change in its legal status was the open acknowledgment.

By placing the department under its own special minister the government had recognized the importance of the work the department was doing and shown that it was conscious of owing a special obligation to the working man and his problems.

"In the department of labor," Mackenzie King told the Commons in 1911, "we have taken as one of the objects before us, part of the work which I trust it will be possible to carry on through the years to come, this important question of the preservation of health, the conservation of human life, the protection of the working people the great mass of the people of this country from occupational or other diseases which help to undermine the strength of the nation."

8-Hour Day Urged

King was strongly behind the proposal for the 8-hour day, and was chairman of the select committee of the commons which reported favorably on it. He believed, as he said in the House in December, 1909, that its major effect would be the education of the public and the stimulation of the provincial legislation to take action in the desired direction:

"This question of shortening the hours of labor is primarily for the consideration of the provincial legislatures . . . but, the discussion of the subject in this parliament is bound to be reflected in future legislation by the provinces and the general expression of opinion in this chamber that the shortening of the hours of labor is a good thing in itself will, we may hope, bear fruit. . . .

"So far as this question has a bearing upon ameliorating the ordinary everyday life of the working people, I submit that we should in this parliament, so far as we have the power—and we have certain powers in regard to contracts let by the government—we should do all that we can to further that end."

'Phossy' Jaw' Hurt

King's warfare against the menace of phosphorus necrosis displayed again his predilection for getting his facts by personal observation. "Phossy jaw," as it was called, was a loathsome and sometimes fatal disease which attacked the teeth and jaws of workers in match factories using white phosphorus.

King inspected a match factory in Hull, visited the homes of some of the sufferers, and even, so he told the House, brought the jawbone of one of the victims to his office as an exhibit. He introduced a bill in 1911 which prohibited the manufacture and importation of phosphorus matches; but it was held up by the unexpected dissolution, and the change was eventually made in 1914 by the new parliament.

His bill to tighten control over the use of opium and other narcotics met with a better fate, and became law in 1911.

The Combines Investigation Act, passed in 1910, was an attempt to cope with some of the abuses which had followed from the rapid growth of large industrial consolidations. These combines were daily becoming more powerful and potentially more dangerous, and the current rise in prices was popularly being laid at their door. The increase in the cost of living and the danger of the Conservative party's taking up the combines issue provided the immediate stimulus to government action, and legislation was promised in the Speech from the Throne on Nov. 11, 1909.

Accepted Capitalism

The bill which was introduced exemplified King's conception of the role of government in a competitive economy. He accepted large aggregations of capital as an inescapable phenomon in modern society, and he considered that on the whole the movements towards greater combinations might be beneficial.

But the aggressive tendencies of large wealthy interests needed to be curbed in the interests of the community, and the obvious economies effected by the combines should in some measure be passed on to the public and not be turned to the combine's sole advantage in higher prices.

The Combines Investigation bill was in all respects King's own measure. He produced and developed the basic idea; he drafted the bill; he persuaded a divided cabinet to accept it; and he introduced and guided the measure through the House.

His ideas were, of course, influenced by what had been done in other countries, especially by the unfortunate experience under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in the United States. The Sherman Act had assumed that all combines were necessarily bad, and its provisions had therefore failed to distinguish between their harmful activities and those which were innocuous or even beneficial—all were considered to be equally undesirable—and it was left to the administration to draw the line between a good and a bad trust.

Waited for 1923

King's aim was to draft a law that would possess sufficient flexibility in its own provisions to enable this distinction to be made and yet at the same time contain sufficient strength to deal with possible abuses which always constituted an element of danger where tremendous economic power was concentrated in the hands of a few.

The Act was passed; but it was invoked only once in nine years. No permanent agency had been created to enforce it, the machinery was expensive and cumbersome, and the penalties were on the whole too light. The Conservative Government thought little of it, and eventually repealed it and substituted a measure of its own which the courts declared ultra vires. King was not discouraged. In 1923, during his first administration, he secured the passage of a new Combines Act—an improvised version with much heavier penalties, though constructed on the same general principles as its predecessor.

Pioneer of Labor

King regarded himself—not unnaturally so, in view of his past history—as a pioneer in labor matters in Canada. He was not indifferent to day-to-day reforms, but he was also seeking a means of legislative action on some of the fundamental problems with which labor was confronted. Reforms had an important economic side: the improvement in working conditions and the elevation of the workers' standard of life; but they went much further.

The test in the last resort was the effect that such reforms would have on human happiness. "I believe," King told the Commons, speaking on the eight-hour day, "that a man should have not merely an opportunity to live but that he should have an opportunity to live happily; and that he cannot have if he is oppressed by excessive hours of labor."

Theft Charges Laid Against Victoria Man

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—The trial of Robert James Elliott of Victoria on 16 charges of theft involving between $6,000 and $7,000 opened Tuesday in Supreme Court in Lethbridge.

The Crown alleges the money was taken while Elliott was sales manager of Marquis Motors Limited.

Oliver G. Elliott, former president and general manager of Marquis Motors, testified for the Crown, and described business transactions of the company leading to its sale to Fleming Motors in 1956.

The case is continuing. Elliott is free on $1,000 bail.

YOU MAY HAVE WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms or Round-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of these ugly pests, they must be killed in the intestines where they live and multiply. And clinical tests have proved that JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE kills both Pin-Worms and Round-Worms quickly and easily. Then they are expelled from the system in a normal manner and you are free of them.

JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE has a pleasant, fruity taste. Children love it—take it without fuss or fret.

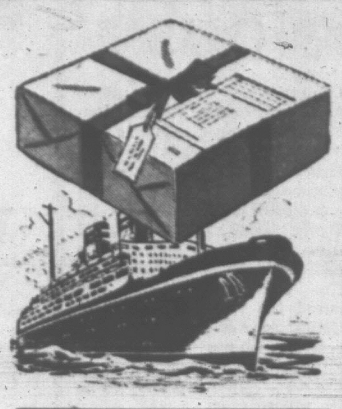

Remember, Pin-Worms and Round-Worms are highly contagious and can spread through the whole family.

So, at the first sign of worms, be sure to ask your druggist for JAYNE'S LIQUID VERMIFUGE.

Unemployment Jumps 50%; May Reach Post-War Peak

TORY PROGRAM 'TOO LITTLE, LATE'

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson said today the latest unemployment figures "unfortunately confirm the views that the Liberals have been expressing about the seriousness of the situation."

"They also confirm our criticism of the measures taken by the government to deal with it—too little and too late,' he' added in an interview.

Russian Folk Ignore Blast Of Propaganda

Continuing his account of a lengthy trip throughout Russia, Adlai Stevenson tells how he found hope for the future in many sincere expressions of friendship shown him by common people at the very time official propaganda was pressing a hate America campaign. This is the sixth of a series of articles.

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

I have been writing mostly about my meetings with Nikita Khrushchev and other Russian rulers—and "rulers" is no exaggeration! Now I want to say something about lesser officials and ordinary people.

We landed in Leningrad at about the same time the Marines landed in Lebanon. This coincidence colored our whole Russian experience and underlined the fact that while North Americans may not be very popular any more in some parts of the world, they still like us in Russia! By "they" I mean the ordinary people.

In Leningrad I even talked to the "man on the street" one evening, something that is not easy to do. It was a mixed group of students and workers. They had gathered in front of my hotel, not to see me, but to examine a strange and wonderful sight—a 1956 Buick.

Their hair was long, their clothes poor, but they were friendly and good-humored, with a ready laugh when I said we hoped to go to Siberia —"and also to return." They were intensely curious about America, our education and living conditions. "How many hours of work to buy this car?" stumped me, but my sons saved me. Some of their eager questions reflected, I thought, obvious mistrust of the information they were getting from their own sources.

Would If They Could

When I excused myself to go to bed and left my sons to carry on, I cheerily said something like: "Well, come to see us in America." And the wistful "How?" that greeted me from several eager young men will haunt me a long time.

In Moscow a few days later, the Soviet propaganda machine was running full blast on the Lebanon landing. In diplomatic circles the atmosphere was tense. My old colleague of early UN days, Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, was friendly and courteous, but unrestrained in his criticism of our action.

Meetings were being held in parks and factories to denounce the "American imperialists" and their "attack" on the Arabs. Our able ambassador, Llewellyn Thompson, foresaw a torrent of abuse and trouble in the street. The newspapers announced that Soviet army units would manoeuvre in the Caucasus and Central Asia just as we took off—for Central Asia!

"Central Asia" is a vast area of many peoples larger than all Western Europe. It includes five "republics" in Southern Russia, where they try hard to preserve the fiction of national independence while rapidly Russianizing the languages and everything else.

Big Land-Breaking

The huge northern Republic of Kazakhstan is the centre of Khrushchev's bold plan to plow up millions of acres of virgin land. This vast new frontier is growing rapidly and the recent immigration from Russia has already reduced the native Kazakhs to a minority.

The Kazakhs look Mongolian. But the peoples of the four southern republics look more like Arabs. They are all Moslems and Russia proudly boasts that she is the fourth Moslem power of the world.

In 1923 Stalin said "the task is to transform Turkestan into a model republic, an advanced post for revolutionizing the East." I wanted to see what had happened in Stalin's "show window" to the East. And what I saw was modern industrial cities, huge farms and the last vestiges of timeless, colorful, oriental Turkestan melting into standard Soviet patterns of industrialization and architectural monotony.

Our first stop was Tashkent, capital of the Soviet Republic of Uzbekistan, 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow. The official welcome, in a temperature of 10 degrees, couldn't have been more hospitable, and we were whisked away to the country VIP guest house of the City Soviet by cheerful officials busily planning to kill us with kindness.

2 Plucked From Death In Lake Ship Tragedy

(From Times News Services)

CHARLEVOIX, Mich.—Two men were found alive today in Lake Michigan, which it was feared had claimed the lives of 33 others from the freighter Carl D. Bradley when she went down in the cold, storm-tossed lake late Tuesday.

Unofficial tabulations indicated 18 bodies had been recovered.

Some veteran seamen expressed amazement even two had survived overnight in 50 degree water in howling gale winds that piled up mountainous waves on the Great Lakes. Air temperature was 40.

The two men rescued were first mate Elmer Fleming and deck watchman Frank Mayes, both of Rogers City, Mich.

They had succeeded in getting onto a life raft when the Bradley broke in two. They were picked up 14 hours later by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew.

NO EXPLOSION

Fleming told the Coast Guard that the ship broke up in heavy seas. He said "there was no explosion."

The Coast Guard withheld questioning either Fleming or Mayes further because the men were suffering from shock and exposure. "They are in poor condition," the Sundew captain said.

At 5.31 p.m. EST, Capt. Roland Bryan, the Bradley's skipper, shouted into his radio: "Mayday, mayday, mayday. This is the Carl D. Bradley. Our position is approximately 12 miles southwest of Gull Island. We are in serious trouble."

Next, a voice was heard: "Run, grab life jackets. Get the jackets. Mayday, the ship is breaking up."

VIOLENT WINDS

It was after dark and the lake was kicking up mountainous waves from violent winds up to 60 miles an hour.

The German ship Satori was the first vessel to reach the area.

The Satori searched for hours with the aid of Coast Guard planes that were sent out to drop magnesium flares to light up the area.

No sign of the ship, wreckage or any survivors was found during the night-long search.

It was not until about 8 a.m. the Sundew spotted the two men.

PLANES IN HUNT

All day long today, planes criss-crossed the area of the sinking searching for signs of survivors and the ships battled the heavy waves in their hunt.

Winds abated somewhat after daylight, but the waters still were whipped by gusts up to 40 miles an hour, hampering the searchers.

ELMER FLEMING . . . survives icy water.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED IN ISLAND CRASH

COURTENAY (CP)—Hugh Morrison, a logging company truck driver, was killed today when his truck skidded off an icy road about 15 miles west of here.

Company officials said Morrison, an employee of Comox Logging and Railway Company, a division of Crown Zellerbach of Canada, was driving a gravel truck near Comox Lake when his vehicle left the road.

Strachan Knocks House 'By-Pass'

Premier Bennett is by-passing parliament in naming a royal commission to investigate B.C.'s Power Commission problems, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today.

While giving "limited endorsation" to such a royal commission, Mr. Strachan said such a step "is not the same as a legislative committee as I proposed."

He pointed out since Social Credit has been in power in B.C. there have been 10 royal commissions and special inquiry investigations.

SHOWS CONTEMPT

"The members of the legislature are elected to examine the affairs of the province. It is their responsibility. In by-passing them, Mr. Bennett is again showing his contempt for our provincial legislature, and what it stands for," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Strachan was answering the speech given by the premier at Sidney Monday night, a speech which in Mr. Strachan's words was a "long, disjointed, rambling diatribe."

"I found it difficult to make sense of it," he said.

The premier said he would ask a royal commission to look into his power-financing schemes as well as charges levelled last week by former BCPC manager H. L. Briggs.

'EVERYTHING ELSE'

The commission is to look into a $15,000,000 cost over estimates in construction of thte BCPC Strathcona Development dam on the Upper Campbell, and "everything else" the premier said.

Mr. Strachan said: "My reluctance to give blanket endorsation to a royal commission is because we have not yet been told the exact terms of reference under which it will work.

"If it is to be a simple enquiry into operation of the BCPC, then it does not go far enough.

"What is required at this time is a full-scale enquiry into power policies of the premier as well . . . and especially the policies of the B.C. Electric and Wenner-Gren companies, and the impact their operations will have on the welfare of the province and the economy as a whole."

M' Uncle Zeke hopes his name ain't on th' unemployment lists. It's really more of a career with him.

Feller wondered if Mister Bennett's speech wuz made at Sidney, Australia, 'stead o' Sidney, V.I., it wuz so upside down.

Sommers Files Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP) — An appeal against the conviction of former forests minister Robert Sommers on conspiracy and bribery charges was filed today in British Columbia Supreme Court.

Angelo Branca, lawyer for the 47-year-old ex-cabinet minister during a 79-day trial which resulted in his conviction, filed the appeal. Grounds for the appeal were not immediately known.

Mr. Branca said he will apply for the former minister's release on bail.

Sommers, who resigned his cabinet post in 1956 and his legislature seat two weeks ago, was sentenced last Friday to five years in prison on a charge of conspiracy and five charges of accepting bribes.

H. Wilson Gray, a timber executive convicted of giving bribes to Sommers, is also appealing his conviction. He, too, was sentenced to five years.

Gale-Force Winds Whip City Tonight

Gale-force winds of up to 35 miles per hour will roar through Juan de Fuca Strait from the east tonight, weatherman William Mackie warned.

The high winds will come with a storm expected to give the city rain from tonight to Thursday noon. Mr. Mackie said.

Milder weather came to the assistance of highways department crews still busy clearing roads in the Cowichan Lake district of the remains of 14 inches of snow that fell there Monday and Tuesday.

Fire in Montreal

MONTREAL (UPI) — A three-alarm fire destroyed eight stores in four hours early today and 100 tenants from the area fled from the area. A woman and two firemen were slightly injured.

WINNIPEG (CP) — More than 100 workers toiled throughout the night to get Winnipeg Stadium ready for tonight's second game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final between Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Extra staff was hired to clear about 700 tons of snow from the playing field, stands and adjacent parking areas.

"We'll be ready for the game," said Stewart MacPherson, general manager of Winnipeg Enterprises.

(The game will be televised on channels 2 and 6, starting at 6 p.m., PST.)

Monthly Survey Lists 313,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian unemployment in mid-October was about 50 per cent higher than a year earlier, the government reported today.

The figures in the government's monthly labor survey indicated prospects of a post-war high of jobless that would exceed the previous top of 590,000 set last winter.

Today's figures showed that at Oct. 18 there were an estimated 313,000 persons without jobs and looking for work, compared with 211,000 a year previously.

MOVED UP

The total had moved up from 271,000 at Sept. 30, on estimates of the bureau of statistics based on a sampling survey of 30,000 households.

Meanwhile, number of persons with jobs dropped to 5,864,000 in October from 5,888,888 in the previous month and from 5,880,000 in October, 1957.

In addition to the estimated jobless, there were in October 16,000 on temporary layoff.

With the bureau's estimate of actual unemployment, the government released figures on registrations for jobs with the National Employment Service, showing 342,502 persons registered as of Oct. 16.

This compared with 327,112 at Sept. 18 and 278,698 in the corresponding date in October of last year.

In a statement accompanying the figures, the government said that farm employment declined by about 45,000 during the month while employment in other fields went up.

ROSE BY 21,000

"In non-farm industries," it said, "employment rose by 21,000 reflecting greater activity in logging in British Columbia and Eastern Canada and construction in all regions."

"Although agricultural employment showed a drop of 14,000 from a year ago," the government added, "non-farm employment was at virtually the same level."

"There was still a considerable variation among non-farm industries. Employment in mining and manufacturing was down from a year earlier, while the finance and service industries showed a corresponding gain."

The figures showed 5,135,000 employed in non-agricultural industries in October, against 5,114,000 in the previous month and 5,137,000 in October of 1957.

Farm employed dropped to 729,000 from 774,000 in September and 743,000 a year earlier.

The labor force—the number available for work—rose in October to 6,177,000 from 6,159,000 in September and 6,091,000 in October, 1957.

Commenting on the employment situation, the government said "in almost all areas, unemployment was still higher than last year."

By regions, the Atlantic area in October had 505,000 persons with jobs. Quebec had 1,635,000 persons at work. In Ontario there were an estimated 2,166,000 with jobs in October.

On the prairies, persons with jobs in October were estimated at 1,041,000, some 6,000 lower than in September but 17,000 more than last year.

In British Columbia, jobholders were estimated at 517,000 in October, 5,000 fewer than September and 4,000 below the figure for October, 1957.

Wives Swell Jobless Total Here

Job situation in the Victoria area today stands "at the worst it has ever been for this time of year," an official of the local branch of the National Employment Service said.

Some 4,129 persons are out of work, compared with 3,900 a year ago.

But the official noted that there were actually 26 fewer men looking for jobs, the record total being boosted by a "fantastically-high" number of women seeking work.

WIVES

"These women registered with the NES are, almost without noticeable exception, wives trying to increase the family income due to uncertain economic conditions."

The peak unemployed total last winter came Jan. 16, 1958, when 5,966 persons were looking for work in the Victoria area, but the January total in 1959 is expected to be considerably lower "because of more construction and other work."

Victoria labor force today numbers 42,700, compared to 42,800 this time last year.

ON WORLD TOUR

'PM Must Come Back' —Knowles

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker should return to Canada to deal with the country's rising unemployment, a Canadian Labor Congress spokesman suggested today.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in India on a round-the-world tour today as government figures on unemployment were released.

Executive Vice-President Stanley Knowles of the 1,000,000-member CLC, describing unemployment as alarming, said in a statement:

"It may be that the prime minister will realize that he ought to cut his trip short and come home to deal with this situation."

Mr. Diefenbaker is not due back in Ottawa before late December.

Mr. Knowles said that the government figures released today "show a situation which is both worse than a year ago and worse than the previous month."

"Surely by now," he added, "the government will realize that this is a serious problem which must be dealt with in a positive way."

ISRAELI POLICE REPORT

Missing U.K. Woman Found Shot to Death

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) —Police said the body of Mrs. Joyce Doran, 47, wife of the British air attache in Israel, was found today about a mile from the demilitarized zone near the Sea of Galilee.

Mrs. Doran had been missing since Monday. First reports said she had been shot in the abdomen.

Mrs. Doran had been in Israel nearly a year. Her husband is Wing Commander Kenneth C. Doran. She has one son in Israel. She was a native of Loughton, England.

When she went for a walk Monday and did not return, an alarm went out. Israeli police sent men and tracker dogs into an intensive search Tuesday and her husband joined the hunt. The body was found this morning.

East Germany Will Control Vital Berlin Supply Links

BERLIN (AP) — Russia intends to give satellite East Germany control over Western air, highway and rail links to isolated West Berlin, a responsible Soviet source said tonight.

Confirming East German hints, the Communist informant said this was the meaning of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 10 speech in Moscow.

Khrushchev told the United States, Britain and France to get out of West Berlin. He promised Russia would hand over its occupation rights in Berlin to the East Germans.

The United States, Britain and France do not recognize and refuse to have any dealings with the German satellite regime.

Refusal of the Allies to yield to East German controls might lead to a blockade of their army garrisons in West Berlin.

A strong hint came from the East Berlin newspaper Neue Zeit today that East Germany's government expect to get control over the Aillied air corridors.

It declared the United States, Britain and France are violating a four-power agreement that the air corridors—stretching between Berlin and Frankfurt, Hamburg and Hanover—would be used only for Allied military purposes. Pan-American, Air France and British European Airways use them for regular passenger flights. These airlines also carry out the thousands of refugees that stream into West Berlin every month from East Germany.

Experts here believe the allies will react with these steps:

1. Formally refuse to accept East German controls.

2. Protest strongly against a one-sided Russian withdrawal from the four-power occupation agreements drawn up after the Second World War.

3. If left no choice, yield to East German controls while making it clear that this does not constitute recognition of the Communist regime. East Germans manning checkpoints would be regarded simply as agents of the Russians.

In the car we read the big headlines: "The working people of Uzbekistan are wrathfully protesting the imperialist aggression." But the working people of Tashkent at their airport smiled broadly and clapped their hands when I waved a greeting.

A few days later at Alma-Ata, the lovely capital of Kazakhstan, near the border of China, we read that "all the working people are wrathfully condemning the American aggression against the freedom-loving people of Lebanon." But the working people of Alma-Ata, and everyone else, showed not wrath but warmth. And so it went as we travelled northward into Siberia.

The Middle Eastern crisis certainly aroused fears even in remote Central Asia that events might be drifting toward the war that people in Russia dread as much as we do. I recall especially the worried face of the elderly chairman of a great collective farm, who asked in a low voice, as he was showing me through a children's nursery, if I couldn't "do something." He must have thought I had won the election!

Friendly Faces

Nor will I forget other incidents of that journey through remote Turkestan. In ancient Samarkand, the city of Alexander the Great, Ghengis Khan and Tamerlane, the news of the little American "invasion" spread quickly. The crowds formed everywhere we went, and I will remember the bursts of applause and the friendly Arab faces of the living people of Samarkand longer even than its noble ruins.

Then, while the press and radio screamed imprecations and a mob stormed the American Embassy in far-away Moscow, another mob of beaming Uzbeks in their embroidered black skull caps waited outside the mosque in Tashkent to bid us a smiling, cheering goodbye after luncheon with the Mufti. (Nor will I forget that dignitary's toast when he reminded me of some wise Moslem words: Believe what you see, not what you hear).

Near Alma-Ata we had a gigantic picnic in a grove on a collective farm, with mountains of strange foods in front of us and snow-capped mountains behind us. There were toasts by the score to peace and friendship, as always, and another day of "the people's wrath." But if there was anything wrong with our jolly Mongol and Russian hosts it wasn't wrath.

And the most moving experience of all was in Rubtsovsk, way out on the lonely prairies of Siberia, where they had just held huge indignation meetings about the wicked American "imperialists." The large crowds seemed to always be in front of the hotel. They were reserved and shy, but clapped vigorously at my first sign of greeting whenever we appeared.

Americans Strange

They haven't seen many Americans in Rubtsovsk and I'm sure curiosity had much to do with it. Walking through the crowds, joking with the people, which isn't easy in Russian, the handclasps and smiles were eager and warm. The father of a fat baby said, "We have meat and bread and milk up to our necks—what we want is peace." There, as everywhere, the refrain is peace, peace, peace.

And I won't forget the night in Novosibirsk — the largest city of Siberia with the largest theatre in the country. After the performance when the audience had applauded the performers they suddenly all wheeled around, faced the centre box and applauded us. It was another day of "wrathful indignation" over America's "aggression."

What accounts for the contrast between the friendly people and the savage propaganda? Why didn't they knock us down instead of embracing us? No one is too confident of the answer. Some Russians say their criticism is just of "your ruling clique." But there must be some immunity to propaganda after 40 years, together with an abiding admiration for the United States as the most "advanced" country and also gratitude for our help in the war.

Worlds Apart

The contrast is still more surprising when you consider that these people are cut off from outside information which might help them evaluate what they read in their newspapers and hear on their radio—and that is all they can read and hear. We kept a careful log on foreign broadcasts with a short-wave radio. Never once were we able to hear more than the first few seconds of a Russian-language broadcast from the Voice of America, the BBC, or even the United Nations before the jamming drowned them out. They go to great trouble and expense to see to it that the people hear only one side of a story and to keep them in ignorance of the United States and its motives.

Later I brought this up with Anastas Mikoyan, deputy premier, and pointed out that on our long journey in the interior every American broadcast in Russian was jammed and the newspapers gave no account of our side of the story about Lebanon; that all press reports from Russia by foreign journalists had been censored for years; that large areas of the country were closed to travel by foreigners (although not to me); and that the hope for peace lay in knowledge and communication, not in ignorance and suppression of both.

'Jamming' Continues

His temper rose: If my report was correct and the Voice of America had always been jammed, he said he would send a letter to the minister of communications—a letter of congratulations! For America, he said, was waging "a cold war against the Soviet Union," the State Department officially said so, "it was their main line of behavior," and the Soviet Union had to take steps to counteract it. When the cold war ended the jamming would end, and also the travel restrictions, he said, but as to censorship, the U.S. press frequently "distorts" the facts "which we don't find too pleasant."

Impetuously I replied that for two weeks I had been reading Russian distortions about America's motives in the Middle East which I didn't find pleasant either. And we were off to Donnybrook again!

Evidently one of the important functions of the ministry of communications is to prevent communication. In recent years they have expelled four or five American correspondents, and very recently they shut down the CBS bureau in Moscow because of "anti-Soviet" programs.

Truth Essential

Russia is a lot of people with a single head, and it is all too plain that the channels of communication must be opened if we are to bring about better understanding and mutual trust. An open world is the indispensable ingredient of peace. And on our return to Moscow from Central Asia and Siberia I ended a statement for the press with the suggestion that if we must compete the best place to begin would be in the spread of truth and not falsehood about each other. The Soviet press reported my long statement in full—minus this suggestion.

But there are hopeful signs too—the growth of person-to-person contact through travel, the exchange visits of students and scholars and specialists, and the expansion of cultural relations under the recent treaty. Another is the enthusiasm of people in Russia for more contact and communication with us. Expression of this feeling, like the friendliness, met us everywhere. I think of the ragged little boy in the squalid, narrow alleys of an old Central Asian town, who solemnly asked me to take "friendly greetings to the children of America."

Prodigy Too Much

And I also think of the chess instructor in the House of the Young Pioneers in Alma-Ata (sign over the door said: "Thanks to the Party and the Government for our happy childhood") who wanted me to play a game with his best player. When I asked where he was he said: "Taking his nap; you see he's not quite five years old." I got out of there in a hurry! But not before I asked if the prodigy was a Kazakh. No. A Russian? "No—he's a Korean."

After seeing the anti-American headlines and hearing the radio attacks in a distant place one night, my notes conclude: "If this has been going on for 20 years it is a wonder that we are still at peace." And it is.

So I take hope, above all, in the horror of war and the friendly feeling we found everywhere during those "days of the people's wrath."

LONDON—Wanted: A fat schoolboy under the age of 12 to blow down the spout of a watering can at a Royal Festival Hall concert here Friday.

The watering can plays a perfect "A" note and is needed to tune the orchestra at Gerard Hoffnung's "Inter-Planetary Music Festival."

Jonathan Ashby, 11, discovered the musical can and offered it to Hoffnung—who promptly signed the boy for the concert.

Jonathan is ill however and will be unable to play.

Hoffnung believes the boy performer must be fat because "a watering can needs a lot of puff."

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Judge Clark Olmsted agreed with William Van Dusen when the 70-year-old motorist said he forgot his glasses while driving because he was excited.

Jurge Olmsted suspended a $25 fine after Van Dusen told him his wife was expecting their seventh child.

Van Dusen said he and his wife, Maxine, 30, have six children ranging in age from one to 12 years.

DETROIT—Remember Charlie Spurlock and his squirrel who were buffeted by unemployment, a separation caused by Charlie's jailing on a bad-cheque charge and a threat of permanent separation by imprisonment?

Today Charlie and his squirrel are back together and as inseparable pals as ever.

Spurlock appeared in court Tuesday and was sentenced to two years' probation on the cheque count.

The squirrel wasn't in court for the good news. Spurlock had left the animal with a friend until he learned of his future.

The first thing Spurlock did after leaving court was to reclaim the squirrel.

LONDON—Tarquin Olivier, son of actor Sir Laurence Olivier, was reported today to have discovered the monogram of Dr. David Livingstone carved in the hollow trunk of a giant tree in Portuguest East Africa.

Olivier and fellow Oxford student Quentin Keynes returned recently from an African expedition.

LONDON — Lord Altrincham, a distant cousin and much-publicized critic of Queen Elizabeth, today announced plans to marry an Irish girl with whom he can't find fault.

The peer, who was blasted by thousands of Britons for saying the Queen lacked personality and made speeches like a schoolgirl, said he would wed 27-year-old Marian Campbell before Christmas.

Miss Campbell works in the editorial department of one of several magazines which Altrincham owns.

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—A mail car on a Portland-Boston train was reported robbed of $97,000 early today. Postal inspectors here said they had made an arrest.

Manitoba Digs Out After Storm

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Skies cleared over southwestern Manitoba today and the weather office said no new snow was expected for the next few days as the province struggled to free itself from the worst November storm in its history.

The storm, which dropped up to 20 inches of snow in the southwestern portion of the province and 11 inches on Winnipeg, today was blowing itself out over the wastes of the James Bay area of northern Ontario.

Many rural areas were isolated by the storm, forcing schools to close and bringing business to a standstill.

In Winnipeg, 400 men and 62 pieces of equipment worked to get the capital on its feet again. But city engineer W. D. Hurst estimated that it would take 10 days to clear all city streets.

City officials again urged motorists to leave their cars at home in an effort to speed up snow removal in the downtown area.

Five hunters were reported missing soon after the storm broke. Three were found Tuesday.

U.S. Mine Offices Twice Bombed in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The United States embassy announced today that unidentfied warplanes this week have twice bombed offices and warehouses of the U.S. government-owned Nicaro Nickel Mines on the northeastern coast of Cuba. Damage was reported heavy.

Kelowna Council Bucking Bennett

KELOWNA (CP)—Kelowna aldermen have protested to the provincial government about proposals to establish a new district south of here. Among those promoting the new district is Premier Bennett.

The subject drew heated discussion Monday night at a city council meeting. Aldermen said proposals to establish a district called Guisachan would prevent Kelowna from expanding in orderly fashion.

"If this goes through," said Ald. Arthur Jackson, chairman of the boundary extension committee, "it means any extension of Kelowna to the south will be a straight ribbon development boxed in by Guisachan".

The aldermen sent off letters to Premier Bennett, one of the main property holders and leaders in formation of the new local district, and to the inspector of municipalities.

First indication council had that the formation was under way was in a newspaper advertisement.

MALKIN'S AWARD

$6000.00 IN PRIZES

"Name the Coffee Blend" Contest Winners

Mrs. J. H. Bird of 5656 Patrick St. S. Burnaby, left, is shown as she accepts a cheque for $5,000.00 from J. E. Malkin, representing The W. H. Malkin Co. Ltd. Mrs. Bird, top winner in the "Name the Blend" Contest included a contest panel with her entry qualifying her for the major prize money.

Mrs. G. Russell of 3804 West 20th Ave., Vancouver, center, receives a cheque for $1,000.00 from Mr. Malkin. Both winners sent in the name selected by the judges, but Mrs. Russell's entry did not include the contest panel specified in the rules of the "Name The Blend" Contest.

"ROOSTER" is winning name

The judges agreed that "Rooster" the name chosen for Malkin's marvellous new blend of coffee best expressed a bright new coffee to start the day in a bright new way. "It's a coffee really worth while crowing about", both prize winners agreed.

Secret of the New Blend's Superb Flavor

Malkin's modern "Thermalo Roaster" inspired the "Name The Blend" Contest. An electronic switchboard is the "brain" of this complex coffee roaster. It is a modern marvel of automation and thermostatic control guiding the coffee automatically through the various stages of the roasting process, from the automatic cleaner which removes every particle of foreign matter from the green coffee as it comes from the plantation, to its gentle roasting by super-heated air to its peak of flavor. The most advanced modern equipment combined with the many year's experience and skill of Malkin's experts in creating fine coffee make this new blend truly outstanding. Your first cup of Malkin's New Blend will tell you it's the ultimate in delicious coffee — mild, flavory and full-bodied with a richness and tempting aroma that's irresistible. Try it today.

Liberals Cheer Biting Attack By Pearson

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—A climate of confusion, contradiction and uncertainty under the Conservatives has replaced the climate of confidence that prevailed under the Liberals.

Lester Pearson, national Liberal leader and opposition leader, hammered home these political changes in a biting, fighting speech that had his audience on their feet cheering him in the ballroom of the Chateau Laurier Tuesday.

The Liberals loved it. They haven't had much to cheer about since the general election, but they cheered their leader's speech, and went away describing it as the best they had ever heard Mike Pearson make.

He spoke to the dinner meeting of the delegates attending the advisory council meetings of the Liberal Federation.

"Canada needs wise and consistent national policies, applied carefully but firmly with a minimum of excitement and a maximum of sense," said the Liberal leader.

"She is not getting it.

"She must have it," he emphasized.

His speech was punctuated with humor as he poked fun at his opponents. Mr. Pearson noted that some newspapers described the Liberals as licking their wounds. "You're the most optimistic group of wound lickers I've ever seen assembled," he said with a smile.

Increasing Uneasiness—St. Laurent

Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent came out of political retirement to act as chairman at the meeting.

He too spoke of the climate of confidence that was "a feature of our national life" when the Liberals were in office.

Today there was an increasing uneasiness across the country, a feeling that things were going wrong in trade, investment and employment fields and worry about the dropping value of the dollar.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland added the climax when he scored the Conservatives for having introduced the American slick advertising agency into the Canadian political scene.

The Tories had adopted the phony appeal of a dressed-up, show-business type of campaign.

He hoped the Liberals would continue in the Canadian manner to campaign on their party's program and not resort to high pressure sales techniques to try and fool the public.

An engraved silver tray was presented to Duncan McTavish, retiring president of the National Liberal Federation.

Mr. Pearson was in fine form as he lashed out at the Conservatives for their hit-and-miss expedients, their piece-meal solutions to major problems.

He attacked the Tories for their failure to cope with unemployment. He said they had failed the farmer. Because of their fiscal policies inflationary pressures were gaining momentum he warned, inflation that could wreck the economy, hit the savings of the average man and women, and if not curtailed wipe them out.

"There is real and serious danger to the financial stability of the country in the Conservative fiscal policies," the Liberal leader said.

He accused the Conservatives with their "cascade of resonant words" seeming more interested in seeking headlines than in sound government.

On unemployment: he recalled the Diefenbaker pledge during the election, "no one Canadian will suffer from unemployment while I'm in office."

That pledge was not carried out, Canadians who were out of work seeking employment were suffering, Mr. Pearson suggested.

Six Candidates for Nanaimo Council

NANAIMO (CP) — Howard Robert Dean, 37, a member of the Welders' and Steamfitters' Union, announced Tuesday he will seek election to city council Dec. 11.

This brings to six the number who have declared their candidacies. In the contest so far are two aldermen whose terms expire in December, George Bryce and Phil J. Piper, and four other candidates—centennial committee chairman George Molecey, lawyer Douglas M. Greer, high school teacher Jack Parker, who is the official Labor candidate, and Mr. Dean.

MUST DECIDE ON FREIGHT RATE BOOST

Federal Cabinet On the Spot

MONTREAL (CP) — Outcome of a provincial appeal to the federal cabinet against a railways freight rate increase is likely to determine whether Canada will have a transcontinental rail strike Dec. 1.

The cabinet will hear the appeal of eight provinces—excluding Quebec and Ontario—at 10 a.m. EST Monday (7 a.m. PST), Nov. 24, in Ottawa.

The cabinet can't refuse to act on the matter, observers say, and has three choices:

1. Turn down the provincial appeal against the 17 per cent freight rate increase, almost automatically producing an agreement between the railways and 130,000 non-operating employees and thereby averting a strike.

2. Throw out the increase authorized by the board of transport commissioners, putting the railways back where they started.

3. Toss the matter back to the board for review.

Ex-Mountie Judge

'CONSUMER MINISTER' PROPOSED

OTTAWA (CP)—Creation of a government department of consumer affairs, with a cabinet minister at the helm, was suggested Tuesday by Isabel Atkinson of Saskatoon, national president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Testifying before the Royal Commission on Price Spreads of Food Products, she said the food business in Canada is colossal, and getting bigger all the time

"There is no force in government co-ordinating and looking after the consumer interest. There is no source of specialized and expert information."

Existing government departments tried to help but requests "got lost" because there was nobody with authority to act. Consumer problems went to the bottom of the pile.

Supermarkets Attract Blast

OTTAWA (CP)—A detailed indictment of supermarkets was presented Tuesday to royal commission on price spreads. It said they reap "super" profits, lead the consumer down the primrose path of promotion and trim the farmer's share of the food dollar.

In a blockbuster brief totalling about 15,000 words, District No. 8 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CLC) said chain stores and supermarkets now occupy a "decisive" position in the Canadian food industry. They were increasingly able to control the consumer, farmer and important segments of food processing.

"A correct understanding of current price spreads on food requires a close look at the leverage in the hands of chain stores."

FARMERS HELPLESS

The union said supermarkets now hold the whip hand to such an extent that farmers often are "passive and helpless" in determining sales terms for crops and livestock.

Other points in the union submission were that advertising of food has passed the "point of diminishing utility"; that razzle-dazzle packaging and promotion have greatly widened the price spread; that consumers are being systematically overcharged; and that the supermarket, instead of widening the housewife's choice, has in fact limited it.

TOO MANY CHOICES

"Paradoxically, the consumers are beset with so many choices that, too often, they have no choice. The housewife frequently has no place else to go . . . for few small groceries remain."

A "continuing increase" in pressures tending to produce price spreads was forecast by British Columbia Packers Ltd. of Vancouver. If so, higher consumer prices would be inevitable.

GOMEZ
... tearful goodbye.

Argentine Vice-Chief Steps Down

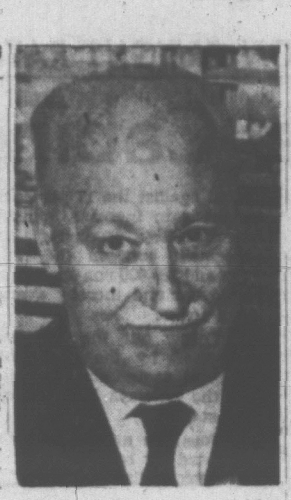

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Alejandro Gomez quit Tuesday as vice-president in a tearful, emotion-charged ceremony in the Argentine Senate chamber.

He had been under fire for a week, accused of leading a plot against President Arturo Frondizi.

Gomez, who denied any part in a move to unseat Frondizi, said his resignation was irrevocable.

A 50-year-old lawyer and former school teacher, Gomez was named vice-president last February in Argentina's first free election after the 1955 overthrow of Juan Peron's dictatorship.

The resignation had been expected since the government said it thwarted a plot last Wednesday. The last obstacle was cleared when Gomez met with Frondizi and later declared, "my honor has been saved."

JOURNALIST and First World War MC winner Elmore Philpott will address a luncheon meeting of the Men's Canadian Club Thursday at the Empress Hotel and a Women's Canadian Club meeting the same afternoon at 2.30 p.m. in the hotel. Well known across Canada for his syndicated column and frequent radio and television appearances he was the first Canadian journalist to enter Communist China and write a series on the regime.

DITCH DIGGERS FIND WHERE CAESAR KILLED

ROME (Reuters)—Workers digging a drain Tuesday unearthed part of a 2,000-year-old theatre in which Julius Caesar is said to have been stabbed to death.

The theatre, built by Pompey, is the largest ever designed in early Roman times.

The find so far is limited to some paving stones and fragments of white marble.

Historical opinion is that Brutus stabbed Caesar in the hall of Pompey's theatre and not on the Capital Hill—the place named by Shakespeare.

IN PUGET SOUND

Boat Swamps, 3 Men Drown

SEATTLE (AP) — An intense, fast-moving storm, raked western Washington late Tuesday in the wake of an earlier storm which sent three oystermen to their death in Puget Sound.

The three Puget Sound storm victims were Masao Yamashitea, 30, part owner of the Western Oyster Co. at Purdy, and two of his oyster pickers, Tom Anderson, 22, and Dave Anderson, 17, of Gig Harbor.

They drowned before dawn Tuesday when their flat-bottomed, 14-foot boat swamped in heavy waves as they were on their way to oyster beds in Henderson's Bay, about 15 miles northwest of Tacoma.

The boat sank in 10-12 feet of water 75 yards from shore. The lone survivor, Richard E. Morgan, 22, of nearby Wauna, said one of the men cried out that he could not swim, then he neither heard nor saw anything more.

Power Query

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council Tuesday decided to ask the provincial government if there is to be a merger between the B.C. Power Commission, the B.C. Electric Company and the Wenner-Gren interests.

The action was taken on the advice of Ald. Bill Orr.

'I don't want to start another Briggs controversy, but I feel that this is something the Lower Mainland municipalities should watch as closely as possible," said Ald. Orr.

'If there is to be a marriage, then the municipalities should seek to determine if it is a good thing or a bad thing. I personally think it is a bad thing."

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Charles (Sonny) Liston, ninth-ranked heavyweight contender from Philadelphia, Tuesday night scored an eighth-round technical knockout over surprisingly stubborn Ernie Cab of Brooklyn. Liston weighed 211 and Cab 211¼.

SOUR'N SUNK SO LIFE LOOKS PUNK?

Then wake up your liver bile and find life worth living again.

If your liver doesn't pour up to two pints of liver bile into your system every day your food may not digest . . . you suffer from constipation and life hardly seems worth living! That's when you need Carter's Little Liver Pills. These mild and gentle vegetable pills stimulate the flow of bile. Your system starts working naturally and the world looks good. Remember, if life's not worth living it may be the liver. Keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand. Only 43c.

ZOO KOALA BEAR DIES

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Cissie, the only koala bear in the world outside Australia, has died at San Diego zoo. Cissie, about 12, was found dead Monday on her moat in the children's zoo area.

Always a Winner!

THIS CHRISTMAS

Put shoes in their stockings!

(Kaufman Foamtread House Shoes* of course!)

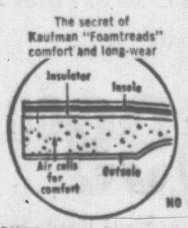

Executive
A man will get real comfort when you give him these Kaufman Foamtreads. Made with durable corduroy uppers in colors men like. Foam rubber soles are welded on. They can't come loose! Sanitized and washable.

Junior Sandman
These gay slippers for children have bouncy "bubble-rubber" soles . . . so light and comfy! Sanitized to help keep young feet healthy. Toss these shoes in the washer when they get soiled!

Deb
Any woman would love these Kaufman Foamtreads. Elegantly designed of velvet in choice of colors, embroidered in "gold" thread. So comfortable—because millions of air bubbles cradle the soles of the feet. Sanitized for foot health, and washable.

The secret of Kaufman "Foamtreads" comfort and long-wear

*Sanitized

Co-Op Chief King of City's Potato Market

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

To you and me a potato may seem only a necessary composite of a tasty meal but to Allan Barker a potato has all the glamour (without the accompanying architecture) of Gina Lillabrogida.

Mr. Barker gets quite romantical about potatoes. He should. He sees enough of them. As manager of the Island Vegetable Co-Op Association, he saw 600 tons of spuds in October.

Malone

That total was a record for the Co-Op. It represents a 33 per cent increase over the amount of potatoes which went through the Co-Op portals five years ago. That's when the Barker-Co-Op love affair began.

The increase means Vancouver Island farmers are growing more potatoes. And more VI people are eating them. Mr. Barker eats plenty of them, too. It's probably only coincidental that he is built somewhat along the lines of husky No. 1 Gem, the Co-Op's best seller.

It must be coincidence because Mr. Barker says potatoes aren't fattening. "They're just tasty."

The relationship of Barker and the Island Co-Op has been fattening, however, to both parties. The Co-Op has grown. Mr. Barker hasn't lost any ounces and big potato growers are becoming bigger.

Last summer the Co-Op added a warehouse to its crowded operations at 748 Market. Three months later the building was teeming with sacks of spuds. Barker wondered what to do with truckloads of potatoes waiting to be unloaded, washed, inspected, packaged and sent to market.

He didn't wonder long. The law of supply and demand which covers most delectable items such as Brigitte Bardot as well as potatoes, will keep the market supplied and reduce the Co-Op's pack.

MIDDLE MAN

Mr. Barker is the middle man between the grower and the buyer. The buyers are doing fine. So are the growers. But they have their problems. Weather is one of them.

"Damp, cool weather is blight weather for potatoes," he said. "A hot, dry summer is insect bug weather. Growers never have it easy."

Today, No. 1 Gems, the king of spuds, bring about $60 per ton to the wholesaler. His mark-up ranges from four to 10 per cent depending on the quantity and delivery costs. The retailer markup varies from 10 to 20 per cent. When the cost of sacks, grading, and marketing are deducted the grower gets about $50 per ton. His costs of production range from $37 to $45 per ton, depending mostly on the size of his potato patch.

The Co-Op has 132 members — there is one "outlaw" grower—with farms of half an acre to 95 acres. Vancouver Island growers supply about six per cent of the B.C. market. Mainland producers account for between 50 and 60 per cent of the crop consumed in B.C. The remainder comes from the U.S.

Vancouver Island growers aren't suffering from (potato) growing pains, Mr. Barker says.

Five times in the last seven years, VI growers have led in the best ton yield per acre. John Pendray of Blenkinsop Road won the 1957 crown with a yield of 25½ tons per acre. Before that Lloyd Smith of Courtenay outgrew everyone three times and Aubrey Hall of Langford kicked up his heels once. Average yield is about 12 tons per acre.

You may be interested to know, as we were, that cabbage ranks second—though a distant second—to potatoes as the Co-Op's second crop. After that comes carrots, turnips, parsnips, beets and onions — "excluding the bunch variety" —says Mr. Barker.

How successful financially Vancouver Island growers have become can't be ascertained accurately. Mr. Barker says too many factors are involved . . . how much land the grower has . . . how hard the weather hit his crop . . . fluctuations in the wholesale price

No matter what, though, the grower has one compensation. If he can't sell them profitably, he can always eat them. And never have to worry about growing an outlandish crop where his stomach should be. They're not fattening, remember?

'CONFUSION' BLAMED ON BORDEN REPORT

CALGARY (CP) — A. G. Bailey, vice-president of Bailey Selburn Oil and Gas Limited, has criticized the Borden interim report on Canada's energy resources as an assortment of confusion, indecision and unanswered questions.

Mr. Bailey said Tuesday the Borden Commission had an opportunity to provide a factual unbiased report which would have provided a basis for long-term resources development but instead "we are faced with confusion and indecision which could react to the detriment of the development of our oil and gas resources."

"I think the Conservative government was seeking such information and experience through this royal commission and I suggest that instead of having our problems and their solutions presented in a statesman-like manner, they have simply confounded and confused the government," he said.

CLAIM AGAINST B.C. FIRMS

$5.5 Million Pipeline Suit

CALGARY (CP)—A Calgary pipeline construction company is bringing a $5,500,000 claim against the Inland Natural Gas Company of Vancouver and the Vancouver engineering firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis, Canada, Limited.

Dutton - Williams Brothers Limited filed the claim Tuesday following a dispute with Inland over construction of a 560-mile gas transmission line in the interior of British Columbia.

The claim deals with nine alleged breaches of a contract drawn up by the three companies. Included was an alleged failure by the engineering company to furnish rights-of-way into the construction area. Some $1,500,000 of the total amount is being sought by the Calgary firm from Ford, Bacon and Davis.

Duttop-Williams also claims the other companies have paid only $8,100,000 of the $11,800,000 cost of the project but has admitted at least $400,000 is still owing. No statement of defence has been filed.

The Inland line, completed last year, joins the main Westcoast Transmission Company line at Savona, B.C., and branches into 40 B.C. communities, ending at Trail.

Cornelia Colliery, South Africa's largest coal mine, set a monthly record of 350,693 tons in October, 1958.

STOCK EXCHANGE MERGER?

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange announced today that amalgamation of the Toronto, Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges is being studied by a joint committee of the exchanges.

BENNETT CHARGE DENIED

No Copies Went To Laing—Briggs

Premier Bennett's statement Monday that opposing party leaders were furnished with copies of the now famous Briggs charges before they were released to the press, was denied Tuesday by H. L. Briggs.

The premier, in a speech to Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce, said there was "something funny" in the fact Liberal Leader Arthur Laing had a copy ". . . before the ink was dry."

SPEAKS TONIGHT

Mr. Briggs, leaving Vancouver by train for Vernon where he will speak tonight, said if Mr. Laing had a copy he does not know where or when he got it.

"It is completely false to suggest that anyone had any releases ahead of the newspapers."

Mr. Briggs has steadfastly denied any political connections or aspirations. He said if an election is called he would stump the province, to tell his story, but strictly on his own.

"I'm paying my own way on this trip. I'm using my own money," he told reporters.

Dawson in the Yukon had a population of 10,000 during the Klondike gold rush starting in 1898.

WINGS WIN

Nick's Nifty Night

By The Canadian Press

Nicholas Mickoski is a long-time hockey player from Winnipeg whose personal data in the record book would indicate he's somewhere on the other side of the hill, downbound.

But you can't always go by what you read in books—as witness what happened Tuesday night at the Detroit Olympia.

Nick was a busy man for a couple of hours or so in a National Hockey League game between the third-place Red Wings, by whom Nick is employed, and the second-place Boston Bruins. By virtue of what Nick did with his two hours, the Bruins wound up the evening sharing second place with Detroit—only two points back of leading Montreal Canadiens.

Mickoski, whose 43-point season for the New York Rangers and the Chicago Black Hawks in 1954-55 was the best he has ever had, fired one goal and assisted on four others in Detroit's 6-0 shutout of the Bruins.

POINT OFF RECORD

His five points in a single regular schedule game compare with the six—three goals and three assists—picked up by Montreal's Henri Richard in a home-ice game against the Toronto Maple Leafs Oct. 17, 1957.

And Mickoski's performance was an exact match for the one goal and four assists registered by fellow Red Wing Johnny Wilson March 16 this year in a game at Boston which Detroit won 6-3.

Wilson is still around. He scored three goals Tuesday night while Mickoski was busy setting them up.

Tonight, Toronto Maple Leafs are at New York against the Rangers, and the Bruins are at Chicago to take on Black Hawks.

Canada Cup Golf Matches Start Thursday

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The glittering fairways and greens of deceptively Beautiful Club de Golf Mexico were given a final trim today for the International Golf and Canada Cup matches.

A record field of 64 stars from 32 countries will tee off Thursday in the first of four 18-hole daily rounds on the tough 7,216-yard par-72 course on the outskirts of the Mexican capital.

The two-man team with the lowest combined score will win the Canada Cup, individual low score will win the international championship.

Experts rate the U.S. team No. 1, followed by Japan, South Africa, England, Ireland, Australia, Sweden, Wales and Argentina.

Canada will be represented by Al Balding of Toronto and Henry Martell of Edmonton. They meet Gary Player and Harold Henning of South Africa in the first round.

Golf Pro Passes

NEWPORT, Scotland (AP) —Richard Clarkson, believed to have designed the first steel-shafted golf clubs in the United States in 1917, died Tuesday. He was 77.

He was born in Carnoustie, Scotland, the home of many professionals who later went to the United States. He returned to Scotland in 1949.

SHE CAN DREAM, CAN'T SHE?

Although her hometown team, B.C. Lions, didn't even make playoffs, Arlene McLean of Vancouver can dream of day Lions will be playing for Grey Cup. Norm Baker to Direct Irish Building Project

Norm Baker will call the shots for Victoria Shamrocks during the 1959 Intercity Lacrosse League season.

One of Victoria's most famout athletes, Baker was named to succeed Whitey Severson at a special meeting Tuesday night. Although several other names were discussed by club directors, the choice of Baker as coach was unanimous, president Jack Bacon said.

The 35-year-old Baker, who retired from active participation in sports last spring, has no definite plans for rebuilding the Shamrocks, who finished out of league playoffs for the first time this year.

"I won't make any decisions on players until I have had a meeting with the directors," he said.

BRILLIANT RECORD

Although better known for his feats on a basketball court, Baker also had a brilliant lacrosse record. He starred with the New Westminster Adanacs for three seasons before transferring to Victoria in 1950. He was with the Rocks until the end of the 1954 season.

Member of Victoria Domino teams that won three Canadian basketball championships, Baker turned professional in 1946 with the Vancouver Hornets. He went on to play with Chicago Stags and Boston Celtics and received his highest honor when he was named Canada's greatest basketball player of the half century.

He served as playing coach in Victoria's senior "B" hoop loop for several seasons before calling it quits last spring.

HONESTY A COSTLY VIRTUE

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP) — Denny Wilson, 18, noticed some bills on the ground Sunday as he moved in a line of fans through the turnstiles for the University of Rhode Island-Connecticut football game.

He picked up the money, looked around and offered it to a well-dressed woman he thought had dropped it.

"Thank you," she said, pocketing the $15.

When he got home, young Wilson discovered he had given away his own money. The bills had fallen from his wallet when he took out his ticket for the game.

Wolves Beaten

GELSENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's champion Schalke soccer team last night defeated Wolverhampton Wanderers, 2-1, eliminating England's hopes for the European Cup soccer competition.

Gatherum Shines Against Russians

MOSCOW (CP)—Kelowna Packers tied 1-1 in a gruelling battle with a Soviet team Tuesday night in the second game of their current five-game Russian hockey tour.

It was a brilliant battle of goalies and Canada's Dave Gatherum outshone Evgeni Erkin of Russia.

CANADIANS LEAD

The Russians trailed 1-0 with less than nine minutes left despite the fact they had outplayed the Canadians most of the way, and it seemed Kelowna would make up for a 4-3 loss to another Russian team Sunday night.

It was a madhouse as the crowd of 12,000 in the Lenin Sports Palace cheered, jeered, and shouted for the Russians to do it again.

Tom Stecyk, who got a goal Sunday, had put Canada ahead at 3.18 of the second period. The smaller, but faster-skating Russians came back with the equalizer by Vladimir Grebennikov at 11.06 of the third.

Gatherum was the star of the game and the favorite with the crowd as he came up with one spectacular save after another, recalling his amazing performance in the Allan Cup finals last season when he registered a record three shutouts against Belleville.

But in the early stages of play it seemed that he wouldn't make it. Just after five minutes of the initial period, he was struck in the head by a flying puck and almost knocked unconscious. The crowd cheered as he picked himself up to turn in a glittering performance.

Transistor Didn't Aid Chicago Transmitter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago White Sox disclosed today the failure of a well-conceived plan to wire the pitchers' mound for sound during the 1958 season.

Wires were laid from the Sox dugout to the mound, and a transistor with two miniature receivers was installed in the cap of one of the veterans on the pitching staff.

The system worked well during pre-game drills, with manager Al Lopez voicing instructions through a microphone in the dugout. But after three or four attempts during games, it became apparent that crowd noise drowned out Lopez' voice.

The system was abandoned after the pitcher was shellacked in a June game. The Sox said the bombardment was charged to "operation no control" and not "operation remote control."

Hot Maloney Rhubarb Returned to Campbell

WHL Directors Send Case Back to NHL President

Directors of the Western Hockey League came up with a couple of definite decisions during a special meeting at Vancouver Tuesday, but they dropped the red-hot case of Phil Maloney right back into the lap of National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell.

Following the meeting, directors said:

"In view of evidence submitted to the WHL concerning Phil Maloney, it is the considered opinion of the directors . . . that there has been extensive irregularities in the assignment of Maloney's contract to Chicago, outside the recognized affiliation agreement governing all professional hockey."

Maloney, in his fourth season with Canucks, is the property of Canucks, Vancouver president Coley Hall said.

New York Rangers of the NHL, who held the NHL playing rights on Maloney, said Hall agreed to allow Rangers to sell these rights to Chicago.

WANTED BY CHICAGO

Chicago now wants to draft the Vancouver captain for the $10,000 draft price.

Hall said he signed no agreement with Rangers and refuses to let Chicago pick up Maloney. The Canuck star has also indicated he does not wish to leave Vancouver to join any NHL club.

The directors said a settlement could be reached through Campbell by the clubs involved. Campbell asked the WHL for a ruling on the question.

Maloney, who has toiled for both Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins of the NHL, was drafted last summer by Rangers.

Since then a draft agreement between the NHL and the WHL has expired and a new one has not been signed.

SEEKS EQUAL CLAIM

Under the old agreement the American Hockey League could draft players from the WHL. The Western League does not want a similar clause in any new agreement. It also wants to have equal claim to players farmed out by NHL clubs. The American League now insists on first minor league rights.

Maloney at present is out of action with a shoulder injury.

Directors announced that the annual WHL all-star game will be played at Vancouver March 3 and approved a new playoff plan that will send three Prairie Division teams and four Coast Division clubs into the playoffs.

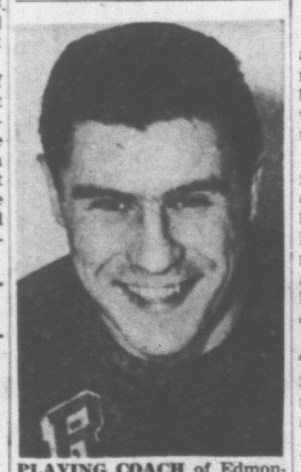

FINAL ON PRAIRIES

The first-place team in regular season play in the Prairie Division will get a bye into the prairie zone finals, while the second and third-place teams meet in a best-of-five series.

The winner of the semifinal series then meets the first-place team in a best-of-seven final.

The first and third and the second and fourth-place finishers in the Coast Division will meet in a best-of-five semifinals. The two winners meet in a best-of-seven final.

The inter-division final will be a best-of-seven affair starting in the prairie champions' home rink.

PLAYING COACH of Edmonton, Tony Leswick will lead Flyers against Victoria Cougars in Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena tonight. Cougars will be attempting to snap four-game losing skein. Game time is 8.30.

Starting Slot Set for Stan, Says Hemus

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial's play in Japan has convinced St. Louis manager Solly Hemus that the seven-time batting champion will be his starting left fielder next year.

"He's not in the grave yet," Hemus said of Musial, who will be 38 next week. Stan is normally a first baseman, although he's played the outfield before.

Solly and the St. Louis Cardinals returned Tuesday from a triumphant tour of Japan, where the Cards lost only twice in 16 games.

Hemus was so strong on Musial playing in the outfield that he assigned Stan there—his 17th season.

"Musial doesn't have the strongest arm in the league," Hemus told a press luncheon, "but he gets the ball away quickly. No one in the league is going to run on him."

The Japan tour was the first chance for newly-signed Hemus to look over the club after taking over from fired Fred Hutchinson.

Non-Title Bout In Britain For Patterson?

LEICESTER, Eng. (Reuters) — World heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson was offered $98,000 on Monday for a non-title fight here next May.

British promoters Joe Jacobs and Alex Griffiths cabled the champion's manager, Cus d'Amato, guaranteeing the purse for a 10-round contest.

Patterson's likely opponent would be Joe Bygraves of Jamaica, former British Empire champion. Bygraves meets another American, Zora Folley, here Monday. A good performance then would earn him the bout should Patterson accept the offer, said the promoters.

HIS MAN, TOO

Like everyone else, Shoichi Kaneda (right) admires Stan "The Man" Musial, St. Louis Cardinals' seven-time National League batting champion. Musial was standout on Cardinals' recent tour of Japan. Southpaw Kaneda was best pitcher in Japan's Central League last season.

GAME GOES ON

'Sleet or Snow Won't Stop Show'

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Western football championship could be decided here tonight in the second game of the Western Football Conference final between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos.

The defending champion Bombers take the field with one victory already achieved in the best-of-three final. The Eskimos must bounce back from a 30-7 defeat last Saturday to stay alive.

Speculation that the game might be postponed was stirred Tuesday when a fierce blizzard dumped more than 14 inches of snow on Winnipeg. However, football commissioner Sydney Halter said the game must go on.

STICK TO SCHEDULE

"The game has to be played and that's all there is to it," said the commissioner. "I can't help it if the weather has an ill effect on the expected attendance. We have a schedule to keep and we must stick by it."

The field was covered by a tarpaulin which was estimated to be carrying 400 tons of snow.

Nevertheless, the turf was reported in good condition.

Practice fields had no such protection, however, and neither the Bombers nor the Eskimos, who arrived here by plane late Tuesday, were able to hold last-minute workouts.

Empire Stadium in Vancouver had been offered as a site for the game.

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the British Columbia Lions, said he had made the offer in telegrams sent to Halter, Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Halter, however, said the game will be played in Winnipeg.

ACES STOP ARMY

Sailors Breeze To Second Win

Navy has confirmed its claim as the club to beat in the Commercial Hockey League race, but Army may still make things hot for other clubs in the four-team loop.

Beaten, 5-0, by Navy in their first start and all but counted out of the running by railbirds, the Princess Pats looked like a different club at Memorial Arena Tuesday night and battled down to the wire before finally losing a 6-4 decision to Aces.

In the opening game of Tuesday's doubleheader, the Sailors packed a little too much power for Vics and skated away with a 4-1 victory.

ACES RALLIED

Aces had to come from behind with three goals in the final 11 minutes to squeeze by the battling Soldiers. Orv Coulter knotted the count at 4-4 and Pete Bouchier gave Aces the lead for the third time at 16.59.

Army gambled by lifting its goalie in the final minute and the move backfired as Bouchier fired the puck into an empty net to clinch the verdict seconds after an Army goal was disallowed because the puck was knocked into Aces' net with a hand.

Coulter also had two goals for Aces and Bob Jones and Ab Wiebe added singles. Ashworth and Pearson each scored twice for Army.

Navy scored twice in the opening period and had built up a 4-0 lead before Art Green saved Vics from a shutout at 10.28 of the third period.

Scoring for the Tars were John Reddin, Ray Sanger, Neild Standley and Paul Laoint.

Next games will be on Dec. 2, with Navy playing Aces and Army tackling Vics.

'BUSH LEAGUE' FAN INCIDENTS . . . . . MAR GREY CUP PLAYOFFS

Next Time the Score Might Be Close

By CANADIAN PRESS

Some time, it is fervently hoped, the persons responsible for the successful organization of the Grey Cup final will take the necessary steps to curb over-exuberent fans. If they don't, they're flirting with real trouble.

Promoters of this annual sports extravaganza have been lucky so far. Only circumstances surrounding two Cup fan incidents in the last three years have got them off the hook. In both cases the fuss arose when the game result was almost a foregone conclusion.

In 1955, at Vancouver's Empire Stadium, fans pounced on the ball in the end zone after an attempted fourth-quarter Edmonton Eskimo field goal was wide of the posts. The promoters were fortunate it didn't happen earlier.

As it was, Edmonton and Montreal Alouette players watched the mad scramble and game officials eventually awarded Eskimos a point that made the score Montreal 19 Edmonton 31. It didn't have a bearing on the final score as the Eskimos won 34-19.

Last year at Toronto, and again in the fourth quarter, a fan standing on the sidelines tripped touchdown-bound Ray (Bibbles) Bawel of Hamilton Tiger-Cats. The Big Four champions were ahead 25-0 at that point and it was a losing cause for the Bombers who eventually bowed 32-7 to coach Jim Trimble's club.

In each case the interfering fans got away with it.

The 1957 incident was the most glaring. Canadian Rugby Union officials announced days before the game that anyone interfering with play in any manner would be arrested. The CRU had off-duty police around the sidelines, yet the tripper calmly continued to watch the game for a few minutes before leaving the stadium unmolested.

The incident occurred almost directly in front of the Winnipeg bench. Bawel rushed back to the spot, grabbed the offending fan as players of both teams and a policeman milled around nearby.

No one in authority has explained yet why the fan was allowed to watch the game from the sidelines.

The Canadian Football League, an amalgamation of the Eastern Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union, is responsible for all arrangements of this year's Nov. 29 final at Empire Stadium. The CRU has been in charge since the Grey Cup first was played in 1909.

The Cup final has developed into a $500,000 operation the past few years. In 1955 and, particularly last year, fan incidents made it almost bush league.

ANOTHER SLANT

By JIMMY BRESLIN

PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—"There are only 10 or 12 big bettors in the country," Bert Bell, the National Football League commissioner, began in his warm, rasping voice. "They don't make a bet until anywhere from two hours to 15 minutes before a game. Sometimes they make a phony bet early, to fool people. But the real one comes late.

"I know people bet National Football League games. I don't care what they do. Just as long as they stay away from the players. We tell the players not to have anything to do with strangers and make sure they don't.

"Nobody calls me the minute one of those big guys makes a bet. But I know if there's a price change. And if there is, I got a good idea where it's coming from.

★ ★ ★

"The betting line on National Football League games doesn't come out until Tuesday now. They want to wait and see if there are any injuries and things like that before setting a price.

★ ★ ★

"I live by the phone. I made a rule about phone calls years ago and my wife didn't like it for a while. That was to take any call that came, no matter what time of the day. When you're in this business you got to remember the other fellow is making a living.

"So a lot of times a guy on the coast will be thinking about something and he'll pick up the phone to call me. It'll be 11 o'clock at night his time. But 2 in the morning for me. What do I do? I wake up and talk to the guy. All night, if it's business. Then I'll hang up and the first call usually will come about 7.30 in the morning.

"You don't figure to live long doing that. I'm 63 and after a couple of weekends during the season I feel like I'm 93. Something happens during a game, they start hollering for me.

Officials Too Busy to Watch Coach

"There's so much pressure on coaches, officials and players that, what the hell, they're not human if they don't blow up. You take George Halas getting into that fracas with the officials in Chicago. They say he was on the sidelines inside the 20. The rules say he can't go that far down field. What do you want my officials to do? Spend the day checking where the coach is?

"What do you want Halas to do? He was in the middle of a tough game. So he came down. If he gets caught, then he gets a 15-yard penalty. I'm thinking about letting the coaches walk from goal line to goal line.

★ ★ ★

"We're all lucky to be in this business. Everybody is lucky, from the owners to the players. Pro football is a wonderful thing. Look at your crowds. We're lucky and have to use common sense.

"Take the officials. They have to make more than 50 judgment calls during a game. If they don't make mistakes somewhere along the line, then we don't have any human beings on our staff. Of course they blow some. So do I.

"People tell me, 'Look at the movies and you'll see it was a wrong call'. I look at the movies. But I don't care about the call. I just want to see if the official was in proper position to make it. If he was, then whatever he called goes. They run pictures of disputed plays. Everybody knows the camera angle can make it appear entirely different. I don't bother with them.

"I know my officials. I know they're human."

Eastern Bodies Sound For Dominion Playoff

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP)—St. Francis Xavier University held a final workout today in preparation for the Canadian intermediate football final against Fort William Redskins at the Lakehead city Sunday.

Despite a bruising exchange with Montreal Lakeshore Alouettes in the Eastern final last Saturday, coach Don Loney said he'll have a sound squad for the championships.

Fullback Ernie Foshay was the only casualty in the Alouette game but is expected to see service against the Redskins.

ONE REGULAR OUT

Star linebacker Danny Nee will be the only regular missing from the lineup. A dislocated shoulder in the Nov. 11 Maritime final against Saint John Wanderers put him out of action for the remainder of the season.

Loney and the collegians still have palpitating memories of the 27-26 triumph over the Alouettes last Saturday and expect no easy passage in Fort William.

"I undestand the Fort William roster is practically the same as last year when Shearwater Flyers beat them," Loney said Tuesday.

"If that's the case, I don't expect them to be as tough physically as the Alouettes, but they'll be a better match for us in speed and spirit."

Loney, who starred as a centre with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, credits fleet-footedness, school spirit and a much improved defence for the Xaverians' six straight league games without a loss. They followed up with a 71-0 shellacking of the Wanderers for the Maritime title.

Outside of a 21-20 squeaker over last year's Canadian champion Shearwater Flyers during the Nova Scotia League schedule, the Montreal game was their toughest proposition.

NEW YORK (AP)—Expansion of the National Hockey League to the west coast is still "a long way off," Clarence Campbell, president of the six-team major circuit, said Tuesday.

Commenting on a report that a Los Angeles group is seeking to obtain a franchise in ice hockey's big league, Campbell said the transportation problem would be too difficult to overcome at present.

"Air travel in the winter is something you can't figure. Bad weather could ground a club and throw our schedule out of order.

MUST BE AT HOME

"We must have both the Montreal and Toronto teams at home almost every Saturday night. The Canadiens have sold out every game for the last 14 years and Toronto every one of the last 12. They can easily get to Chicago or Detroit for a Sunday game, but the west coast is another thing."

The Los Angeles group is headed by Chuck Johnson, 40, an investor. Johnson was in Boston last week for talks with Walter Brown, president of Boston Bruins and a member of the league's board of governors.

"Johnson hasn't contacted me yet," said Campbell. "I know that Los Angeles is building a 16,000-seat stadium (to be ready in June). But we would require at least two or three teams out that way to make it feasible.

MORE PRACTICAL IDEA

"Much more practical would be a two-division setup, one in the east and one in the west. The western division would include Los Angeles and perhaps San Francisco and Denver. But that's likely to take a couple of years. At the moment we are more interested in getting the Chicago franchise on its feet. The Hawks seem to be getting some place after several years in last place."

Campbell also ruled out Cleveland and Buffalo as future National League cities. These American Hockey League franchises have been most prominently mentioned in NHL expansion talk.

Campbell is here to attend a special meeting of the American Hockey League's board of governors. The discussion involved possible termination of the annual drafting of American League players by the National League and Western Hockey League players by the American League. No positive action was taken, however.

PRAIRIE STORM FORCES HOCKEY POSTPONEMENT

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Western Hockey League game scheduled to be played here Tuesday night by Winnipeg Warriors and Calgary Stampeders was postponed because of the fierce blizzard that struck Winnipeg early Tuesday.

Al Leader, president of the WHL, said it was the first postponement he could recall since a game was set back at New Westminster about three years ago.

The two clubs involved will work out a new date for the game.

Pop Can't Do Job If Boys Don't Help

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Frank "Pop" Ivy of Chicago Cardinals has run out of patience—he's reading the riot act to his players in no uncertain terms.

The usually easygoing coach is genuinely angry over the performance of the Cardinals, who have lost three games and tied one in their last four starts and now have a 2-5-1 record in the National Football League.

"It's a shame for kids to perform like we have lately," said Ivy, who is just now beginning to know how it feels to be a losing coach.

Ivy, an end with the Cardinals in their post-war heyday, was assistant coach at Oklahoma when the Sooners were unbeaten in 31 straight games. At Edmonton, his Eskimos won three Grey Cups.

"Losing is something new to me and it's awfully hard to take," Ivy said. "I never had these kind of problems in Canada.

"I came here to do a job and I intend to get it done!"

Peace Vacates Olympic Village

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another squabble involving the 1960 Winter Olympic Games broke out Tuesday. The director of the Olympic village quit and a member of the village advisory committee followed him out.

Ted Michel, 32, resigned as director of the village being built at Squaw Valley, Calif., for the Games. He blasted officials for improper planning.

He drew an equally sharp retort from planners who declared Michel had been in the United States only eight months and was "not suited to be the No. 1 official in the Olympic village setup." Michel is a native of Poland.

Then in Portland, Ore., Richard Kohnstamm said there was incompetency in planning for the Olympics and resigned as a member of the advisory committee, a group of six.

He said he was appalled at the "complete lack of planning in accommodations."

The Winter Olmpics are scheduled to open on Feb. 18, 1960.

Robert L. King, executive director for the Games, said the accommodations will be the best for any winter Olympics.

He is the third Olympic planning employee to leave. The others were Alan Bartholemy, technicolor director, and Roger Thompson, assisfant public relations director.

Thorpe Makes Grade

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Jim Thorpe, famed athlete who died in 1953, has become the 16th Indian to be selected for the National Indian Hall of Fame. Directors of the hall, located near Anadarko, Okla., selected Thorpe Monday.

Lofthouse Fit; Leads British

LONDON (AP)—Centre forward Nat Lofthouse, fit again after an ankle injury, Monday was named leader of England's soccer attack for the game against Wales on Nov. 26.

Injuries to left winger Tom Finney and inside left Johnny Haynes forced England's selectors to make changes.

TB Fires Curve At Schoendienst

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst, Milwaukee Braves' veteran second baseman, has been knocked out of major league baseball by tuberculosis.

Doctors said Tuesday night the star second baseman probably will not be able to play next year. They are optimistic about a full recovery.

Schoendienst's wife, Mary, said he is "in very good spirits and determined to play again."

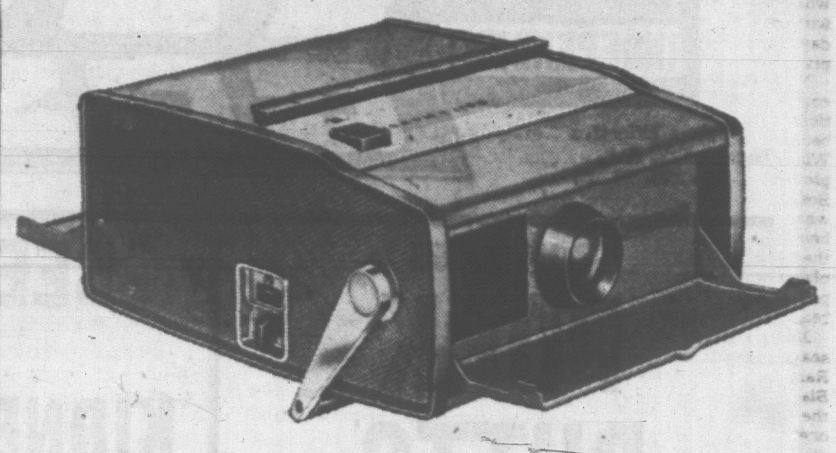

REST REQUIRED

Dr. Ray Martin said: "He's a sick man and needs bed rest." He made no prediction on how long it would take Schoendienst to recuperate other than saying he probably would not play next year.

The 35-year-old Schoendienst, in the majors for 13 years, led the Braves to their 1957 world championship. He was bothered virtually all this last season with a chest cold which developed into pleurisy. He also injured a rib and broke a finger. As a result he batted only .262.

In spite of the rundown condition, Red cast off fat and played a splendid 1958 world series, batting .300 and fielding well.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Charles (Sonny) Liston, 211, Philadelphia, stopped Ernie Cab, 211½, Brooklyn, 5.

BLUE DOTTED PIG FAIR FEATURE

Disappearing Spots Yet!

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of visitors to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair are staring at a blue-botted pig that can be eaten and whose breeders think will be around for a long time.

The pig, from the Tweddle Farms at Fergus, Ont., is one of the biggest sideline attractions at the eight-day agricultural and livestock fair, scheduled to end Saturday.

Jack Tweddle, an importer and breeder, said Tuesday large crowds are showing steady interest in his odd animal, a cross between a Landrace boar and Large Black English sow.

DISAPPEARING DOTS

The pig's blue dots—concentrated mainly around the rump and neck—disappear before its carcass is cut up and shipped off to the housewives.

The spots on the white-haired animal are caused by skin pigmentation and after slaughter the skin is as white as any pure white pig, Mr. Tweddle explained.

He said colored breeds of pigs are more suitable to outdoor keeping because they can resist sun scald, cold and skin diseases. The blue-dotted variety, first developed in England, also provides good milking mothers, large litters, hybrid vigor and good livability.

The sow on display, born in February, 1957, has already given birth to 32 pigs in less than a year.

About one-fifth of all the world's forests are on the continent of Africa.

HOW TO CATCH OCTOPUS—JUST LET IT GRAB YOU

VANCOUVER (CP)—The secret of successful octopus-hunting is to allow the prey to catch the hunter, says Len Erlandsen, skin-diver, who has had considerable experience in the sport.

"The idea is to float over the octopus until it comes up and grabs you," he said. "After that it is just a matter of surfacing and getting untangled."

Erlandsen and three other divers recently caught two 50-pounders in about 65 feet of water. One was given to Vancouver Aquarium and the other was cooked for dinner.

"After three hours in the pot it is just like cod," said Erlandsen.

Mental Health Fight Needs More Community Interest

About $38 per patient is spent each year on cancer research but only 64 cents per patient on research into mental illness, a public meeting at the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club was told Tuesday.

George Kenwood, executive secretary of the B.C. division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, added that besides money for research other sums were "urgently needed" across Canada for more mental hospital staff and for beds.

"We need money in every direction—at least six cents from each person if we are going to do the right job next year."

Mr. Kenwood said one in every 22 persons in B.C. was admitted to a mental hospital last year, while a third of [illegible] to be re-admitted.

He said there was "a great need for more community interest in mental health problems" and for more volunteers at regional health clinics. But most of all the CMHA was looking for trained staff.

Massey, Governors Here Thursday at 3

His Excellency Right Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, faces a busy schedule during his centennial visit to Victoria, starting at 3 p.m. Thursday.

He will arrive at the Black Ball ferry dock in Inner Harbor aboard HMCS Crescent, senior ship of the RCN Pacific Command's Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

Travelling from Vancouver in Crescent with the governor-general will be Frank L. Bastedo, lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan, and John J. Bowlen, lieutenant-governor of Alberta.

Mr. Massey will be met by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor Percy Scurrah and the honorary aides-de-camp, Lt.-Col. W. J. Mosedale and Supt. C. B. Macdonell, RCMP.

INSPECTS GUARD

After inspecting the naval guard of honor, the governor-general will proceed to the Empress Hotel, which serves as the residence of Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will preside at a dinner that evening given by the Province of B.C.

TO ROYAL ROADS

Friday at 10 a.m. the vice-regal party will leave the Empress Hotel for the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads. Honorary aide-de-camp in attendance will be Commodore Harold Groos.

The Governor-General will address the cadets at a wings parade, and will tour the college and grounds.

At noon Mr. Massey will be guest at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel, given by the municipalities of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich.

Mayor Scurrah will preside.

ART GALLERY TOUR

The Governor-General will be conducted on an hour's tour of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery, at 2.30 p.m., by president Tony Emery and curator Colin Graham.

The party will leave the art gallery for the harbor at 3.40 p.m., and at 3.50, Mr. Massey will inspect a guard of honor provided by the PPCLI.

Return to Vancouver will be in HMCS Fraser, leaving at 4 p.m.

5,000 JOBS

360 Tugboats In Coastal B.C. Waters

CHEMAINUS—The towboat industry in B.C. has come a long way since the first tugs made their appearance in the late 1800s, Ian MacLeod, manager of Straits Towing, told the Rotary Club here.

First tugs made their appearance around 1875, he said, and were used mainly for bringing sailing ships in and out of harbor.

Today there are 360 tugs operating in coastal B.C. waters. The industry employs 5,000 persons and has an annual payroll of more than $20,000,000.

The tugs range from small 50-horse power craft, used mostly for boom and harbor work, up to 2,400-horse power ships. Very versatile, they do general harbor and boom work, fast-water towing, log hauling, and handle scows, barges and salvage work.

FREIGHT SHIPPING

While tugs did mostly log towing in the old days, today they do the greatest portion of freight shipping in B.C.

"There are over 500 scows in operation in B.C. today," he said. "The scows and barges are the trailers of our industry. They carry non-perishable goods, cement, ore, chips, and other cargoes."

Communications play an important part in towboating. The towboat industry was one of the first in North America to realize the importance of radio-telephone and has been using it since 1925. The industry also has played an important part in developing navigational aids.

Mr. MacLeod said that in years to come the towboat industry will become one of the biggest industries in the province and will play an important part in the development of B.C.

WIND PERMITTING

Big Fire Tonight Atop Tolmie

Only dangerously high winds could force cancellation of the centennial bonfire atop Mount Tolmie tonight.

The bonfire will be lit at 7 p.m. by Mayor Percy Scurrah and Saanich Reeve George Chatterton even if it rains and spectators have to sit in their cars, said Mrs. Avis Walton.

Mrs. Walton appealed to motorists attending the British Columbia Day event to park their cars on Richmond in order to prevent a major traffic snarl.

Deputy municipal affairs minister Everett Brown will plant a blue spruce tree at the top of the mountain, where a rockery is planned, at 8 p.m.

Jerry Gosley and several performers in his Smile Show will lead community singing around the bonfire. Youngsters helping collect material for the blaze will be treated to hot dogs and hot drinks in homes on the mountain.

The bonfire, expected to be visible for miles, will last two hours.

TURNIP 'RUSH' PAID OFF

One of the strangest stories of Quesnel is that of the "turnip rush."

To avoid scurvy from the rough trail diets, in 1860 miners flocked to the farm of Norwegian settler Charles Danielson, who grew a patch of turnips. They paid between 25 cents and $1 for each turnip, and the vegetable patch was more productive than many a rich river bed. Danielson cleared $3,000.

GLOOMY PREDICTIONS FALL SHORT

Book Reading Holding Its Own, Says Massey

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) Governor-General Massey cut a ribbon opening this city's spacious new public library today and said the occasion showed predictions that reading would become old-fashioned have not come true.

"There have been many people in the last decade who have gloomily predicted that the reading of books would become as old-fashioned as driving a horse and buggy," Mr. Massey told the official assembly at the opening ceremonies.

"Movies, radio and television, they said, were the new modern media for the dissemination of information and entertaining, and books would surely lose their place.

"The opening of this new library helps to show us that these predictions are far from coming true as yet. I hope they never will."

The Governor-General, in B.C. for a five-day centennial visit, is known as a champion of literature and the arts. He was chairman of the Royal Commission on National Development in the Arts, Letters and Sciences in 1949-51.

FURTHER PROOF

Mr. Massey told Mayor Fred Jackson and other civil officials there was further proof reading was not a lost art. He was struck by the fact that although New Westminster had only quadrupled its population in 50 years, city's library —first municipal public library established in B.C.—now has 23 times the number of readers it had in 1908.

The Governor-General paused to open the library while en route to ceremonies at historic old Fort Langley where B.C. was proclaimed a colony 100 years ago today.

FUTURE IN SPACE

In Vancouver Tuesday, Mr. Massey told B.C.'s school children they may find their future in space.

He spoke of the past, present and the future in a talk to thousands of school children who listened at radios in classes all over the province.

He said they would have heard much of the pioneers, discoverers and statesmen who had made British Columbia great.

"Today I ask you to look to the future—your future in this province as part of Canada, as part of the Commonwealth and as part of the world.

"Perhaps you may even have to go beyond that, and find your future in space."

The governor-general said much was heard these days about the need for more scientific teaching. But if every student became a scientist the future would be lopsided.

"Our civilization," he said, must be defended by the many devices which the scientists create. But we must be sure that what we defend must be abundantly worth defending."

Home Movie Club To Discuss 'Titling'

Alphabet soup, food coloring and newspaper clippings can be artfully combined to make clever — and cheap — home movie titles.

"Titling" is the subject of Victoria Amateur Movie Club's public meeting Thursday, at 8 p.m., in the public library, and anyone who owns a movie camera is invited to take part.

Club members will demonstrate the equipment, technique and materials needed for easy, low cost and effective titles to smarten the appearance of home movies.

To illustrate, the club will use a popular cartoon strip from The Times as the foundation for a title.

An untitled movie will be shown at the start of the meeting and during the demonstration the film will be provided with appropriate titling.

The same movie — with titling — will be shown at the end of the meeting.

ROUGH TOWN AT OUTSET

Victoria: Centre Of Loose Living

Cultured and well-mannered, the Vancouver Island which visitors see today is still young and vigorous, but possessing a quiet, matured personality.

But is wasn't always that way. The Island's boisterous early years were scarred with Indian troubles, rough living, trade and social rivalries and international disputes.

While Victoria, her first settlement, enjoyed fame as the greatest trading centre of the Pacific Northwest, it was known also as a centre of loose living.

In her year of incorporation, 1862, dance halls abounded and there were 60 saloons on Victoria's streets. Famed English dignity and propriety were unknown that year—the year the first bride ship landed and lonely men chose mates as the girls walked down the gangplank.

That was how settlement started, and from there it moved slowly up-Island.

Sooke, Metchosin and the Saanich peninsula became settled areas. They even had their own little gold rush, which drew 5,000 to Leechtown in 1864 before it petered out. Then, the earth turned to production of turnips.

Esquimalt's future was assured in 1865 when the Royal Navy set up a base there. Officers brought out their wives from England and the navy town was born.

LINE FAILED

Sidney came into being in 1894 after steel was brought around Cape Horn from England to build a railway between Victoria and Bazan Bay. But the railroad failed after 25 years, and industry moved to Victoria.

Nanaimo's coalfields were discovered in 1849 and the Hudson's Bay Company shipped 480 barrels in 1852.

The town grew swiftly. It was incorporated as a city in 1874, and 12 years later was linked with Victoria by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway, taken over by the CPR in 1904 and extended to Port Alberni and the Comox Valley.

Duncan and the Cowichan area settlement began in 1857. Some 70 pioneers shipped into Cowichan Bay in 1862, and homesteaded in Quamichan, Somenos and Shawnigan.

First white settlement in the Alberni occurred about 1861, and by the turn of the century, agriculture was overtaken by lumbering. Ladysmith grew from coal discovered 11 miles away in 1898. The coal boom lasted 17 years, aided by discovery of gold and copper on Mount Sicker. Growth was slow until Ladysmith became a logging centre in 1936.

The Indian word Komox means land of plenty, and developers of Comox, Courtenay and Cumberland found 'plenty' the Indians hadn't dreamed of. Coal seams, forests and the soil all yielded wealth.

With the arrival of the CPR's trans-Canada lines at Port Moody in 1887, major development in B.C. shifted to the lower mainland. The island became known round the world as a wonderful place to live.

Surprise! Reds Win 'Election'

BUDAPEST (AP) — Communist-backed candidates in Hungary's election — the only set on the ballot—won by a majority of 99.6 per cent, it was announced Tuesday.

It was the first vote since the 1956 anti-Soviet revolt.

Of the 6,600,686 eligible, the official news agency, MTI, said 6,493,680 voted.

There were only 28,651 votes officially recorded against the 338 official candidates for parliament, and 32,100 voters spoiled their ballots.

The only choice they had was to approve the single ticket—70 per cent of them Communists — or mark their dissent in a tiny circle.

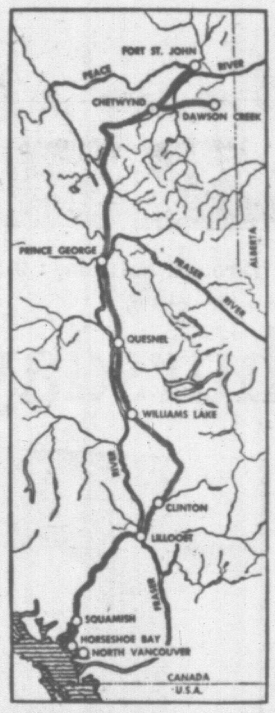

City Artists' Exhibition Seen by 150

Miss Emily Sartain, noted painter of Canadian flowers, and Edward Goodall, well-known Canadian landscape artist, both of Victoria, held a joint exhibition of their work in the main lounge of the Qualicum Beach Inn last Friday.

The exhibition, held under the auspices of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, owners of the Inn, was formally opened by Mrs. H. R. MacMillan.

It was attended by more than 150 visitors, many of them from Campbell River, Courtenay, Duncan and Nanaimo.

Meeting the next century with the throttle wide open

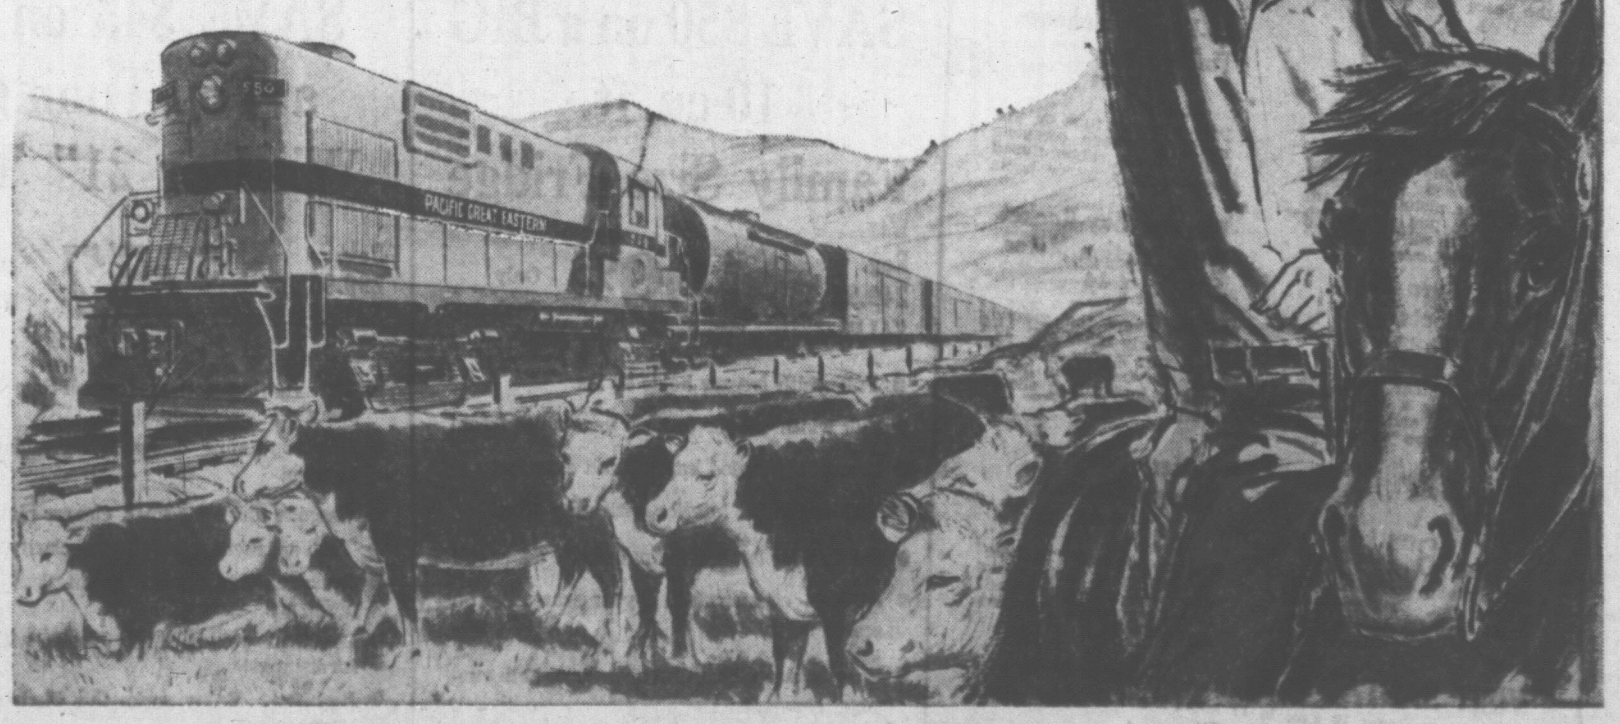

1958 has been a significant year for British Columbians. A year in which we have celebrated our first dynamic century. And a century to be remembered — crowded with bold adventure and spectacular success!

To the loggers, miners, farmers and businessmen of British Columbia's Northlands, 1958 has been a year of thundering reality! For this is the year the modern Pacific Great Eastern Railway completed its extension between Prince George and Fort St. John and Dawson Creek — final link connecting B.C.'s vast regions of oil, natural gas, lumber, wheat and minerals, with Vancouver's booming seaboard, and the world's richest markets.

Today, the Pacific Great Eastern Railway looks on 1958 as the horizon of future challenge — eager to serve British Columbians as we bite into the next even more promising and dramatically developing century!

Supermarkets Labelled 'Sweatshops'

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Local supermarkets have been described as "sweat factories" by Doug Gibson, business agent of the Retail Clerks' Union.

"I've never seen such pressure in my life against employees," he told the Vancouver Labor Council Tuesday. "And I hope some of them get some guts and come forward to speak their piece."

Mr. Gibson said negotiated wage increases have been eliminated by supermarkets, male staffs reduced and more women hired at lower rates.

A recent suvey, he said, showed that while men made up half of supermarket staffs two years ago, there now are twice as many women working as men.

"Worse than that, they are bringing in more and more students as part-time help."

INJURIES FATAL

VANCOUVER—Mrs. Winnifred Hewer, 73, of Vancouver, died in hospital Tuesday night, 29 hours after she was hit by a car during a sleet storm. Her death brought to 29 the number of persons killed in traffic accidents in Vancouver this year.

'MALICIOUS RUMOR'

VANCOUVER — A report made Tuesday by two officials of the International Woodworkers of America disclaims charges that B.C. leaders of the union "betrayed the interests of the membership" in this year's no-wage-increase settlement with the coast lumber industry.

J. E. Dicey, IWA first vice-president, and Claud Ballard, second vice-president, dismissed the charges, alleged to have been made in a controversial election campaign in the union's Vancouver local, as "malicious rumor."

A slander suit has been brought against one of the junior candidates for office by district president Joe Morris, union president Lloyd Whalen and financial secretary Stuart Hodgson.

TREES SHIPPED

CRANBROOK—The season's first rail loads of Christmas trees left this southeastern community this week for points in Kansas and Iowa.

About 500,000 trees are expected to be shipped from Cranbrook. Some will go to Vancouver this year, marking the first time an east Kootenay point has shipped trees to the coast.

BOY DIES

FORT ST. JOHN—Richard Reister, 11, of Fort St. John, died Tuesday in hospital at Edmonton of acute encephalitis, probably associated with pneumonia.

The boy, flown to Edmonton Monday, had been originally described as being in a diabetic coma when his doctor requested transfer.

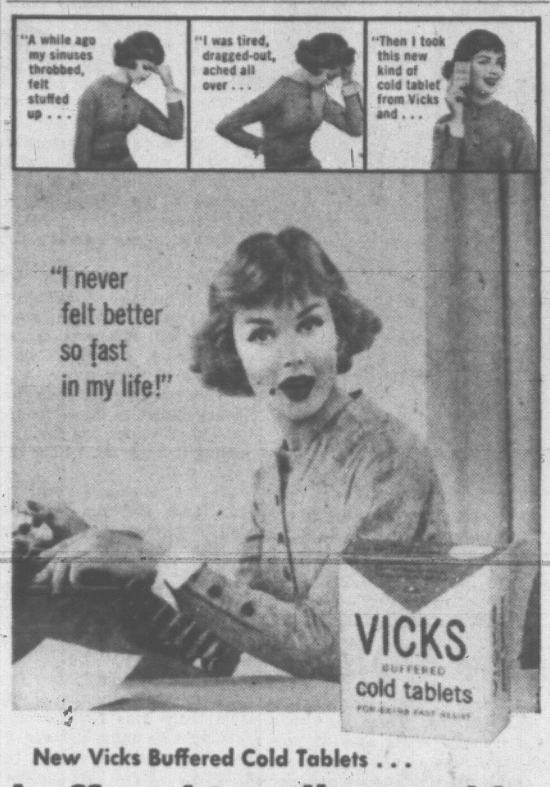

'ILLITERATE' YEGGS GET $1,000 HAUL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Helen Lazzari put this note on the safe at the fuel company office where she works:

"Attention, safecrackers: Only papers are kept in this safe. We keep our money in the bank. Thank you."

When she opened the office Tuesday the safe was open and $1,000 was gone. Beneath her type-written note, the safecrackers had used her own typewriter to add:

"Can't read."

$45 Stolen In Assault On Woman

A 72-year-old assault and robbery victim awoke today with the memory of a late Tuesday afternoon attack still vivid in her mind.

Miss Emily E. Nicol, 905 St. Charles, was robbed of her Christmas shopping money, amounting to $45, and personal papers in a handbag snatched from her on St. Charles at the foot of Regent. The attack took place across the street from her apartment house.

"I didn't sleep much last night," the woman said today.

She touched her head where the purse-snatcher struck her with his hand and complained of a sore neck as a result of being spun to the pavement and left with her head resting on the curb.

'I LAY THERE'

"He went up Regent. I lay there for a minute stunned. I remember moaning before I got up.

"He just seemed to have the touch, kept behind me all the time," Miss Nicol said.

The woman had been returning from a neighborhood grocery store where she went at 4.45 p.m. She stopped to talk to a friend for several minutes before reaching Regent to cross St. Charles to her own door.

Police were called at 6.05 p.m. by another occupant of the apartment building.

Liquor Laws Defied Club Owner Charges

Brandy-loving Louis and Wah Wong
"Call me a lawyer!"

Scurrah Accused Of Pussy-Footing

A Victoria dance hall operator today charged Mayor Percy Scurrah was "pussy-footing" with a complaint he had sent to city council that liquor laws are not being enforced in the city.

Robin Smith, operator of the "13-13 Club" at 1313 Government, made the accusation.

He said the mayor promised him the complaint would be discussed at last Thursday's council meeting. Instead it was referred to the police commission.

MAYOR ABSENT

Mayor Scurrah, back today from a 10-day trip to eastern Canada, replied:

"I wasn't at the council meeting Thursday so I couldn't do anything about having council discuss it. I have no control over council when I'm not present."

Mr. Smith said his complaint was that Police Chief John Blackstock had not even replied to two letters which alleged unlicensed clubs were flouting liquor laws.

"The mayor told me he did not want any publicity on the matter until Thursday's council meeting because it would be discussed then," he said. "A letter from the city also clearly said my complaint would be brought up at the council meeting."

"I don't think it's an intelligent way to handle a complaint of this nature if it is going to be received and filed and not acted upon."

Mr. Smith's original letter to Chief Blackstock was sent Sept. 23.

'ENCOURAGING'

It complained that several unlicensed clubs are "encouraging" liquor consumption on their premises by "supplying ice and mixers at bootleg prices.

"This seems to me to be a flagrant defiance of the law. It also seems to be an injustice for me to have to comply with this law when others are openly defying it," he said.

He concluded his letter to Chief Blackstock with thanks "in anticipation that the sense of justice which you have so forthrightly displayed in other matters, will prevail in this case."

NO REPLIES

Chief Blackstock did not reply to the letter. Nor did he answer a second letter asking for a reply, Mr. Smith said.

Mr. Smith then wrote city council saying that "there should be no doubt or delay in dealing" with the situation.

"I sincerely trust that the council will consider it a duty to remedy this situation," he said in his appeal to council for action.

This was the letter Mayor Scurrah said would be discussed by council, Mr. Smith added.

"Instead he seems to be pussy-footing the whole complaint."

Mr. Smith said he employed a special constable in his club at a cost of $2,000 annually to prevent any drinking but many customers asked him with surprise why they couldn't drink at his club when they could at others.

LAW DEFIED

As a result, he made a personal investigation and found that the law was being defied, he said.

"I don't want a liquor licence but I personally feel that the liquor board should give them to clubs that want them," he said.

"However, so long as the law forbids drinking in those clubs I think it should be enforced."

Chief Blackstock declined comment.

"I'm not going to say a word. I'll make my report to the police commission," he said.

Mr. Smith said he sent similar letters to Oak Bay and Saanich police. Oak Bay council referred the matter to its police commission. Saanich police replied that they would make an investigation.

DARRELL POPHAM
... car skidded on ice.

Ex-Shamrock Star Hurt In France

Darrell Popham, former Shamrock lacrosse star, was seriously injured in a car accident in France, where he is serving with the RCAF.

A radar control officer with the rank of flying officer, he was driving from his home to work at the RCAF base in Metz, when his car is believed to have skidded on ice and hit a tree. The mishap occurred at 7.30 in the morning.

UNCONSCIOUS

FO. Popham suffered injuries to the face and chest, and the last information received here was that he was still unconscious. He is being treated in the U.S. Army hospital at Lundstell, Germany.

He is remembered as a star forward of the Shamrocks in 1950 and 1951. His father is Arthur Popham, 2140 Cadboro Bay Road. He is married, with two children.

The family suffered another blow last Saturday when FO. Popham's grandfather, Frederick James Popham, died in hospital.

MONTE ROBERTS

This is the sad, but luckily short, story of an ambitious young writer who wished to produce a masterpiece for presentation on stage, screen, radio and television.

The ambitious young writer approached his project with the correct attitude; he did a considerable amount of research, and he analyzed the successful plays of stage, screen, etc., and he came to the conclusion an off-beat approach was essential.

Looking over the list of currently successful dramatic productions, the young playwright decided one of the most important ingredients was the Title of the Play.

The Title, he reasoned, should be provocative, intriguing, attention-getting, and above all, have nothing whatsoever to do with the play.

So he repaired to his attic room (all ambitious young playwrights live in attic rooms) and he thought and he thought and he thought.

And then, in an inspirational flash, came the title for his masterpiece:

"THE LOOF."

Ahah, thought the ambitious young playwright, no agent, no producer, could resist a play with the intriguing title of: "THE LOOF."

So our hero sat himself down before a typewriter, and he typed out the title "THE LOOF," and followed it by three acts of a play, involving several characters and situations which escape me at the moment.

Suffice it to say, he took the play (you remember it is called "THE LOOF") to an agent, and the agent agreed to read it, and to send back a report.

In due course, the ambitious young playwright received the report from the agent, which read, in toto:

"THE LOOF REEKS."

As it happened to be raining at the time, the ambitious young playwright was prudent enough to take his umbrella with him when he went around the corner to the nearest restaurant, where he enjoyed a chilled grease sandwich.

First Step Towards Water Tunnel

Greater Victoria Water Board today took the first step in preparing for construction of a proposed five-mile tunnel at Japan Gulch.

It approved construction of an access road at the Goldstream end of the multi-million-dollar project.

Cost of the access road will be $34,000, including $22,000 labor cost on which the federal government is expected to pay a share under its new winter employment program.

The tunnel project, designed to increase the water supply substantially and shorten the supply line distance from Sooke Lake by about 25 miles, is not expected to start until about 1960.

But water commissioner Ronald Upward told the board that once access roads were built, construction of the tunnel could start at a month's notice.

OFFER FOR PARROT'S DOMAIN

Has 'Lord Louis' Heard of This?

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

A Victoria man—not a bird lover—has offered to buy that famous property on Courtney Street that is ruled by Louis, the cantankerous 100-year-old brandy-drinking parrot.

The present owner, Doug Abrams of New Westminster, confirmed today that he has had an offer from Victoria but would not reveal the name of the bidder.

"Is he a bird lover? he was asked.

"No, no!" said Mr. Abrams, "this is strictly business. I will let you know if the deal goes through."

The snag is that the main part of the property is under lease to Louis the parrot and cannot be altered or torn down as long as he lives.

And Louis, it is said, could live to be 200!

Mr. Abrams, a Vancouver hotel proprietor, bought the property five years ago with the idea of building a $155,000 apartment block on the site, which stands just across the street from the RCMP headquarters and just a block from the Empress Hotel.

Then he learned that the former owner, Miss Victoria Wilson, who died in 1949, had designated in her will that Louis must live out his days on the estate.

Daily Ration of Favorite Brandy

She also willed that Louis must receive a daily ration of his favorite brandy. Her faithful manservant, Wah Wong, was entrusted with the care of Louis and his brandy.

Wah Wong told Mr. Abrams that Louis, a South American macaw, could live another century.

Lawyers looked into the matter of the macaw and the $440,000 estate and all came to the same conclusion—Louis would have to die (naturally) before Mr. Abrams could build.

So Mr. Abrams put the property on the market and is now negotiating for a sale.

The property, surrounded by a high weather-beaten fence, contains five of the choicest lots in the heart of the city. There are rambling, flower-decked paths, a turreted old mansion, 80 birds, a mossy concrete wishing well and a sundial.

And they will stay that way as long as Louis lives!

The main lot is leased to Louis, and the mansion and adjoining aviary must not be touched while he lives. But parts of the mansion—outside Louis' domain—are occupied by tenants who moved in when the house was divided into six suites in 1950.

Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sutherland who have occupied a suite on the ground floor since 1954.

'Seems To Be Crotchety Old Bird'

Surprisingly, Mr. Sutherland has seen the brandy-drinking parrot only once.

"He seemed to be a rather crotchety old bird and Wong told me he seldom talks before his brandy."

"Does he swear at all?"

"Oh, no," said Mr. Sutherland, "he is obviously a very cultured parrot, brought up in a refined atmosphere, and Wong caters to all his wants. We seldom hear him."

Some 80 finches, canaries, pheasants and other many-hued birds live in the aviary and all of them know Mr. Wong as a friend.

Louis has a 58-year-old parrot companion, Morrie. There was another, aged about 70, but it died.

Mr. Wong says Louis gets less friendly as the years go by and dislikes visitors. His brandy diet is rounded out with walnuts, almonds and hard-boiled eggs.

He is lord of his domain.

Painters Hurt When Spark Ignites Fumes

Painters touched an electrical outlet in a fume-filled living room and received hand burns in the resulting flash fire Tuesday afternoon.

Saanich firemen were called to a new house being decorated at 2547 Vista Bay, where fumes from paint thinner and solvent were touched off by an electric spark to cause an estimated $200 damage.

Before the fire the house was nearly ready for occupancy, Fire Chief Joseph Law said.

The painters were Harvey Moran, Victoria Auto Court, and Walter Legare, 1114 Kingston whose burns were not serious. They were employed by Island Construction Ltd.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Mothers now hauling winter clothes out of mothballs are blamed indirectly for a number of near-napthalene poisonings treated at Jubilee Hospital.

Youngsters finding mothballs or moth crystals lying around are tempted to eat them, a nurse explained, and in a recent day three cases were handled.

Usually the child's stomach is pumped before any damage is caused by the moth-killing chemical.

William D. Harrold, 2860 Prior, found a visit to the YMCA with his son Tuesday night a pretty costly outing.

He told city police he left his street clothes in an unlocked locker and when he returned from a workout in the gym someone had taken $35 from his wallet.

Every Victoria Daily Times carrier has had his bike readied for winter driving through the efforts of the three Greater Victoria Optimists clubs—two in the city and one in Oak Bay.

The clubs provided red safety tape to go on the rear fenders of the youngsters' bikes. Reflecting a red glow from car headlights, it warns drivers of a cyclist ahead.

Part of the money required for the project was raised through the sale of Christmas trees.

Three 'Orange Ships' Dash To Reach Race Rocks First

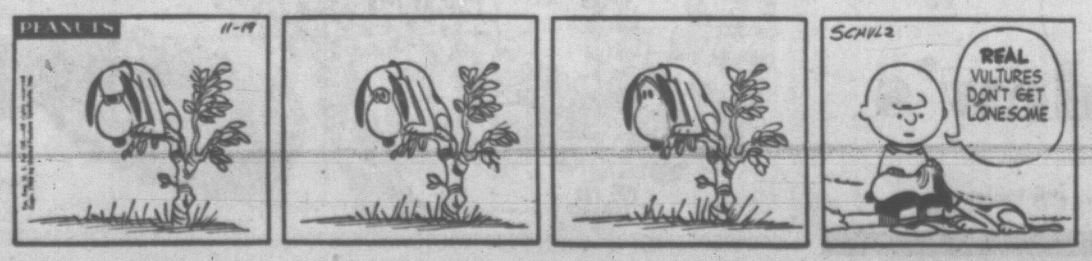

Three fast freighters are in an informal race across the Pacific, to decide which will be the first to land mandarin oranges at Victoria for the Christmas trade.

All three are less than a day's sailing apart, and the "winner" will dock here Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Ships are Ss. Colorado, Mitsibushi Maru, and Georgia Maru. First to reach Race Rocks will come in to Ogden Point; the other two will proceed through to Vancouver.

A total of 40,000 boxes will be off-loaded here, with a second consignment of 28,000 boxes expected two weeks later.

Victoria agent for the "orange ships" is King Bros. Ltd.

ASK The TIMES

Q. In the last world series, Milwaukee led New York 3 to 1, but the Yanks came from behind to win. Would you please let me know the number of similar situations occuring in previous world series games?—E.K.

A. Until Yankees' comeback last October, only two other teams in the series have come back after trailing 3-1. In the first series, 1903, Pittsburgh led 3-1 but Boston Red Sox came back to win four straight (then a best-of-nine series). In 1925 Washington led 3-1, but the Pirates won the best-of-seven playoff by taking the last three games.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Home cooking and candy were sold by Pat Fleming, Joan Thom, Glad Tonning and Carol Griffiths, Cathedral Girls' Auxiliary. A program of recorded music was in charge of Mrs. L. Small.

James Bay Junior W.A., under direction of Mrs. R. Webster, had a stall of home cooking. Members of the branch assisted in serving. Decorations were in charge of Miss Dorothy Lucas.

Mrs. Brian Whitlow and Mrs. F. Laughlin, president of the branch received the guests. Approximately $600 was raised for W.A. work.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Daughters aghast at mother's remarriage:

My mother, who is 72 years (young), is to be married to a man 78. She never told my two sisters or me about it, but did tell our brother and his wife. Don't you think she was mean? We suspected something yesterday when we discovered her new diamond ring in place of Dad's three-stone ruby ring that she had been wearing. Even though we feel let down, what is our duty? We would like to do something, but what would be appropriate and proper? We all have nice homes. Is a wedding gift in order? Should we entertain after the ceremony, and, if so, how?

Louise

Louise Davis answers:

I don't think your mother was mean. No doubt she was dreading to tell her daughters for fear you might resent another man coming into her life. She probably thought it was easier to tell a daughter-in-law who is an outsider as far as blood is concerned, and she probably figured that your brother would accept the news without resentment. She took the line of least resistance, but it was blind thinking, for facts had to be faced and she might as well have told you at the same time. Yes, offer your services and hospitality. It would be very nice if her children and their families would give a family party afterwards in the form of a tea, a sit-down dinner or a buffet dinner. You might ask her for her preference, then get to work and complete the plans. There is no reason why you shouldn't give a wedding present. It would give your mother another assurance that her children are backing up her wholeheartedly.

TODAY'S RECIPE

SNOWBALL PEACHES

One egg white, ¼ cup sugar, few grains salt, 1½ tablespoons orange juice, ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ teaspoon fresh lemon juice, ¼ cup flaked coconut, 3 canned peach halves, 3 maraschino cherries.

Combine egg white, sugar, salt, orange juice, rind and lemon juice. Place over boiling water and beat with rotary beater 4 to 5 minutes, until mixture stands in peaks. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in half the coconut. Heap into well-drained peach halves, shaping round like a snowball. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Top with a cherry and garnish plate with holly leaves. Makes 3 servings.

BIRKS JEWELLERS

For the Convenience of Your Christmas Shopping You May Shop 4 Ways at BIRKS

IT'S FROM BIRKS for a very merry Christmas

1 YOU MAY PAY CASH

Many of our customers prefer to pay cash at the time they make their purchases. This is, however, only one of several ways in which to shop at BIRKS . . .

2 MONTHLY CHARGE ACCOUNTS

Many other Birks customers find it convenient to use their monthly Charge Account. Those who prefer this method of payment—and have not already opened a Charge Account—are invited to do so in time for Christmas shopping. The few formalities required can be concluded at the counter with a minimum of delay.

3 BIRKS BUDGET ACCOUNTS

Our Budget Account Plan is becoming increasingly popular. On any purchase $15.00 or over a Budget Account may be opened, with Budget Terms as low as 10% down (minimum down payment $5.00) and the balance may be extended over a period as long as 12 months.

4 BIRKS LAY-AWAY PLAN

Under this convenient plan—much favoured by early Christmas Shoppers—you pay a small deposit and the article is held for future delivery. The balance is payable either by further deposits or in one final amount, as you prefer.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Tommy Mitchell, aged 10, of Ritzville, Wash., for his question:

How Big Is a Giraffe?

The giraffe is tall and slender, like a graceful tree. In fact, apart from trees, he is the tallest of all living things. Mr. Giraffe may stand 20 feet high, which makes him taller than three tall men. Mrs. Giraffe is two feet or so shorter than her skyscraper husband.

The body of a giraffe is no bigger than the body of a smallish horse. His great height comes from his long legs and beanpole neck. His neck may be over six feet, longer than a tall man. That same tall man can stand between the giraffe's front legs and have plenty of room to spare. For Mr. Skyscraper's legs may be 10 feet long. His back legs are a little shorter.

Mr. Giraffe may tip the scales at 4,000 pounds, or two tons. Mrs. Giraffe, smaller and more dainty, weighs a mere 1,200 pounds. A big bull giraffe stands about 12 feet at shoulder level, about the same as a large bull elephant.

The most noticeable giraffe feature, of course, is the long neck. It comes as a surprise when we learn that this amazing neck has no more bones than the neck of a cow or horse. These bones are vertebrae, like the bones of the spine. And the giraffe has seven neck vertebrae are very long, long enough to support a six-foot neck.

The giraffe's gaudy coat of mottled brown and yellow stands out vividly when we see him at the zoo. However, at home among his acacia trees he is scarcely noticeable. His coat blends with the dappled sunlight which filters through the boughs in patches of bright light and dark shadow. For his home is Africa, where the sun shines bright.

Likes Tender Treetop Leaves

Like most large animals, the giraffe never eats meat. His favorite food is leaves from the dainty acacia tree. He enjoys the fragile new leaves at the tips and tops of the branches and his long neck is just right for reaching them. He gathers the leaves in bunches, using a tongue which is one and a half feet long to grasp and pluck them.

The giraffe is cud chewer. His food is first swallowed whole. Then he finds a quiet place in which to chew it, a mouthful at a time. A small giraffe may sit or lie down to rest and chew the cud. A big giraffe rarely does this because getting up again is too much trouble. Hunters report that they have crept up on a large giraffe, fast asleep, leaning against a tree.

The giraffe is a gentle animal by nature, both affectionate and intelligent. In the wild he fights other male giraffes and Mama can defend her child, even from the lion. In captivity, the tall and graceful creatures soon become friendly and fond of their keepers.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Merrilee Ritter, age 11, of Rochester, New York, for the question:

What Started Weather Proverbs?

Farmers and shepherds are great ones for watching the skies. Weather is important to them and they want to know what is ahead. Before the days of scientific weather forecasting men tried to guess what weather was in store for them. And a good way to make a guess is to notice what has happened before.

Shepherds noticed that a fine day often came after a red sunset. So they say red at night is the sheperd's delight. Our prevailing winds are the westerlies and most of our weather comes from the west. Heavy clouds in the western sky light up with vivid colors from the setting sun. During the night these clouds may pass overhead, leaving a clear, cloudless sky in the morning.

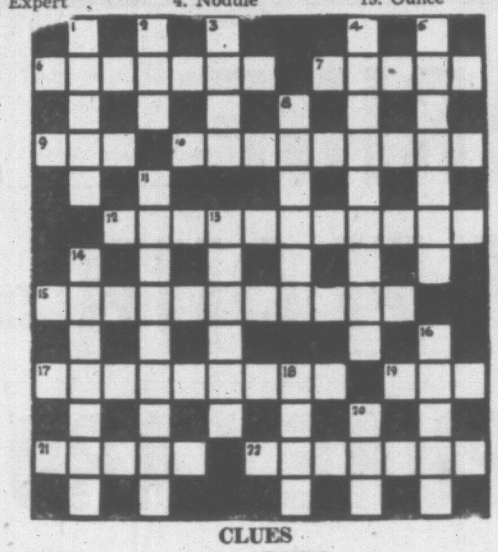

So this proverb is often a good guess. But the weatherman does not even take it into account. He bases his forecast on countless known facts about the atmosphere.

Basketballers Protest Hike In Gym Rent

Victoria Basketball Commission Monday asked the Greater Victoria School Board to maintain the status quo on gymnasium rental rates.

Ivan Temple, commission chairman, aid a proposal to raise school gym rentals from $25 to $50 an evening might kill the basketball league for 150 youngsters and the Victoria College Vikings.

Trustee R. H. Reeve said the rates had to be doubled to meet rising costs since 1951 when the $25 fee was established. He said it was the minimum operating cost.

Trustee Kenneth Leeming said the board did not have authority to subsidize basketball leagues with taxpayers' money.

But the board agreed to consider the commission's appeal for the lowest possible rental fee.

Drinking in Public Costs Fine of $50

John Richard Grealy, 3160 Quadra Street, was fined $50 in Esquimalt police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place.

TO FEED CHILDREN

Sudbury Strikers Starve

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Parents trying to get by in this strike-bound town are going hungry so they can feed their children.

Welfare officials say some of 13,000 workers of the International Nickel Company, on strike since Sept. 24, just can't live on food vouchers and payments supplied by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

The situation grows worse as cold weather settles in at this Northern Ontario community. Many families can't afford to buy fuel.

Welfare operations are being run by Salvation Army Capt. D. Hammond and Rev. J. J. Delaney, in charge of a Roman Catholic aid.

Both agencies cited cases of parents going without food so they could feed their children.

PM May Cancel Tour Over Strike

(See Page 7)

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today considered cancelling the rest of his 54-day world tour if a major rail strike developed in Canada, informed sources said.

Russia Blocks West A-Test Ban Plan

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia slammed the door today on a Western compromise plan to get the deadlocked atom conference down to negotiating a controlled nuclear test ban.

Arson Suspect Nabbed by Drug Squad

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man wanted for questioning in connection with a fatal rooming-house fire here Saturday has been arrested in a raid by drug-squad police. Police had previously issued a pick-up order for the 22-year-old man following a fire downtown that killed Neil MacFarlane.

16 Killed in Pakistan Rail Crash

CHITTAGONG, Pakistan (Reuters)—A speeding mail train plowed into a standing freight at a station today in a rail crash that killed 16 persons and injured 36.

Three U.K. Trains Crash in Fog

LONDON (Reuters)—Three freight trains tangled with each other in a spectacular rail crash in thick fog about 30 miles north of London today. Five railway workers were taken to hospital with slight injuries.

Packers Tie Again, Rough Tilt

MOSCOW (AP)—Canada's Kelowna Packers had to come from behind twice tonight to hold a reinforced Moscow Dynamo club to a 2-2 tie in an exhibition hockey game.

The Packers still are looking for their first win in their exhibition series here. They tied 1-1 Tuesday and lost the first game of the series Sunday 4-3.

Today's affair was a rough one, with tempers and sticks rising high. Despite the roughness, the game was fast, with both teams going all out.

OPENED SCORING

The Russians opened the scoring on a quick break at the 3.20 mark of the first period. Vladimir Yurzinov picked up the puck in his own zone, fired a perfect pass to Yuri Krylov who skated in on Gatherum to score before the Packers could recover.

The Packers jumped to the offensive after that, but sharp fore-checking by the Russian forwards took a lot of pressure off the defence and Chinov.

Jim Middleton finally tied the score at 17.12 of the first period.

Russia's sharper passing paid off early in the second period when Viktor Yakushev, borrowed from Moscow Locomotives for the game, scored on a close-in drive.

The Packers again tied it at 15.19 of that period when Mike Durban, a firebrand all night, blasted a shot through a maze of players in front of the Russian net.

Counsel to Seek Release on Bail

VANCOUVER (CP)—An appeal against the conviction of former forests minister Robert Sommers on conspiracy and bribery charges was filed today in British Columbia Supreme Court.

Angelo Branca, lawyer for the 47-year-old ex-cabinet minister during a 79-day trial which resulted in his conviction, filed the appeal. Grounds for the appeal were not immediately known.

Mr. Branca said he will apply for the former minister's release on bail.

Sommers, who resigned his cabinet post in 1956 and his legislature seat two weeks ago, was sentenced last Friday to five years in prison on a charge of conspiracy and five charges of accepting bribes.

H. Wilson Gray, a timber executive convicted of giving bribes to Sommers, is also appealing his conviction. He, too, was sentenced to five years.

Bail arrangements for Gray were being continued today preparatory to his release from Oakalla Prison.

Bail on the conspiracy charges for which he was sentenced last week was set Tuesday at $20,000 pending an appeal to the next Assizes.

Unemployment Skyrockets 50%

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian unemployment in mid-October was about 50 per cent higher than a year earlier, the government reported today.

The figures in the government's monthly labor survey indicated prospects of a post-war high of jobless that would exceed the previous top of 590,000 set last winter.

* * *

Today's figures showed that at Oct. 18 there were an estimated 313,000 persons without jobs and looking for work, compared with 211,000 a year previously.

MOVED UP

The total had moved up from 271,000 at Sept. 30, on estimates of the bureau of statistics based on a sampling survey of 30,000 households.

Meanwhile, number of persons with jobs dropped to 5,864,000 in October from 5,888,888 in the previous month and from 5,880,000 in October, 1957.

In addition to the estimated jobless, there were in October 16,000 on temporary layoffs.

With the bureau's estimate of actual unemployment, the government released figures on registrations for jobs with the National Employment Service, showing 342,502 persons registered as of Oct. 16.

This compared with 327,112 at Sept. 18 and 278,698 in the corresponding date in October of last year.

In a statement accompanying the figures, the government said that farm employment declined by about 45,000 during the month while employment in other fields went up.

"In non-farm industries," it said, "employment rose by 21,000 reflecting greater activity in logging in British Columbia and Eastern Canada and construction in all regions."

Wives Swell Jobless Total Here

Job situation in the Victoria area today stands "at the worst it has ever been for this time of year," an official of the local branch of the National Employment Service said.

Some 4,129 persons are out of work, compared with 3,900 a year ago.

But the official noted that there were actually 26 fewer men looking for jobs, the record total being boosted by a "fantastically-high" number of women seeking work.

WIVES

"These women registered with the NES are, almost without noticeable exception, wives trying to increase the family income due to uncertain economic conditions."

The peak unemployed total last winter came Jan. 16, 1958, when 5,966 persons were looking for work in the Victoria area, but the January total in 1959 is expected to be considerably lower "because of more construction and other work."

Victoria labor force today numbers 42,700, compared to 42,800 this time last year.

Russian Folk Ignore Blast Of Propaganda

Continuing his account of a lengthy trip throughout Russia, Adlai Stevenson tells how he found hope for the future in many sincere expressions of friendship shown him by common people at the very time official propaganda was pressing a hate America campaign. This is the sixth of a series of articles.

By ADLAI E. STEVENSON

I have been writing mostly about my meetings with Nikita Khrushchev and other Russian rulers—and "rulers" is no exaggeration! Now I want to say something about lesser officials and ordinary people.

We landed in Leningrad at about the same time the Marines landed in Lebanon. This coincidence colored our whole Russian experience and underlined the fact that while North Americans may not be very popular any more in some parts of the world, they still like us in Russia! By "they" I mean the ordinary people.

In Leningrad I even talked to the "man on the street" one evening, something that is not easy to do. It was a mixed group of students and workers. They had gathered in front of my hotel, not to see me, but to examine a strange and wonderful sight—a 1956 Buick.

Their hair was long, their clothes poor, but they were friendly and good-humored, with a ready laugh when I said we hoped to go to Siberia—"and also to return." They were intensely curious about America, our education and living conditions. "How many hours of work to buy this car?" stumped me, but my sons saved me. Some of their eager questions reflected, I thought, obvious mistrust of the information they were getting from their own sources.

When I excused myself to go to bed and left my sons to carry on, I cheerily said something like: "Well, come to see us in America." And the wistful "How?" that greeted me from several eager young men will haunt me a long time.

In Moscow a few days later, the Soviet propaganda machine was running full blast on the Lebanon landing. In diplomatic circles the atmosphere was tense. My old colleague of early UN days, Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, was friendly and courteous, but unrestrained in his criticism of our action.

Meetings were being held in parks and factories to denounce the "American imperialists" and their "attack" on the Arabs. Our able ambassador, Llewellyn Thompson, foresaw a torrent of abuse and trouble in the street. The newspapers announced that Soviet army units would manoeuvre in the Caucasus and Central Asia just as we took off—for Central Asia!

"Central Asia" is a vast area of many peoples larger than all Western Europe. It includes five "republics" in Southern Russia, where they try hard to preserve the fiction of national independence while

Illegal Strike Charged Against IWA Officials

PORT ALBERNI — Glen Hall, manager of Franklin River logging division of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., today charged four IWA officers with causing an illegal strike at the west coast logging operation.

The company spokesman claims that the union officials entered the camp this morning and illegally "countermanded" the company's instructions and prevented truck drivers from reporting to work.

Union officials were reported to have done this because they objected to truck drivers working staggered times, which the company proposed.

In a statement from M & B, it is claimed that through the union's action, it has become impossible to continue normal operation. The company adds further that it intends to operate as fully as possible under the circumstances, but that due to lack of hauling, operations will have to be suspended gradually.

If a settlement is not reached soon, the stoppage will spread throughout the whole operation, and more than 200 men will be affected.

Union officials denied the allegation that they were the cause of the strike, and further denied that there was a work stoppage at the Franklin River operation.

2 Plucked From Death In Lake Ship Tragedy

(From Times News Services)

CHARLEVOIX, Mich.—Two men were found alive today in Lake Michigan, which it was feared had claimed the lives of 33 others from the freighter Carl D. Bradley when she went down in the cold, storm-tossed lake late Tuesday.

Unofficial tabulations indicated 18 bodies had been recovered.

Some veteran seamen expressed amazement even two had survived overnight in 50-degree water in howling gale winds that piled up mountainous waves on the Great Lakes. Air temperature was 40.

The two men rescued were first mate Elmer Fleming and deck watchman Frank Mayes, both of Rogers City, Mich.

They had succeeded in getting onto a life raft when the Bradley broke in two. They were picked up 14 hours later by the Coast Guard cutter Sundew.

NO EXPLOSION

Fleming told the Coast Guard that the ship broke up in heavy seas. He said "there was no explosion."

The Coast Guard withheld questioning either Fleming or Mayes further because the men were suffering from shock and exposure. "They are in poor condition," the Sundew captain said.

At 5.31 p.m. EST, Capt. Roland Bryan, the Bradley's skipper, shouted into his radio. "Mayday, mayday, mayday. This is the Carl D. Bradley. Our position is approximately 12 miles southwest of Gull Island. We are in serious trouble."

Next, a voice was heard: "Run, grab life jackets. Get the jackets. Mayday, the ship is breaking up."

It was after dark and the lake was kicking up mountainous waves from violent winds up to 60 miles an hour.

The German ship Satori was the first vessel to reach the area.

ELMER FLEMING
. . . survives icy water.

The Satori searched for hours with the aid of Coast Guard planes that were sent out to drop magnesium flares to light up the area.

No sign of the ship, wreckage or any survivors was found during the night-long search.

It was not until about 8 a.m. the Sundew spotted the two men.

PLANES IN HUNT

All day long today, planes criss-crossed the area of the sinking searching for signs of survivors and the ships battled the heavy waves in their hunt.

Winds abated somewhat after daylight, but the waters still were whipped by gusts up to 40 miles an hour, hampering the searchers.

WINNIPEG (CP) — More than 100 workers toiled throughout the night to get Winnipeg Stadium ready for tonight's second game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final between Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Extra staff was hired to clear about 700 tons of snow from the playing field, stands and adjacent parking areas.

"We'll be ready for the game," said Stewart MacPherson, general manager of Winnipeg Enterprises.

(The game will be televised on channels 2 and 6, starting at 6 p.m., PST.)

Gale-Force Winds Whip City Tonight

Gale-force winds of up to 35 miles per hour will roar through Juan de Fuca Strait from the east tonight, weatherman William Mackie warned.

The high winds will come with a storm expected to give the city rain from tonight to Thursday noon, Mr. Mackie said.

Milder weather came to the assistance of highways department crews still busy clearing roads in the Cowichan Lake district of the remains of 14 inches of snow that fell there Monday and Tuesday.

Strachan Knocks House 'By-Pass'

Premier Bennett is by-passing parliament in naming a royal commission to investigate B.C.'s Power Commission problems, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today.

While giving "limited endorsation" to such a royal commission, Mr. Strachan said such a step "is not the same as a legislative committee as I proposed."

He pointed out since Social Credit has been in power in B.C. there have been 10 royal commissions and special inquiry investigations.

"The members of the legislature are elected to examine the affairs of the province. It is their responsibility. In by-passing them, Mr. Bennett is again showing his contempt for our provincial legislature, and what it stands for," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Strachan was answering the speech given by the premier at Sidney Monday night, a speech which in Mr. Strachan's words was a "long, disjointed, rambling diatribe."

"I found it difficult to make sense of it," he said.

The premier said he would ask a royal commission to look into his power-financing schemes as well as charges levelled last week by former BCPC manager H. L. Briggs.

The commission is to look into a $15,000,000 cost over estimates in construction of thte BCPC Strathcona Development dam on the Upper Campbell, and "everything else" the premier said.

Mr. Strachan said: "My re-

COURTENAY (CP)—Hugh Morrison, a logging company truck driver, was killed today when his truck skidded off an icy road about 15 miles west of here.

Company officials said Morrison, an employee of Comox Logging and Railway Company, a division of Crown Zellerbach of Canada, was driving a gravel truck near Comox Lake when his vehicle left the road.

Stevenson Reports on Russia

rapidly Russianizing the languages and everything else.

The huge northern Republic of Kazakhstan is the centre of Khrushchev's bold plan to plow up millions of acres of virgin land. This vast new frontier is growing rapidly and the recent immigration from Russia has already reduced the native Kazakhs to a minority.

The Kazakhs look Mongolian. But the peoples of the four southern republics look more like Arabs. They are all Moslems and Russia proudly boasts that she is the fourth Moslem power of the world.

In 1923 Stalin said "the task is to transform Turkestan into a model republic, an advanced post for revolutionizing the East." I wanted to see what had happened in Stalin's "show window" to the East. And what I saw was modern industrial cities, huge farms and the last vestiges of timeless, colorful, oriental Turkestan melting into standard Soviet patterns of industrialization and architectural monotony.

Our first stop was Tashkent, capital of the Soviet Republic of Uzbekistan, 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow. The official welcome, in a temperature of 10 degrees, couldn't have been more hospitable, and we were whisked away to the country VIP guest house of the City Soviet by cheerful officials busily planning to kill us with kindness.

In the car we read the big headlines: "The working people of Uzbekistan are wrathfully protesting the imperialist aggression." But the working people of Tashkent at their airport smiled broadly and clapped their hands when I waved a greeting.

A few days later at Alma-Ata, the lovely capital of Kazakhstan, near the border of China, we read that "all the working people are wrathfully condemning the American aggression against the freedom-loving people of Lebanon." But the working people of Alma-Ata, and everyone else, showed not wrath but warmth. And so it went as we travelled northward into Siberia.

The Middle Eastern crisis certainly aroused fears even in remote Central Asia that events might be drifting toward the war that people in Russia dread as much as we do. I recall especially the worried face of the elderly chairman of a great collective farm, who asked in a low voice, as he was showing me through a children's nursery, if I couldn't "do something." He must have thought I had won the election!

Friendly Faces

Nor will I forget other incidents of that journey through remote Turkestan. In ancient Samarkand, the city of Alexander the Great, Ghengis Khan and Tamerlane, the news of the little American "invasion" spread quickly. The crowds formed everywhere we went, and I will remember the bursts of applause and the friendly Arab faces of the living people of Samarkand longer even than its noble ruins.

Then, while the press and radio screamed imprecations and a mob stormed the American Embassy in far-away Moscow, another mob of beaming Uzbeks in their embroidered black skull caps waited outside the mosque in Tashkent to bid us a smiling, cheering goodbye after luncheon with the Mufti. (Nor will I forget that dignitary's toast when he reminded me of some wise Moslem words: Believe what you see, not what you hear).

Near Alma-Ata we had a gigantic picnic in a grove on a collective farm, with mountains of strange foods in front of us and snow-capped mountains behind us. There were toasts by the score to peace and friendship, as always, and another day of "the people's wrath." But if there was anything wrong with our jolly Mongol and Russian hosts it wasn't wrath.

And the most moving experience of all was in Rubtsovsk, way out on the lonely prairies of Siberia, where they had just held huge indignation meetings about the wicked American "imperialists." The large crowds seemed to always be in front of the hotel. They were reserved and shy, but clapped vigorously at my first sign of greeting whenever we appeared.

Americans Strange

They haven't seen many Americans in Rubtsovsk and I'm sure curiosity had much to do with it. Walking through the crowds, joking with the people, which isn't easy in Russian, the handclasps and smiles were eager and warm. The father of a fat baby said, "We have meat and bread and milk up to our necks—what we want is peace." There, as everywhere, the refrain is peace, peace, peace.

And I won't forget the night in Novosibirsk — the largest city of Siberia with the largest theatre in the country. After the performance when the audience had applauded the performers they suddenly all wheeled around, faced the centre box and applauded us. It was another day of "wrathful indignation" over America's "aggression."

What accounts for the contrast between the friendly people and the savage propaganda? Why didn't they knock us down instead of embracing us? No one is too confident of the answer. Some Russians say their criticism is just of "your ruling clique." But there must be some immunity to propaganda after 40 years, together with an abiding admiration for the United States as the most "advanced" country and also gratitude for our help in the war.

Worlds Apart

The contrast is still more surprising when you consider that these people are cut off from outside information which might help them evaluate what they read in their newspapers and hear on their radio—and that is all they can read and hear. We kept a careful log on foreign broadcasts with a short-wave radio. Never once were we able to hear more than the first few seconds of a Russian-language broadcast from the Voice of America, the BBC, or even the United Nations before the jamming drowned them out. They go to great trouble and expense to see to it that the people hear only one side of a story and to keep them in ignorance of the United States and its motives.

Later I brought this up with Anastas Mikoyan, deputy premier, and pointed out that on our long journey in the interior every American broadcast in Russian was jammed and the newspapers gave no account of our side of the story about Lebanon; that all press reports from Russia by foreign journalists had been censored for years; that large areas of the country were closed to travel by foreigners (although not to me); and that the hope for peace lay in knowledge and communication, not in ignorance and suppression of both.

'Jamming' Continues

His temper rose: If my report was correct and the Voice of America had always been jammed, he said he would send a letter to the minister of communications—a letter of congratulations! For America, he said, was waging "a cold war against the Soviet Union," the State Department officially said so, "it was their main line of behavior," and the Soviet Union had to take steps to counteract it. When the cold war ended the jamming would end, and also the travel restrictions, he said, but as to censorship, the U.S. press frequently "distorts" the facts "which we don't find too pleasant."

Impetuously I replied that for two weeks I had been reading Russian distortions about America's motives in the Middle East which I didn't find pleasant either. And we were off to Donnybrook again!

Evidently one of the important functions of the ministry of communications is to prevent communication. In recent years they have expelled four or five American correspondents, and very recently they shut down the CBS bureau in Moscow because of "anti-Soviet" programs.

Truth Essential

Russia is a lot of people with a single head, and it is all too plain that the channels of communication must be opened if we are to bring about better understanding and mutual trust. An open world is the indispensable ingredient of peace. And on our return to Moscow from Central Asia and Siberia I ended a statement for the press with the suggestion that if we must compete the best place to begin would be in the spread of truth and not falsehood about each other. The Soviet press reported my long statement in full—minus this suggestion.

But there are hopeful signs too—the growth of person-to-person contact through travel, the exchange visits of students and scholars and specialists, and the expansion of cultural relations under the recent treaty. Another is the enthusiasm of people in Russia for more contact and communication with us. Expression of this feeling, like the friendliness, met us everywhere. I think of the ragged little boy in the squalid, narrow alleys of an old Central Asian town, who solemnly asked me to take "friendly greetings to the children of America."

Prodigy Too Much

And I also think of the chess instructor in the House of the Young Pioneers in Alma-Ata (sign over the door said: "Thanks to the Party and the Government for our happy childhood") who wanted me to play a game with his best player. When I asked where he was he said: "Taking his nap; you see he's not quite five years old." I got out of there in a hurry! But not before I asked if the prodigy was a Kazakh. No. A Russian? "No —he's a Korean."

After seeing the anti-American headlines and hearing the radio attacks in a distant place one night, my notes conclude: "If this has been going on for 20 years it is a wonder that we are still at peace." And it is.

So I take hope, above all, in the horror of war and the friendly feeling we found everywhere during those "days of the people's wrath."

LONDON—Wanted: A fat schoolboy under the age of 12 to blow down the spout of a watering can at a Royal Festival Hall concert here Friday.

The watering can plays a perfect "A" note and is needed to tune the orchestra at Gerard Hoffnung's "Inter-Planetary Music Festival."

Jonathan Ashby, 11, discovered the musical can and offered it to Hoffnung—who promptly signed the boy for the concert.

Jonathan is ill however and will be unable to play.

Hoffnung believes the boy performer must be fat because "a watering can needs a lot of puff."

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Judge Clark Olmsted agreed with William Van Dusen when the 70-year-old motorist said he forgot his glasses while driving because he was excited.

Jurge Olmsted suspended a $25 fine after Van Dusen told him his wife was expecting their seventh child.

Van Dusen said he and his wife, Maxine, 30, have six children ranging in age from one to 12 years.

DETROIT—Remember Charlie Spurlock and his squirrel who were buffeted by unemployment, a separation caused by Charlie's jailing on a bad-cheque charge and a threat of permanent separation by imprisonment?

Today Charlie and his squirrel are back together and as inseparable pals as ever.

Spurlock appeared in court Tuesday and was sentenced to two years' probation on the cheque count.

The squirrel wasn't in court for the good news. Spurlock had left the animal with a friend until he learned of his future.

The first thing Spurlock did after leaving court was to reclaim the squirrel.

LONDON—Tarquin Olivier, son of actor Sir Laurence Olivier, was reported today to have discovered the monogram of Dr. David Livingstone carved in the hollow trunk of a giant tree in Portuguest East Africa.

Olivier and fellow Oxford student Quentin Keynes returned recently from an African expedition.

LONDON — Lord Altrincham, a distant cousin and much-publicized critic of Queen Elizabeth, today announced plans to marry an Irish girl with whom he can't find fault.

The peer, who was blasted by thousands of Britons for saying the Queen lacked personality and made speeches like a schoolgirl, said he would wed 27-year-old Marian Campbell before Christmas.

Miss Campbell works in the editorial department of one of several magazines, which Altrincham owns.

Manitoba Digs Out After Storm

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Skies cleared over southwestern Manitoba today and the weather office said no new snow was expected for the next few days as the province struggled to free itself from the worst November storm in its history.

The storm, which dropped up to 20 inches of snow in the southwestern portion of the province and 11 inches on Winnipeg, today was blowing itself out over the wastes of the James Bay area of northern Ontario.

Many rural areas were isolated by the storm, forcing schools to close and bringing business to a standstill.

In Winnipeg, 400 men and 62 pieces of equipment worked to get the capital on its feet again. But city engineer W. D. Hurst estimated that it would take 10 days to clear all city streets.

City officials again urged motorists to leave their cars at home in an effort to speed up snow removal in the downtown area.

Five hunters were reported missing soon after the storm broke. Three were found Tuesday.

U.S. Mine Offices Twice Bombed in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The United States embassy announced today that unidentfied warplanes this week have twice bombed offices and warehouses of the U.S. government-owned Nicaro Nickel Mines on the northeastern coast of Cuba. Damage was reported heavy.

Kelowna Council Bucking Bennett

KELOWNA (CP)—Kelowna aldermen have protested to the provincial government about proposals to establish a new district south of here. Among those promoting the new district is Premier Bennett.

The subject drew heated discussion Monday night at a city council meeting. Aldermen said proposals to establish a district called Guisachan would prevent Kelowna from expanding in orderly fashion.

"If this goes through," said Ald. Arthur Jackson, chairman of the boundary extension committee, "it means any extension of Kelowna to the south will be a straight ribbon development boxed in by Guisachan".

The aldermen sent off letters to Premier Bennett, one of the main property holders and leaders in formation of the new local district, and to the inspector of municipalities.

First indication council had that the formation was under way was in a newspaper advertisement.

MALKIN'S AWARD

"Name the Coffee Blend" Contest Winners

Mrs. J. H. Bird of 5656 Patrick St. S. Burnaby, left, is shown as she accepts a cheque for $5,000.00 from J. E. Malkin, representing The W. H. Malkin Co. Ltd. Mrs. Bird, top winner in the "Name the Blend" Contest included a contest panel with her entry qualifying her for the major prize money.

Mrs. G. Russell of 3804 West 20th Ave., Vancouver, center, receives a cheque for $1,000.00 from Mr. Malkin. Both winners sent in the name selected by the judges, but Mrs. Russell's entry did not include the contest panel specified in the rules of the "Name The Blend" Contest.

"ROOSTER" is winning name

The judges agreed that "Rooster" the name chosen for Malkin's marvellous new blend of coffee best expressed a bright new coffee to start the day in a bright new way. "It's a coffee really worth while crowing about", both prize winners agreed.

Secret of the New Blend's Superb Flavor

Malkin's modern "Thermalo Roaster" inspired the "Name The Blend" Contest. An electronic switchboard is the "brain" of this complex coffee roaster. It is a modern marvel of automation and thermostatic control guiding the coffee automatically through the various stages of the roasting process, from the automatic cleaner which removes every particle of foreign matter from the green coffee as it comes from the plantation, to its gentle roasting by super-heated air to its peak of flavor. The most advanced modern equipment combined with the many year's experience and skill of Malkin's experts in creating fine coffee make this new blend truly outstanding. Your first cup of Malkin's New Blend will tell you it's the ultimate in delicious coffee — mild, flavory and full-bodied with a richness and tempting aroma that's irresistible. Try it today.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—A rare day when you realize that your goals are nearer than you had realized, and that you have but to schedule your time and energies more intelligently to get what you truly want. Be sure you set up an air-tight system.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—By quietly going to those persons you know can give you the right leads and assistance you must have, your lot in life can be greatly ameliorated today, including that of closest ties. It is your duty to see these inspired persons.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—You now can get the moral support of influential, attractive and clever friends, which you sorely need. Be certain to give a clear and honest idea of the reasons behind your activities, and they go all out for you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—A big executive knows exactly how you can earn more and gain greater prestige, and is willing to show you the ropes if you co-operate intelligently. This will open the door to many new opportunities for you. Get on the beam.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—A perfect day for getting started on those new ventures you have had in mind. These are fine, practical ideas and research will give you tools you need. See that you encounter many interesting personalities and widen your vision.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Accurate intuition and long-existing desire combine into a fine mental alchemy that brings greater understanding of those with whom you wish to combine your efforts. Success becomes assured once you are on the path of truth. P.M. be joyous.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—A clever and fast-thinking associate gets the co-operation of friends in helping you reach your goals, collectively. Co-operate quickly and enthusiastically. Success is yours if you are not so bullheaded.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—In early a.m. decide just how you can be more efficient in your labors. Then follow through with good, ingenious ideas for there is a wise higher up who is watching you with an idea for promotion. Work away diligently.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Since your star has you so filled with inspiration today, any new venture you start is bound to meet with infinite success. P.M. is then ideal for affairs of the heart, athletics, entertainment, fun and frolic of all kinds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—A clever member of own family has the good suggestions whereby you can materially add to your present abundance. P.M. is then perfect for regaining the lost affections of one you care for so deeply. Be sweet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Your mind is so full of inspired thoughts, you scarcely know which to work on first. Decide which are the important, then talk things over with brilliant advisor, and plunge in with him or her. Come to real meeting of minds.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Now you have an opportunity to incorporate a new method that will be both time—and energy-saving, more economical and beautifying. P.M. enjoy yourself as most pleases, but give thought to your health, and schedule future hours wisely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

The wonderful child born Thursday will have many, many talents and can achieve one real success after the other, provided you early give the proper training and education. Particularly must altruism and kindness be inculcated quickly. A fine horoscope for all big ventures where much detailed ground work must first be done. The mind is strong and complicated and the energy tremendous.

East Germany Will Control Vital Berlin Supply Links

BERLIN (AP) — Russia intends to give satellite East Germany control over Western air, highway and rail links to isolated West Berlin, a responsible Soviet source said tonight.

Confirming East German hints, the Communist informant said this was the meaning of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 10 speech in Moscow.

Khrushchev told the United States, Britain and France to get out of West Berlin. He promised Russia would hand over its occupation rights in Berlin to the East Germans.

The United States, Britain and France do not recognize and refuse to have any dealings with the German satellite regime.

Refusal of the Allies to yield to East German controls might lead to a blockade of their army garrisons in West Berlin.

A strong hint came from the East Berlin newspaper Neue Zeit today that East Germany's government expect to get control over the Aillied air corridors.

It declared the United States, Britain and France are violating a four-power agreement that the air corridors—stretching between Berlin and Frankfurt, Hamburg and Hanover—would be used only for Allied military purposes. Pan-American, Air France and British European Airways use them for regular passenger flights. These airlines also carry out the thousands of refugees that stream into West Berlin every month from East Germany.

Experts here believe the allies will react with these steps:

1. Formally refuse to accept East German controls.
2. Protest strongly against a one-sided Russian withdrawal from the four-power occupation agreements drawn up after the Second World War.
3. If left no choice, yield to East German controls while making it clear that this does not constitute recognition of the Communist regime. East Germans manning checkpoints would be regarded simply as agents of the Russians.

ISRAELI POLICE REPORT

Missing U.K. Woman Found Shot to Death

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) —Police said the body of Mrs. Joyce Doran, 47, wife of the British air attache in Israel, was found today about a mile from the demilitarized zone near the Sea of Galilee.

Mrs. Doran had been missing since Monday. First reports said she had been shot in the abdomen.

Mrs. Doran had been in Israel nearly a year. Her husband is Wing Commander Kenneth C. Doran. She has one son in Israel. She was a native of Loughton, England.

When she went for a walk Monday and did not return, an alarm went out. Israeli police sent men and tracker dogs into an intensive search Tuesday and her husband joined the hunt. The body was found this morning.

luctance to give blanket endorsation to a royal commission is because we have not yet been told the exact terms of reference under which it will work.

"If it is to be a simple enquiry into operation of the BCPC, then it does not go far enough.

"What is required at this time is a full-scale enquiry into power policies of the premier as well . . . and especially the policies of the B.C. Electric and Wenner-Gren companies, and the impact their operations will have on the welfare of the province and the economy as a whole."

. . UNEMPLOYMENT

"Although agricultural employment showed a drop of 14,000 from a year ago," the government added, "non-farm employment was at virtually the same level."

"There was still a considerable variation among non-farm industries. Employment in mining and manufacturing was down from a year earlier, while the finance and service industries showed a corresponding gain."

The figures showed 5,135,000 employed in non-agricultural industries in October, against 5,114,000 in the previous month and 5,137,000 in October of 1957.

Farm employed dropped to 729,000 from 774,000 in September and 743,000 a year earlier.

The labor force—the number available for work—rose in October to 6,177,000 from 6,159,000 in September and 6,091,000 in October, 1957.

Commenting on the employment situation, the government said "in almost all areas, unemployment was still higher than last year."

By regions, the Atlantic area in October had 505,000 persons with jobs. Quebec had 1,635,000 persons at work. In Ontario there were an estimated 2,166,000 with jobs in October.

On the prairies, persons with job in October were estimated at 1,041,000, some 6,000 lower than in September but 17,000 more than last year.

In British Columbia, jobholders were estimated at 517,000 in October, 5,000 fewer than September and 4,000 below the figure for October, 1957.

ON WORLD TOUR

'PM Must Come Back' —Knowles

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker should return to Canada to deal with the country's rising unemployment, a Canadian Labor Congress spokesman suggested today.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in India on a round-the-world tour today as government figures on unemployment were released.

Executive Vice-President Stanley Knowles of the 1,000,000-member CLC, describing unemployment as alarming, said in a statement:

"It may be that the prime minister will realize that he ought to cut his trip short and come home to deal with this situation."

Mr. Diefenbaker is not due back in Ottawa before late December.

Mr. Knowles said that the government figures released today "show a situation which is both worse than a year ago and worse than the previous month."

"Surely by now," he added, "the government will realize that this is a serious problem which must be dealt with in a positive way."

MUNICIPAL DIAGNOSIS

'Chronic State Of Malnutrition'

QUALICUM BEACH — Provincial-municipal financial relations were outlined at the annual dinner of the Qualicum Beach Chamber of Commerce by Maj. Gen. C. A. P. Murison, reeve of North Cowichan and president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Municipalities are in a chronic state of financial malnutrition, Gen. Murison said.

He said the special UBCM report on the problem, adopted unanimously at the last convention, is both an expression of opinion and a statement of policy.

Two courses are open, he said, — to increase municipal resources, or to reduce commitments. While the former has been the method used in the past, through grants and allotment of special taxes, the report takes the second approach.

THREE CATEGORIES

Responsibility for services falls into three classes—local, provincial, and those in either class, requiring joint action.

Six main recommendations are made, working towards an adjustment which will ease the load from municipalities. Since other tax fields are already occupied, the property tax is and will remain for many years the cornerstone of municipal tax structure.

"But the property tax has so many priority calls that it is tired before it is put to work locally. If it can be relieved of unsuitable outside jobs, it can do its job locally" Gen. Murison said.

The dinner marked the 39th anniversary of the chamber, and six of the charter members were present. Guests introduced by Ferguson Hoey, chamber president, included past president H. R. Fullerton, Harry McQuillan, M.P.; Dan Campbell, MLA; and Rex Toogood, president, Parksville Chamber of Commerce. On behalf of the chamber Mr. Fullerton made a presentation to the secretary, J. H. White.

The biggest engineering, design and quality-control program the industry has ever known brings you the greatest money-making, money-saving advances in trucks today!

What is happening to GMC is the most exciting thing that has ever happened in the truck industry. GMC is engaged in a gigantic engineering, design and quality-control program. It represents the greatest forward surge the truck industry has yet seen. And it is backed by the keenest brains and manufacturing know-how in the business.

But perhaps even more important. Operation "High Gear" is a new philosophy . . . a new attitude of mind. It is demanding teamwork of the highest order between men in engineering, manufacturing, sales and service. And it is paying off—by giving you lighter, tougher, better, more trouble-free trucks . . . and at an initial price that not only is competitive but in many cases is considerably below trucks of other makes. Find out what Operation "High Gear" can mean to you by visiting your local GMC dealer soon.
